PREFACE.

ONCE in every ten years since the beginning of the present century the endeavour has been made to ascertain the number of persons actually resident in the British Islands at one time; and it is a fair presumption that the novelty of the proceeding rendered the first enumeration in 1801 incomplete, that the second in 1811 was better understood and more perfectly carried out, and that successive Censuses have witnessed a nearer approach in both respects to the completeness which it is hoped ultimately to realize as the objects of such an inquiry become more thoroughly apprehended by the community.

There can hardly be a doubt of the necessity for these periodical stock-takings, because without them the political affairs of the country, and the manifold problems involved in its social organization, would, in respect of what lies at the very threshold of their study—namely, a knowledge of the number, distribution, and classes of the people—rest on no more substantial basis than that of mere conjectural approximation.

But it is easily conceivable that in some minds the Census awakens no feeling of interest on the score of its utility in a national point of view; rather that the inquiry schedule, as a mysterious-looking formal official document, excites occasionally a suspicion of ulterior objects not patent upon the surface, an unwillingness to reveal some particular of condition or circumstance, and a disposition to evade it if possible.

Gradually this distrust will no doubt vanish as the circles of national intelligence widen and deepen, as a true perception is acquired of the altogether impersonal use to which the information obtained is applied, and as all classes grow more familiar with the Census as a recurrent national undertaking deserving of the utmost support and assistance which the public can give to it.

The Legislature in its wisdom decrees the expenditure every ten years of a sum of money, considerable in itself but trifling in comparison with the magnitude of the enterprise and the importance of its results, for an enumeration of the people. The more completely this is accomplished, the more fruitful the outlay will be, and on this narrow ground alone it would clearly seem to be to the interest of every taxpayer that he should co-operate to the best of his ability in furtherance of the end desired.

That this co-operation is very widely given, the Census authorities bear witness; but with ampler knowledge greater endeavours would doubtless be made to assist the local officers who are entrusted with the by no means easy task of collecting the requisite particulars.

It is with the view of making the objects, method of procedure, and results of the Census more widely known, that this publication has been undertaken. The vast quantity of facts which the Census brings together have to be analysed, classified, and tabulated in a variety of combinations, and subsequently placed on record in print; the form of publication being necessarily elaborate in order to meet, not only the present requirements of statistical investigation, but the probabilities of its future development in directions which only a large accumulation of data will render possible.

The published Official Returns of the recent Census consist of two folio volumes, of 614 and 576 pages respectively. The price at which they are obtainable, 13*s.* 6*d.* the two volumes, is certainly not large, and will not of itself account for their very limited diffusion. There are several reasons for this; one of which is that the number of copies printed by the Government does not exceed 2750, out of which, after deduction made for the supply of the members of the Legislature, the departments of the State, and others, only some 1000 copies remain for public sale. A certain additional provision is no doubt made by the issue, in parts, of the Returns relating to different localities; but the incompleteness of such a form of publication will always be a drawback to its popularity or usefulness for any but mere local purposes. Again, the very elaborateness of the Census volumes militates against their use in anything like a popular sense, not only because of the bulk which it involves, but because in these days people will not take the trouble to wade through a mass of details in search of the broad general results which they want to get at in the easiest manner and in the shortest possible time.

Believing, therefore, that there is an opening for such a work, I venture to submit to the public this Digest, which embodies all the leading facts contained in the 1190 pages of the two official folios, condensed into a compact little volume of 200 pages, easy of transport, convenient for the book-case, and of small cost.

In the Introduction will be found a synopsis of much valuable information gleaned chiefly from the Census Reports of 1851 and 1861, which are probably not generally available for reference now, respecting the organization by means of which the Census is taken, the various administrative subdivisions of the country, and other matters likely to prove interesting; an exposition of the chief results of the 1871 enumeration as compared with its predecessors, and a comparison of the past with the probable future growth of the Metropolis, are also given.

The Tabular matter is divided into three sections. (I.) A series of Summary Tables, in which, amongst other things, the statistics of population, of Parliamentary representation, of the value of property, and of the degree of education in the several Counties, are given in a form admitting of ready comparison one with another; also a statement of the population in every City, Borough, Town, and Urban Sanitary District, alphabetically arranged; a description of the manner in which the several Dioceses are constituted; and the total number of persons in Public Institutions, on board vessels, and without homes. (II.) A series of Tables giving a complete view of the manner in which the Country is mapped out for Registration and Poor Law purposes, the population of every Parish or Place in the several Registration Districts or Unions being stated. (III.) An alphabetical arrangement of Counties, showing under each County how it is subdivided for administrative purposes, the value of property, the population of its chief towns, and the distribution of its population as regards county and borough representation.

No efforts have been spared to ensure the correctness of every figure throughout the volume, and I believe that in this respect the facts may be entirely depended on for their fidelity to the Official Returns.

To the Registrar-General, Major Graham, who has taken a warm interest in this publication, and has most kindly authorized its appearance under his sanction, I desire to express my deep obligations, arising not merely out of an isolated instance of good-will, but from a long official experience of his courtesy and kindness.

To my esteemed Principal, Dr. William Farr, F.R.S., in his capacity of President of the Statistical Society of London, is due the original suggestion of this work, and I am indebted to him for the invaluable aid of his counsel during its progress. I can only hope that my endeavour to realize his idea will be adjudged by him and the distinguished Society over which he so fitly presides, to have been accomplished as satisfactorily as was possible in the limited time at my disposal.

INTRODUCTION.

THE Census of the United Kingdom in 1871 was taken under the provisions of three separate Acts of Parliament passed in the Session of 1870. In England and Scotland the duty of taking the Census was entrusted, as in 1861, to the English and Scotch Registrars-General; in Ireland to a Royal Commission, presided over by the Irish Registrar-General.

It may be well to record here, that during the progress of these measures the "trouble and inconvenience which arose from having three separate Census Bills for the different parts of the United Kingdom" were referred to in the House of Commons, and hopes were expressed that when the Census of 1881 was taken, a single Act for the United Kingdom would be passed, so as to secure uniformity both of procedure and of results.

The scope of this present publication does not comprehend an exposition of the facts relating to Scotland and Ireland, except in so far as is necessary to present a summary view of the movement of population in the Kingdom as a whole.

And before proceeding to deal with the English Census of 1871, it will be convenient to give a brief retrospect of former inquiries of a like nature in this country.

CENSUSES 1801–1861.

The first Census was taken in 1801, under the superintendence of Mr. Rickman. It showed the number of persons (distinguishing the sexes) in the various Counties, Hundreds, and Parishes of Great Britain; the number of Houses and of the Families by which they were occupied; and a rough statement of the occupations of the people, under three classes, viz., (1) "Persons chiefly employed in agriculture," (2) "Persons chiefly employed in trade, manufactures, or handicraft," and (3) "All other persons not comprised in the two preceding classes." It also included an abstract of the Parish Registers from returns made by the Clergy, giving in each Hundred, or Wapentake, &c., of England and Wales, the number of Baptisms and Burials at every tenth year from 1700 to 1780 and in each year afterwards, and the number of Marriages in every year since 1753.

The Census of 1811 was taken upon the same plan as that adopted in 1801, and the same particulars of information were given; the only difference being, that in 1811 the number of Families occupied in the three above-mentioned classes was shown, instead of the number of Persons, as in 1801; and in 1811, the number of Houses building was shown separately from the number of other uninhabited Houses

In 1821, information was for the first time attempted to be supplied respecting the Ages of the population, giving the numbers in quinquennial periods up to the age 20, and thence in decennial periods; but as it was left optional, both to the Census Officers and to the parties themselves, how far the investigation should be pursued, the return upon this point proved, to a considerable extent, deficient and unsatisfactory. In other respects the particulars inquired into at this Census were precisely the same as in 1811.

The Census of 1831 embraced several additional particulars, principally in elucidation of the various classes into which the people are divided by their different occupations. While the classification of 1811 and 1821 was still retained, a further subdivision of the classes was made, as to the male population of 20 years of age and upwards. In the printed Abstract of Returns was given, at the end of each County, a detailed list of the particular trades or handicrafts included in the 3rd of the above classes, and the number of persons employed in each. The inquiry as to the ages of the population was not repeated in 1831 beyond the distinction of males above and under 20. The area of each parish and township was given for the first time, being the result of a computation made by Mr. Rickman from maps.

At the Census of 1841 several alterations and additions were introduced. The number of Families was not given, and the statement as to occupations was not made, as before, for each Parish, nor was the previous classification adopted. The inquiry, however, embraced several particulars not before noticed, and the investigation as to those hitherto given was pursued with greater minuteness and accuracy. Thus, in each Parish was shown the number of persons who were born within the County, and of those born elsewhere; while, of the population of each Hundred, was shown how many were born in Scotland, Ireland, the British Colonies, and in foreign parts. The ages of the population in Parishes were shown in the two divisions of "under 20," and "20 and upwards;" and the ages of the entire population of the Country were shown, under Counties, Hundreds, and large Towns, in quinquennial periods. The occupations of the people were exhibited under Counties and large Towns, in a very extensive and detailed classification, in which the precise employment (if any) of every individual person was stated, and the whole population was distributed according to their various pursuits. The population of Parliamentary Boroughs was supplied for the first time; the boundaries being those assigned in pursuance of the Reform Act. In other respects the information previously obtained was again given, and the Parish Register Abstract, though of minor utility since the introduction of the system of General Registration by Civil Officers, was also repeated.

At the Census of 1851 it was resolved to exhibit not merely the statistics, as before, of Parishes, and, more completely, of Parliamentary and Municipal Boroughs, but also of such other large Towns in England and Scotland as appeared sufficiently important for separate mention, and of all the Ecclesiastical Districts and new Ecclesiastical Parishes which, under the provisions of various Acts of Parliament, had, during the previous 40 years, been created in England and Wales. In addition also to the inquiry concerning the Occupation, Age, and Birthplace, of the population, it was determined to ascertain the various Relationships (such as husband, wife, son, daughter)—the Civil Condition (as married, unmarried, widower, or widow)—and the number of persons Blind, or Deaf and Dumb. Further, under the impression that the 5th section of the Act would authorize such an inquiry, the design was formed of collecting statistics as to the accommodation afforded by the various Churches and other places of public religious worship throughout the country, and the number of persons generally frequenting them; and also as to the existing Educational Establishments, and the actual number of scholars under instruction. It was, however, subsequently considered doubtful whether, upon a rigid construction, the Census Act rendered it compulsory upon parties to afford such information, and the inquiry was therefore pursued as a purely voluntary investigation. It was not deemed necessary to procure, as at former Censuses, any abstract of the Parish Registers for the ten preceding years; the general system of Registration of Births, Deaths, and Marriages, which had been for that period in full operation, affording more complete and trustworthy information as to changes in the aspect of the population referable to the operation of these events. As regards the publication of the results a most important change was made by the adoption of the Registrar-General's topographical arrangement of Parishes, &c., under Registration Subdistricts, Districts, Counties, and Divisions, in substitution for the old arrangement under Hundreds and Counties proper. The population of all the Parishes was moreover given for each of the previous Censuses, a column was added showing in what Hundred, &c., each Parish was situate, and the population for each Hundred and County proper was given in separate tables. An improved and extended classification of occupations was adopted, which formed the subject of a special and elaborate report.

In 1861 the Census of England and Wales was for the first time taken separately from that of Scotland, the latter having then its own Registrar-General, to whom the taking of the Scotch Census was confided. The English Census differed in no material respect from that of 1851 as to the nature or extent of the information obtained, but no returns were asked for respecting the provision for education or religious worship throughout the country. The religious worship returns of 1851 had given rise to much controversy, and the Government in 1861 apparently shrank from reopening the subject, although urged to do so in many quarters. Other inquiries appear also to have had their advocates; and it was stated in the House of Lords that "one enthusiastic ethnographer was anxious to have returns of the number of people with different coloured hair, that some idea might be formed of the relative proportions of the Saxon and Danish races" in the population. The population of the Lieutenancy Subdivisions for Militia purposes was published for the first time in the Census Returns for 1861. The classification of occupations was further improved, and the results given in full detail; a scheme for a comprehensive Industrial Census was also propounded by Dr. Farr.

THE CENSUS OF 1871.

Early in the year 1870, in view of the approaching Census, the Council of the Statistical Society addressed the Secretary of State for the Home Department, submitting the following recommendations for the consideration of the Government in preparing the Census Bill to be laid before Parliament:—

1. That it is advisable that the Census of 1871 should be taken at the same time of the year as the last Census.

2. Two collateral branches of inquiry were prosecuted in 1851 by means of the Census machinery, but not under the compulsory powers of the statute. These related to—(a.) The provision existing for religious worship, and the attendance thereon; (b.) The means existing for education, and the attendance at schools and places of instruction. The Council, in 1860, were of opinion that both these collateral subjects should be inquired into at the Census of 1861, and made their recommendation accordingly in April, 1860. This recommendation was not adopted by the Government of the day. The Council having again considered this part of the inquiry, and having regard to the lapse of time since the investigation of 1851, think it expedient that the same subjects should in like manner be inquired into at the Census of 1871.

3. They are also of opinion that the statute to be passed on the present occasion should further contain an express enactment requiring that a distinct question should be inserted in every Census schedule as to the religious persuasion of the persons included in that schedule.

4. That the statute should also require that the person filling up the schedule should state whether every individual mentioned therein above the age of seven years can read or write.

5. That inquiries to show the state of the house accommodation of the people on the basis adopted with so much success in the last Census of Scotland should be embodied in the next Census returns for England.

And, subsequently, the Executive Committee of the Social Science Association brought under the notice of the Government the expediency of a uniform Census for the United Kingdom; and, in addition to suggestions of a similar nature to those of the Statistical Society, offered the following:—

1. That it would be of great utility if the Government would direct the Census Commissioners for the United Kingdom, in 1871, to undertake as a subsidiary inquiry an Industrial Census.

2. That an annual enumeration of the numbers and ages of the population is greatly needed for all the principal cities and towns in the kingdom.

The Government, however, did not apparently see its way to adopting any of the foregoing suggestions, and the English Census Bill of 1870 was almost a verbatim reprint of the Census Act of 1860. During the progress of the Bill in the House of Commons repeated discussions arose in reference to the desirability of enlarging the scope of the inquiry; a proposal to ascertain the number of imbecile or lunatic persons among the general population was acceded to and embodied in the Bill; a motion for including "religious profession" among the particulars to be obtained was lost by 77 to 96 votes; and Sir John Lubbock's desire that the number of marriages between first cousins should form part of the information required was negatived by 92 to 45 votes. On the third reading Mr. Bass moved the recommittal of the Bill, in order that the following clause might be inserted:—

The Secretary of State shall obtain, by such ways and means, and at such day or days immediately after the day appointed for the Census as shall appear to him best adapted for the purpose, an account of the establishments, factories, works, shops, or other properties or premises occupied for, and in connection with, each branch of industry, commerce, or manufacture, and of every farm or holding in occupation for agricultural purposes, the number of persons employed in them, whether resident or non-resident therein, with their sex and ages, distinguishing the employers from the employed, the rates of wages paid in the week preceding such enumeration to every class of labourers or artisans so employed, the agents used in the several processes of production by animals, tools, machines, or vessels, and such other particulars as, in the opinion of the Secretary of State, may exhibit the occupation of the people and the organization of labour in England.

The Home Secretary objected to the clause, saying that "there were many matters of detail connected with the proposition which would render it impossible to carry it out," and Mr. Bass's motion was withdrawn.

The English Census for 1871 differs from that of 1861, so far as the information supplied by the householder's schedule is concerned, only to the extent of showing how many idiots or lunatics there were at the Census date, not merely in asylums for the special treatment of mental disorders, but at large throughout the country.

A Preliminary Report on the results of the Census was presented by the Registrar-General and his colleagues Dr. Farr and Mr. J. T. Hammick, to the Home Secretary on the 20th June, 1871; and now that the processes of revision and tabulation of the facts relating to the numerical distribution of the people have been completed, two large folio volumes have been published, of which it is the present writer's object to give in these pages as comprehensive an analysis as the time and space at his disposal will permit.

THE CENSUS ORGANIZATION.

The organization by which so large an undertaking as that of ascertaining on one day the numerical strength of, and many particulars concerning, twenty-two millions of people, has been fully described in former Census Reports, from which the following condensed account is derived.

In England and Wales, previous to 1841, the Parish Officers were in all cases the parties by whom the Returns were collected and forwarded to the Central Office. The introduction of the New Poor Law, however, in 1834, caused the establishment, in this portion of the United Kingdom, of new local divisions, formed by the collection or grouping of several contiguous parishes into "Unions;" and when the system of Civil Registration came into operation in 1837, the "Registration Districts" were generally made conterminate with such Unions—the only exceptions being the rare cases in which two or more Unions were, by the authority of the Registrar-General, combined to form one Registration District, and a few instances of Parishes in which the relief of the poor was administered under local Acts or otherwise than under the Poor Law Amendment Act. By the Census Act of 1840 this new division of the country was made available, as far as England and Wales were concerned, for the purpose of enumerating the population, and no change has since been made in that respect.

The 626 superintendent registrars' districts in England and Wales are subdivided into 2,195 sub-districts, each having a local registrar of births and deaths. Under the supervision of the Superintendents, it was the duty of the Registrars to divide the sub-districts into enumeration districts, in accordance with directions furnished to them. While the boundaries of parishes or townships were to be taken as the basis upon which to frame the division, strict attention was to be paid to the various local sub-divisions, so that the number of their houses and inhabitants might afterwards be readily and accurately ascertained. Where a parish or township was sufficient to form of itself a distinct enumeration district, it was to be assigned to one enumerator; and, as a general rule, it was to be assumed that where the enumerator would not be required to visit more than 200 houses in towns, or where he would not have to travel more than fifteen miles in visiting a smaller number of houses in the country, the district would not be too large. When completed, the scheme for the division of each sub-district was revised by the superintendent registrar, and by him transmitted to the Central Office, together with the names of the persons proposed as enumerators, for the approval of the Registrar-General.

The enumerators were required to be intelligent and active, able to read and write well, and have some knowledge of arithmetic; they were not to be younger than 18 years of age or older than 65; they were to be respectable persons, likely to conduct themselves with strict propriety and civility in the discharge of their duties, and well acquainted with the district in which they were to act.

Public institutions, such as county gaols, convict prisons, reformatories, workhouses, hospitals, barracks, and lunatic asylums, whose inmates exceeded 200 persons, were treated as separate enumeration divisions, and the governor or principal resident officer was appointed the enumerator. The smaller institutions were treated as ordinary houses, and the particulars regarding their inmates were obtained by the district enumerators in the usual way.

The whole of England and Wales was divided into 31,916 enumeration districts, and there were in addition 627 public institutions with a distinct enumerator.

The enumeration of persons on board merchant vessels, fishing smacks, and other craft in the ports, docks, creeks, and rivers was accomplished by the officers of Her Majesty's Customs. Schedules, duly filled up by the masters, were obtained in the case of the vessels in port on the Census day; and on the arrival of every home-trade and coasting vessel within the month next following, inquiries were made in order to ascertain whether the Census return had been given in at any port in the United Kingdom, and if not, the master was forthwith requested to fill up a schedule. All the returns collected by the officers of Her Majesty's Customs in England were transmitted direct to the Central Office.

The information about seamen and others on board vessels of the Royal Navy, at home, was supplied pursuant to instructions addressed by the Lords of the Admiralty to the officers in command of Her Majesty's ships and vessels.

In order to secure the enumeration of persons on board boats, barges, and other craft in inland waters not within the jurisdiction of the officers of Customs, it was arranged that such vessels should be visited on the Census morning, and the required particulars obtained from the master or person in charge, either by the ordinary enumerator or by a person specially employed for the purpose.

The enumerators were directed to make diligent inquiry for the purpose of ascertaining the number of persons not in any dwelling-house on the Census night, but sleeping in barns, sheds, caravans, tents,

&c., or in the open air, and to enter such particulars as might be obtained respecting them in a form provided for the purpose.

The first duty of the enumerator was to deliver, in the course of the week preceding the Census day, to every occupier of a house or tenement, a householder's schedule, to be filled up by or on behalf of such occupier—under a penalty in case of wilful default—with the required particulars respecting himself and family.

The schedule was to be filled up by the occupier with the requisite information concerning every person who abode in the house or apartment on the night of Sunday, April 2nd, 1871. No member of the family absent on that night was to be entered, except in the case of persons who were engaged at their usual labour during the night, and who regularly returned home in the morning; persons travelling by railways or otherwise were in like manner to be enumerated at the hotels or houses at which they might stop on the following day.

On Monday, the 3rd April, 1871, the enumerators had to visit every dwelling-house in England and Wales, in order to collect the schedules which they had left in the course of the week preceding. When the schedule was already filled up, the enumerator had to see that the entries were made in a proper manner, and to satisfy himself that the particulars were likely to be correct. If from any cause the schedule was not filled up, it was his duty to fill it up himself from the verbal information of the occupier or other competent member of the family. He was directed in all cases to ascertain carefully that no person who abode in the house or lodgings on the previous night was omitted, and that no person then absent was included, except those travelling or out at work during that night, and who returned home on the following morning. He was authorized to correct any schedule which contained manifestly false particulars.

In Wales the difficulty of language arose: 52,695 schedules printed in Welsh were issued, of which 17,276 were filled up in Welsh, and had consequently to be translated by the enumerators and copied by them in English into the books to be transmitted to the Census Office.

By the efficient exertions of the local officers, aided by the general goodwill of all classes of the community, the enumeration was accomplished in a successful manner within the appointed time. No prosecution for default under the Act was instituted by the Registrar-General, but a few recusant householders in the country appear to have been proceeded against and fined at the instance of enumerators. Every Census has its "curious incidents," of which probably only a very few become generally known. Perhaps the most remarkable of such incidents arising out of the last Census was the appointment of a lady as enumerator in a London district; she is reported to have "discharged the duties very efficiently." Fourteen schedules were sent to the Registrar-General privately to avoid the scrutiny of enumerators in country districts, his sanction having been previously obtained. A spinster in the country, of rather advanced age, very wealthy, fastened up her doors and windows, forbidding access to the enumerator, and saying a fine of £20 would not induce her to give him the required particulars; in answer to a soothing letter she sent the Registrar-General her schedule privately. A gentleman of landed property declared he would pay a fine of any amount, indeed would rather cease to exist, than commit the offence for which David suffered, as recorded in the Old Testament; his religious scruples were respected, and the particulars of his family were nevertheless recorded with tolerable accuracy.

Immediately after the completion of the process of enumeration the local officers were occupied chiefly with the following matters:—(1.) The transcription by the enumerator of the particulars contained in the householders' schedules into the "Enumeration Book," accompanied with proper indications of all local boundaries, and a summary of the total number of houses and of persons enumerated; (2.) The collation of the schedules and the enumeration books, as well as the careful revision of the latter by the registrar, who had then to make out a summary for his sub-district, and to transmit it, with the other documents, to the superintendent registrar; (3.) The general revision of the returns by the superintendent registrar, who was required to test their accuracy, and to satisfy himself that the registrars and enumerators had in all cases duly performed the duties required of them. These several operations were to be completed by fixed days, and the different documents were to be transmitted to the Census Office as early as possible in May. Accordingly, by the end of that month, the householders' schedules, the enumeration books, and the various other returns, were received; and within less than three months from the date of the Census a preliminary statement was presented to the Secretary of State for the purpose of being laid before Parliament, showing the approximate numbers of the population and houses enumerated in England and Wales and the Islands in the British Seas, compiled from the summaries furnished by the local officers.

The enumerator, in 1861, was paid a fixed fee of £1, and at the rate of 2*s.* for every 100 persons enumerated by him over the first 400; in large districts a mileage was allowed. After careful consideration of the tariff it was decided in 1871 to raise the fixed fee from £1 to £1 1s., and the rateable payment from 2s. to 2s. 6d. per 100; that is, 5 and 25 per cent. respectively on the two items, the mileage remaining the same. Under these rates the enumerators undertook by agreement to discharge their various duties of delivering, collecting, and revising the schedules, and copying their contents into books. No one, taking into account the required qualifications and the quantity of work to be done, will consider that they were overpaid, or be surprised to learn that a certain number of the enumerators, perhaps justly, considered that they were underpaid. Under a fixed tariff of pay this result is inevitable. The district assigned to each enumerator varied in size, according as the population was dense or scattered; and this was partly taken into account by giving, in addition to a fixed fee, rated additional payments by numbers and by miles travelled. But it is evident that the enumerator's labour might be considerably increased in certain streets where the schedules were not filled up; he might incur, not only trouble, but even danger, by going into courts where small-pox and other diseases were epidemic. These elements could not be taken into account in a general tariff; nor could elements of greater importance, namely, the very variable demand and supply, or the usual pay of such skilled officers as were required in different parts of the kingdom. The pay which would be ample in one town would be insufficient in another. Yet it would have been inexpedient to leave it open to the registrars to make a separate bargain with each enumerator; for if different scales had been applied to London, the great towns, and the country, general instead of partial dissatisfaction would have been the inevitable result.

Upon the completion of the Preliminary Report, a careful revision of the enumeration books was undertaken at the Census Office. Not only were all totals and summaries verified or corrected, but every entry was examined for the purpose of ascertaining that the particulars in the several columns were consistent with each other, and that the ages of the sexes were entered in their allotted columns. On the completion of this minute but indispensable process of revision, which involved the examination of upwards of twenty-two millions of entries, the classification as well as the tabulation of the facts was proceeded with. The detailed abstracts, comprising the various Tables which show the numbers of the population, and of the houses enumerated, and their distribution over the country, are contained in the two volumes which have already been presented to Parliament. The abstracts exhibiting the ages of the people, their occupations, birth-places, and condition as regards marriage, the numbers of the blind and of the deaf and dumb, with other particulars, have yet to be completed.

The measures above detailed comprised all that was absolutely necessary to obtain the Census of the inhabitants of England and Wales; but it appeared desirable to obtain also several collateral returns relating either to British subjects not residing within the United Kingdom, or to certain classes of the community already in part enumerated dispersedly among the general population. Accordingly, His Royal Highness the General Commanding-in-Chief was pleased to direct that a return should be made distinguishing officers from non-commissioned officers and rank and file, by the commanding officer of every regiment or battalion of the British army at home and abroad, showing the ages, country of birth, and whether single, married, or widowers; also of the numbers and ages of the wives and children of soldiers. The Lords of the Admiralty directed that returns of a like nature should be furnished with respect to the officers and men of the Royal Navy. Returns of the numbers, ages, civil condition, occupations, and birth-places of the British-born subjects (exclusive of the Army) resident in India at the date of the Census; the latest returns of the population of the Colonial possessions and dependencies of the British Crown; and returns of the number of British subjects residing in several foreign States—have also been obtained. The results of these collateral inquiries have not yet been published.

The Census is taken with comparative ease in a town where all the streets and the courts are named, where all houses are consecutively numbered, and where all the boundaries are distinctly marked. Such business-like arrangements are always made where the municipal government is intelligent and energetic; but the duty is unfortunately neglected in many places, and the residence of ratepayer, voter, or householder, is identified with the greatest difficulty. To facilitate the enumeration, a circular was addressed to the Mayors of the several boroughs, and to the Chairmen of all the Local Boards in England and Wales, pointing out the requirements of the law, and soliciting their assistance, and the assistance of their officers, as well in preparing the way for the Census as in completing it.

It may perhaps be impossible to enumerate every individual in dense towns, so that the population is always somewhat understated; but there is reason to believe that the numbers that escape are few, and that, in consequence of the many improved mechanical or administrative arrangements suggested by experience and now brought into action, the English Census has never been more accurately taken than in 1871.

POPULATION OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

The Census having been taken all over the Kingdom simultaneously, a statement of the population of the whole of the British Isles on the Census day is here given, subject to possible slight correction in the figures for Ireland, the revision of which has not yet been completed.

United Kingdom	31,628,338	Scotland	3,360,018
England	21,495,131	Ireland	5,411,416
Wales	1,217,135	Isle of Man and Channel Islands	144,638

A provisional return shows the number of the Army, Navy, and Merchant Seamen absent from the Kingdom in April, 1871, to have been about 229,000.

The enumerated population of the United Kingdom, like that of its capital city, is variously defined for fiscal, statistical, and other purposes, and may therefore be required to represent either of the following:—

	Population, 1871.
United Kingdom: including Islands in British Seas, and Army, Navy, and Merchant Seamen Abroad	31,857,338
United Kingdom: including Islands in British Seas, but excluding Army, Navy, and Merchant Seamen Abroad	31,628,338
United Kingdom: excluding Islands in British Seas, and Army, Navy, and Merchant Seamen Abroad	31,483,700

The present population of the Kingdom (exclusive of the Army, Navy, and Merchant Seamen abroad) represents an increase since 1861 of 2,557,406 persons, which is equivalent to a rate of 8·8 per cent. in the ten years, and to a daily addition of 700 to the population.

During the last decade England has added 2,646,042, or 13 per cent., to her population, and Scotland 297,724, or 9·7 per cent.; while Ireland counts 387,551, or 6·7 per cent., fewer inhabitants than she had in 1861. Had the circumstances of Ireland during the last ten years not differed from those of Great Britain, the population of the United Kingdom would now be about a million greater than it is. The Irish Census Commissioners speak of the period between 1861 and 1871 as one in which "the country was remarkably free from any outbreak of pestilence, scarcity of food, or of the other social calamities which have occasionally retarded the growth of the population." The decrease of population is accounted for by the very great emigration which has taken place, the emigrants of Irish origin having numbered 866,626 in the ten years. The causes of the continued decline of the Irish population are a profoundly interesting study, which will no doubt receive an impetus from the facts revealed by the Census: from 1801 to 1845 there was an unbroken chain of increase, while from that date to this the process of diminution has proceeded with equally unswerving steps.

The emigration of natives of this Kingdom has gone on steadily, but at a retarded rate, in the last ten years; thus their number in the ten years 1851–61 was 2,054,578

" " 1861–71 was 1,674,594

Decrease in the Emigration . . 379,984

When it is considered that emigrants carry away not only their own numbers but the fathers and mothers of future children, it is evident that the decrease of the tide of emigration goes far to account for the increased growth of the population in the last ten years. The American War retarded emigration, while employment at home increased.

To the emigrants should be properly added their increase in the interval between the Census periods, while the returning emigrants and the immigrants should be subtracted to get the true increment; but as these corrections operate in opposite directions, the emigrants may be added to the increase at home, and then the natural increase of the British race, in the decenniad from 1851 to 1861, was 3,649,471; and in the decenniad from 1861 to 1871 it was 4,232,000.

The following statement shows the relation between the births, deaths, emigrants, and population of the United Kingdom (exclusive of the Islands in the British Seas, and the Army, Navy, and Merchant Seamen abroad). It will be borne in mind that the registration of births is defective, and that in Ireland not only the births but the deaths are not all registered. There is also no account of returning emigrants or of immigrants into the several ports of the kingdom.

	United Kingdom.	England and Wales.	Scotland.	Ireland.
Registered Births, 1861–70	10,084,249	7,500,096	1,121,321	1,462,832*

Excess of Births, or Natural Increase, 1861–70	3,670,359	2,705,598	415,791	548,970
Emigration, 1861–70	1,674,594	649,742	158,226	866,626
Natural Increase less Emigration	1,995,765	2,055,856	257,565	−317,656
Enumerated Population, 1861	28,927,485	20,066,224	3,062,294	5,798,967
Population in 1871, as estimated upon the basis of Natural Increase less Emigration	30,923,250	22,122,080	3,319,859	5,481,311
Enumerated Population, 1871	31,483,700	22,712,266	3,360,018	5,411,416
Excess or Defect in Enumerated as compared with Estimated Population of 1871	+560,450	+590,186	+40,159	−69,895

The difference thus exhibited would, supposing the registration of births and deaths were complete, represent the immigration, which in Ireland was insufficient by 69,895 to replace the outflow, while 590,186 persons must have come into England, and 40,159 into Scotland during the 10 years in excess of those who went away.

POPULATION OF ENGLAND AND WALES.

As the first Census was taken in 1801, no exact account of the population in the earlier periods can be obtained; but various estimates of the population were framed in those times by contemporary writers; and series of returns of baptisms and burials have been preserved in many parishes since 1571. After collating the various sources of information, the following estimates have been framed, which are founded on data that justify the belief that they represent approximately the population of England and Wales in the middle of each of three centuries.

Middle of the Years.	Estimated Population of England and Wales.	Increase of Population.
1651	5,466,572	.. ..
1851	18,109,410	11,773,570

Thus, according to the estimates, the people of England and Wales amounted to more than six millions in 1751, and to more than eighteen millions in 1851; they having increased nearly twelve millions in the hundred years; while the increase of the numbers in the preceding century (1651–1751) was less than one million: and the numbers can scarcely be wrong either way more than half a million.†

A comparison of the excess of baptisms over burials in 1801–1810 shows that the excess of baptisms over burials must be raised nearly one third part for the births of children who are not baptized to make it equal to the increase of population.

The population of England and Wales enumerated on April 3rd, 1871, was 22,712,266 persons. Starting with the first Census, in 1801, our numbers have gone on increasing in the following manner :—

Years.	Population.	Increase between each Census.	Decennial Rate of Increase per Cent.	Decenniads.
1801	8,892,536	..	..	..
1811	10,164,256	1,271,720	14·30	1801–11
1821	12,000,236	1,835,980	18·06	1811–21
1831	13,896,797	1,896,561	15·80	1821–31
1841	15,914,148	2,017,351	14·52	1831–41
1851	17,927,609	2,013,461	12·65	1841–51
1861	20,066,224	2,138,615	11·93	1851–61
1871	22,712,266	2,646,042	13·19	1861–71

* The registration of births and deaths in Ireland commenced on 1st of January, 1864, and is believed to be more defective than the registration of England and Wales. In order to make up the totals of births and deaths in the 10 years for that division of the United Kingdom, it has been assumed that the birth and death-rates were the same there during the earlier years of the decade as during the later years.

† See Davenant's Works, vol. ii. p. 175–185, Ed. 1771; and the Tables of Baptisms, Burials, and Marriages in the Census Reports, 1811–1841. The facts on which the population of 1651 is estimated will be found in the Preface to the Enumeration Abstract, 1841, p. 36.

The closing years of the great French war and the early years of the long peace which succeeded were marked by a proportionately much more rapid growth of the population than any which has since been observed. Between 1821 and 1861 the increase went on, but the rate of increase was a decreasing one. Now, from whatever cause, not only have we an actual increase of numbers, but also an increase in the rate. It is probable that the disturbed state of affairs upon the Continent prior to, and at the time of the last Census, may have led to an unusually large influx of foreigners; and ultimately, when the various nationalities of the enumerated population have been ascertained, an estimate may be formed of the extent to which the exceptional increase above noted is due to circumstances of merely temporary operation. Defects in the registration of births and deaths, and in the records of emigration, as well as the absence of any account of immigration, combine to baffle attempts to trace out the degree in which the growth of the population is dependent upon any one cause at a given period. Take, for example, what may be called the natural increase, resulting from the excess of births over deaths. This excess amounted to 4,966,533 in the twenty years 1851-70; and the addition of this number to the enumerated population in 1851 would give 22,894,142 as our present population, supposing neither emigration nor immigration had disturbed our natural growth. From the returns of the Emigration Commissioners it appears that 1,290,058 persons of English origin emigrated during the twenty years, and thus our gain by excess of births is at once reduced to 3,676,475, which would give us a present population of 21,604,084, or less by 1,108,182 than the Census shows we have. How this influx of 1,108,182 has arisen—how far it has been caused by births which have escaped registration, by the advent of foreigners, by the return of the emigrants of former years, and by the tendency of Irishmen and Scotchmen to settle in England—it is impossible, in the present state of our national statistics, to say. It is for the political economists who lament the increase of population, and who inculcate the necessity of adopting certain "checks" upon its further development, to explain how they would "check" this flood of immigration which helps so much to swell the numbers of our people. It seems hard, to say the least, that the natural home supply should be checked while the foreign supply is permitted to go on at its pleasure.

The annual rate of increase in the 70 years of this century was 1·35 per cent., the actual aggregate increase being 13,819,730, or 155 per cent. The population of 1801 doubled its numbers in 1851; at the rate of increase prevailing in the last ten years, the population would double itself in 56 years, while the period of doubling deduced from the annual rates reigning during this century is 52 years.

Males and Females.—The boys born in England are in the proportion of 104,811 to 100,000 girls; but they experience a higher rate of mortality, and, according to the new English Life Table, the rates are so finely adjusted that the numbers are reduced in the end very nearly to an equilibrium, the men and women living, of all ages, being in the proportion of 100,029 to 100,000. Such would be the state of things if there was no emigration, or if the men and women emigrated in pairs. That has not hitherto been the case; and at the Census, 11,653,332 females, and 11,058,934 males were enumerated. There was an excess of 594,398 women at home; the men of the corresponding ages being on the Continent, in the colonies, or in foreign lands, unless their numbers have been reduced by higher rates of mortality than prevail in England.

To 100,000 women, of all ages, in England, there are 94,900 men, of all ages, at home; the proportion of men to women at home is less than it was at any previous Census since 1811, owing probably to the increase of the army abroad. The disparity in the numbers of the two sexes at home was greatest in 1801 and 1811, during the war; this was due to the men abroad in the several services.

To complete this view of the proportions of the two sexes living at home, their ages must be taken into account. There is an excess of boys over girls living under the ages of fifteen: and by the Life Table an excess of men is provided all through the middle period of life; but that surplus is overdrawn by emigration, so that the women exceed the men in number to a considerable extent in the early, and middle, and still more in the advanced ages, when their longevity comes into play.

The excess of the emigration of males over females accounts for the present difference in the proportions of the sexes.

Houses.—What is a house? appears to be a question admitting of an explicit answer. And the enumerators were instructed to class under that category every separate house comprising by definition all the space within the external and party walls of the building. Thus it was not permitted to count either each room or each story as a separate house, although it might be separately occupied or owned, or might even have attached to it the privileges of voting.

On the Continent, each hotel, however numerous may be its occupiers or tenants, is reckoned as one house; and the English practice was formally sanctioned, after discussion, by the official delegates of the various governments of the world at the London session of the International Statistical Congress.* The practice in Scotland is different, and this must be borne in mind in comparing the houses in that country with those of England and other countries.

Since 1801 all the distinct buildings which, as houses, were either inhabited or uninhabited, have been enumerated; and thus, notwithstanding the inextricable difficulties of the "flat" system have been avoided, there are still many heterogeneous structures mixed up with houses in the ordinary sense of that word. The house is a very variable unit; it includes in the Census the hut on the moor, the castle on the hill, and the palace; so that every one of these structures, and of the intermediate mansions and cottages, is reckoned as a house. The ordinary house varies in size and structure in town and country—in its cubical contents, in its hearths, in its doors, and in its windows; so that to give a correct view of the accommodation which houses afford the population, of their value, and of their sanitary influences, a special inquiry is indispensable.

The inhabited houses in England amounted, in 1871, to 4,259,117; showing since the last Census an increase of 519,612.

The great difference in these houses is shown by their annual value. Thus, according to a Parliamentary Return (No. 384, Session of 1872) there were in England and Wales 748,719 houses assessed to the Inhabited House Duty in the year ending the 5th of April, 1871. The following statement shows the number assessed at different values from which it will be seen that 438,646 houses, or 59 per cent. of the whole, are between £20 and £50 of annual value.

Annual Value. £	£	Number Assessed.
—	20	88,441
20—	50	438,646
50—	100	152,895
100—	200	50,587
200—	300	10,060
300—	500	5,217
500—	1000	2,095
1000—	2000	552
2000—	3000	116
3000—	4000	56
4000—	5000	25
5000—	10,000	27
—	13,050	1
	Total	748,719

The total amount of Inhabited House Duty assessed upon the above houses was £1,291,981; an impost from which 3,510,398 out of the 4,259,117 householders in England and Wales, or 82 per cent., are exempted. Assessments at the exceptional values of £2000 and upwards occur exclusively in the counties of Middlesex, Surrey, Kent, Sussex, Warwick, Lancaster, and York; the City of London has 1 building assessed at the value of £36,350, Marylebone has 1 at £9000, and Westminster 1 at £8000.

The number of uninhabited houses was 184,694 in the year 1861, and 261,345 in the year 1871. It must be borne in mind that the term "uninhabited" in the Census return simply implies that no person dwelt or slept in the house on the Sunday night preceding the enumeration. In towns many of these houses were occupied during the daytime. A house unlet, and merely in charge of a single person, is counted as an inhabited house. A return of the number of houses unlet would throw much light on the relative value of house property, but to deal with this question would necessitate special local inquiries.

The houses "building" were first enumerated in 1811, and the enumeration has since been repeated at every Census. In a Country under depopulation the old houses fall into decay, and few new houses at a Census are "building." In 1811 the number of houses "building" in England and Wales was 16,207, in 1821 they numbered 19,274, in 1831 they were 24,759, and 27,444 in 1841; in 1851 there was a slight falling off as compared with the previous Census, the number being 26,571, and the 27,305 returned in 1861 did not quite come up to the mark of 1841. But the return for 1871 shows a remarkable degree of activity in the provision of new houses, for no less than 37,803 were in process of building at the Census date, or 10,498 more than were being built in 1861. Upon comparing the number of houses "building" with the total number standing, either occupied or unoccupied, it appears that the proportion in 1811 was one to 114, in 1831 one to 105, in 1861 one to 144, and in 1871 one to 120. A further comparison

* M. Legoyt, in his report of the proceedings in Committee, observes:—"La section est tombée d'accord sur la definition du mot 'maison,' et sur les faits intérieurs et caractéristiques auxquels la maison doit être reconnue. Elle a refusé notamment d'attribuer cette désignation aux divers étages dont peut se composer une construction affectée à l'habitation, lors mêmes que ces étages seraient occupés par des familles distinctes, et qu'ils auraient un escalier separée."—Rep. on Stat. Cong., p. 153.

may be made, namely, of the total amount of house accommodation either actually subsisting or in course of provision, with the total population, as follows:—

In 1811	there were	5·45	persons to a house	(inhabited, uninhabited, or building).
„ 1831	„	5·29	„	„	„
„ 1851	„	5·18	„	„	„
„ 1861	„	5·08	„	„	„
„ 1871	„	4·98	„	„	„

These results clearly point to a gradual (if slow) diminution of the pressure of population upon the available dwellings in this country; thus much may be admitted without prejudice to the important questions of a moral and sanitary character springing from the manner in which our industrial and lower classes, especially in large cities and towns, are housed.

Families.—The family in its complete form consists of a householder with his wife and his children; and in the higher classes with his servants. Other relatives and visitors sometimes form a part of the family; and so do lodgers at a common table who pay for their subsistence and lodging. In taking the Census the enumerator was directed to leave with each occupier a householder's schedule; the occupier by definition including the owner, or the person who pays rent, whether (as a tenant) for the whole of the house, or (as a lodger) for any distiuct floor or apartment. Thus a lodger alone, or in company with another lodger, occupying common apartments, is an occupier, and as such is classed as a family in the abstracts. The occupiers of separate almshouses, of public buildings, of porters' lodges, and of detached dwellings, although nominally paying no rent, are also treated as families; except in the case of servants boarding in their master's house.

The number of families was 5,049,016 in 1871, as compared with 4,491,524 in 1861; and the proportion of persons to a family was 4·50 and 4·47 in the two periods. The proportion of persons to a family varied from 4·69 in 1801 to 4·83 in 1851, the year of the Great Exhibition. If the inmates of public institutions, the persons on board ships, boats and barges, and those without houses, are excluded from the calculation, the proportion of persons to a family in 1871 will be reduced to 4·41 as compared with 4·38 in 1861.

Urban and Rural Populations.— The tendency of the population to gravitate towards common centres, such as the large towns have become, is sometimes referred to as an element in the social organization of this country which is to be regretted. On the other hand, it has been argued in the Spectator that, if the rate of increase among the rural population were as great as that of the whole population, "we might witness misery in Great Britain of the old Irish kind, instead of the limited, though terrible, misery of towns with which we are so familiar." And upon this point the Pall Mall Gazette of 1st July, 1871, contained the following remarks:—

"The truth is, that town life hitherto has been mainly co-existent with utter absence of provision for certain necessaries of life which are indispensable to healthy existence anywhere. Air, light, wholesome water, good drainage, and sufficient house-room ought, under good government, to be fairly obtainable in towns as in the country; and, these possessed, there is room for the development of those moral qualities which the Spectator rightly says a town life is far more calculated than a country life to engender. We certainly see no grounds for anticipating a check to this tendency to agglomeration; on the contrary, the spread of education is likely to dispose people more and more towards association. And, instead of bewailing a result which is inevitable, the wise course would be to devise such measures as would put our towns into a condition to meet present as well as future demands upon their powers of healthy accommodation."

Now, adopting a broad principle of classification based on the registration districts and sub-districts, the Registrar-General throws the population into two groups, one inhabiting the districts and sub-districts which include the chief towns, the other occupying the remainder of the country, and dwelling therefore in the small towns and country parishes. Taking the first of these groups as representing the bulk of the urban population, it comprises in round numbers nine millions in 1851, eleven millions in 1861, and thirteen millions in 1871; the rate of increase in this group between 1851 and 1861 was 19 per cent., and 18 per cent. between 1861 and 1871. In the rest of the country, assumed to be for the most part rural, the population increased 4 per cent. between 1851 and 1861, and 7 per cent. between 1861 and 1871. The urban districts have in the last ten years grown more than twice as fast as the country districts; in the previous decade the growth of the towns was more than four times as fast as that of the rural population—a result probably accounted for by some of the rural districts having gradually assumed the character of towns. In point of fact, a correct estimate of the extent to which the large towns have drawn upon the population of the rural districts, cannot be arrived at without taking into account the growth of suburban neighbourhoods consequent upon the increasing value of property in town centres for purely business purposes, the gradual displacement of the people from the denser parts as a result of improved sanitation, and the development of railways, which every year adds to the number of those who resort to suburban or to country homes after their day's business in towns is over.

Certain cities and towns, either from their magnitude or their importance on other grounds, have been selected by the Registrar-General for the publication of weekly rates of mortality in comparison with those of the metropolis and of other British and foreign cities. Those cities and towns, eighteen in number, with London at their head, comprise a total population of 6,270,275—less than a third, but more than a fourth, part of the entire English population. Within their municipal limits, the population enumerated at the three last Censuses, with the intervening rates of increase, will be found stated below :—

As regards most of the above large towns in which a diminished rate of growth is evidenced, it would be found that the surrounding neighbourhoods have received the overflow from the municipal areas, and exhibit in many cases a complete transformation from suburban, or even rural, to purely urban localities. This view of the matter receives support from what is observable in relation to the following group of towns, secondary in magnitude or importance to the eighteen above referred to.

* The boundaries of these municipal boroughs have been extended since 1861.

In these towns the rate of increase between 1861 and 1871 was 18·4 per cent., that is, 2 per cent. in excess of the rate in the smaller group of larger towns; and it seems probable that this result is due, in no inconsiderable degree, either to a greater elasticity in point of limits, or to the fact that the limits originally adopted gave ample room for expansion.

Public Institutions.—In the Census returns a very complete list is given of all the Public Institutions existing in the several Registration Sub-districts. This list is full of interest to the student of this part of the social organization of the country, and may open the way to further and more elaborate inquiry. The total number of persons enumerated in the 2479 institutions in 1871 was 417,579, of whom 362,295 were "special inmates," the remainder consisting of the officers and their families. [See Table XI., p. 60]. Excluding barracks, and Her Majesty's ships, which can hardly be classed as "public institutions" in the ordinary acceptation of the term, the following is a comparison of the returns for 1871 with those of 1861 :—

	Number of Institutions.		Total Number of Occupants (including Officers, &c.).
	1861.	1871.	1861.	1871.
Workhouses	721	730	131,440	154,967
Hospitals	167	407	13,200	26,566
Lunatic Asylums	144	166	29,198	45,731
Prisons	179	149	29,959	32,174
Reformatory and Industrial Schools	?	118	?	11,748
Other Institutions...	282	559	27,157	38,535

Disregarding the group of unclassified institutions in the last line of the above statement, and assuming that such reformatory and industrial schools as were in existence in 1861 were classed either with prisons or workhouses, the occupants of the five specific classes of institutions have increased by 33 per cent. since 1861.

The increase in the number of hospitals is quite remarkable, and is to no inconsiderable extent the result of the adoption of the cottage-hospital system in rural districts. And with regard to public institutions as a whole the following sentence from the Census Report of 1861 is even more applicable now than it was ten years ago: "The great principle of practical benevolence has been actively at work, and, with the increased wealth of the country, there has been remarked a greater disposition on the part of the rich to do good while living, instead of merely bequeathing a portion of what they have amassed to be dispensed in charitable objects after their decease."

Maritime Population.—Besides a large maritime population in distant seas on the Census night, whose number has yet to be ascertained, and another large number on shore at home which can only be brought into account when the occupations of the people have been analysed, 66,187 persons were enumerated on board 10,726 sea-going vessels lying in harbours, creeks, and rivers, and have been included with the populations of the several parishes contiguous to which the vessels were lying. These vessels include 96 of Her Majesty's ships with 13,454 persons on board; 9,193 British sea-going vessels with 40,188 persons, and 1437 Foreign and Colonial vessels with 12,545 persons on board.

There were also 10,976 persons enumerated in barges and boats on inland waters, as compared with 11,915 persons so enumerated in 1861, and 12,562 in 1851.

Houseless Population.—The nomadic race which once peopled these islands has a certain number of representatives still existing, who congregate largely on special occasions such as fairs, races, reviews, &c., but ordinarily are so scattered and secluded as to escape general observation. The Census enumerators have to search out these "waifs and strays," and on the morning of the 3rd April, 1871, there were found throughout the country 1921 males and 437 females who had slept the preceding night in barns and sheds, and 4325 males and 3700 females whose sleeping places were caravans and tents or the open canopy of heaven. The numbers living out of houses vary with the seasons; in winter they shrink into such dwellings as are available to them, and in summer they swarm out into the lanes, commons, and fields. The ascertained houseless class amounted to 20,348 persons in 1841, in 1851 to 15,764, in 1861 to 11,444, and in 1871 to 10,383. The Census in 1841 was taken in June; on the three subsequent occasions it was taken in March and April; the class appears, therefore, to be undergoing a gradual reduction.

DIVISIONS OF THE COUNTRY.

England is divided into 40, Wales into 12 counties; and these counties have from early historical times been subdivided again into hundreds, tythings, townships, parishes, and other subordinate territorial units. This has not been done on any settled uniform plan. The English county boundary even now divides many parishes, and detached parts of parishes are dispersed in the midst of other parishes. The great division of the country into unions by the Poor Law Commissioners in 1834 was made with no regard to the hundred, and little regard to the county boundaries; the borough boundaries were also set at nought; in fact, convenience in administering the new Poor Law was alone considered by the Commissioners.

Counties.—The counties consist of a variable number of hundreds, and until latterly had detached parts within each other's limits. All the estuaries, and the large as well as some of the small rivers on the east coast, serve to mark the bounds of extensive counties: the Tweed, Tyne, Tees, Humber, Wash, Yare, Stour, and Thames, separate the counties of Northumberland, Durham, Yorkshire, Lincolnshire, Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex, and Kent, which were at one time or other of the Saxon period, separately or conjointly, small kingdoms. On the south coast the smaller rivers appear to have been disregarded in fixing the bounds of Kent, Sussex, Hampshire, Dorset, and Devon; but the Tamar divides Devon from Cornwall. The Bristol Channel and the estuary of the Severn separate Somerset and Devon from Glamorganshire and Monmouthshire; the indentations of the coast by estuaries mark, on the west, the divisions of the Welsh counties; the Dee divides Flint from Cheshire, as the Mersey does Cheshire from Lancashire. The Thames is a boundary from its mouth almost to its source; it separates Essex, Middlesex, Buckinghamshire, and Oxfordshire on its north bank, from Berkshire, Surrey, and Kent on the south bank. The arrangement on the Severn is different; the county towns of Gloucester, Worcester, and Shrewsbury are on its banks, and the counties extend to the hills on both sides. Herefordshire, in like manner, extends over the middle portion of the basin of the Wye. The midland counties are small, and as the county towns are on the rivers, they extend on both sides of the basins.

In subsequent pages of this Digest will be found full details of the distribution of the population in the several counties, a descriptive account of their various sub-divisions for administrative purposes, statistics illustrative of their Parliamentary representation, and other useful county information. (See pp. 155 et seq.)

Hundreds.—Sub-divisions of the shires have existed since the age of Alfred; and hundreds, tythings, and hides, are named in the early Saxon laws, charters, and other records. The notices are, however, by no means precise; nor are they all consistent, either with themselves, or with what is found to exist of the ancient divisions in later times. The simplest view may be thus stated: England was divided into hides, and a hide of land, containing 100 or 120 acres, supported a free family; ten such free families constituted a tything; ten or twelve tythings a hundred; an indefinite number of hundreds, a shire. The hundred is used in the Domesday return (1086) as a well-defined territorial division of the county.

The division of men into tens, twelves, hundreds, and thousands, on the basis of their system of numeration, is so natural, that instances occur of its use in the history of almost every nation; but it is not probable that Alfred, or any of his successors or predecessors, ever succeeded in organizing all the races, tribes, and states in England so simply as the above theory implies, without reference to other considerations than mere numbers. If the holdings were ever equal in extent, or the numbers of men in townships and hundreds the same, they could not continue unchanged while the numbers and settlements of the people increased, while properties were so frequently won and lost by conquest, and while other mutations incidental to societies of men in the civilized as well as the barbarous state were going on. Accordingly, it is found that the hundreds, in the survey after the Conquest, and the hundreds still remaining as constituent divisions of the country, differ to such an extent in area and population—not only in different, but in the same counties, and in similar situations—that it is difficult to conceive they could ever have been formed on a uniform scale of area, or of free population.

In naming the sub-divisions corresponding to hundreds in Yorkshire, Lincolnshire and Nottinghamshire, the term "wapentake" was adopted; Yorkshire (exclusive of York City) and Lincolnshire being each divided into three parts, consisting of a given number of wapentakes. In Cumberland and Westmorland the "wards" are synonymous with the hundreds in other counties. In Kent the hundreds are grouped into "lathes," and in Sussex into "rapes."

The number of hundreds, or their equivalents, for which the population is separately shown in the Census Returns, is 818; it has not been thought necessary to give the population of the several hundreds in this publication, the hundred being now practically extinct as an administrative subdivision.

Parliamentary Representation.—Considerable changes were made in the Parliamentary Representation of England and Wales by the Reform Act of 1867 (30 & 31 Vict. c. 102). The franchises were altered, the limits of existing parliamentary boroughs were extended, new boroughs were created and others disfranchised, new divisions of some counties were made, and the number of members underwent redistribution. The boroughs disfranchised by this Act were Totnes, Reigate, Great Yarmouth and Lancaster; and subsequently, a further disfranchisement of English boroughs was made by the Scotch Reform Act of 1868 (31 & 32 Vict. c. 48); those boroughs being Arundel, Ashburton, Dartmouth Honiton, Lyme Regis, Thetford, and Wells. The boroughs enfranchised in 1867 were Chelsea, Darlington The Hartlepools, Stockton, Gravesend, Burnley, Staleybridge, Wednesbury, Middlesborough, Dewsbury, and (by the division of the Tower Hamlets) Hackney; a member was also given to the University of London. An additional representative was given to Manchester, Liverpool, Birmingham, Leeds, Salford, and Merthyr Tydfil; while the following boroughs were reduced each to one representative—Evesham, Marlborough, Harwich, Richmond, Lymington, Chippenham, Bridport, Stamford, Chipping Wycombe, Poole, Knaresborough, Andover, Leominster, Tewkesbury, Ludlow, Ripon, Huntingdon, Maldon, Buckingham, Newport (Isle of Wight), New Malton, Tavistock, Lewes, Cirencester, Bodmin, Great Marlow, Devizes, Hertford, Dorchester, Lichfield, Cockermouth, Bridgnorth, Guildford, Chichester, and Windsor. The alterations in the divisions of counties were as follows:—Cheshire was divided into North, Mid, and South; Derbyshire into North, South, and East; Devonshire into North, East, and South; Essex into North-west, North-east, and South; West Kent into West and Mid; North Lancashire into North and North-east; South Lancashire into South-east and South-west; Lincolnshire into North, Mid, and South; Norfolk into West, North-east, and South-east; Somersetshire into East, Mid, and West; Staffordshire, into North, West, and East; East Surrey into East and Mid; and the West Riding of Yorkshire into North, Mid, and South.

The number of houses and population enumerated in 1871 in the represented boroughs and in the counties exclusive of the boroughs is given in a summary view in Table VII. (pp. 38–39), and in fuller detail under each county (pp. 155 et seq.)

It may be interesting to show here what changes have been made in the distribution of the population as between the parliamentary boroughs and the rest of the country, according to the returns of the last three Censuses:—

Years.	Population as enumerated in
	Parliamentary Boroughs.	Counties outside Parliamentary Boroughs.	Total.
1851	7,438,679	10,488,930	17,927,609
1861	8,638,569	11,427,655	20,066,224
1871	10,652,423	12,059,843	22,712,266
	Actual increase in the two Periods.
Between 1851–61	1,199,890	938,725	2,138,615
1861–71	2,013,854	632,188	2,646,042
	Increase per Cent.
Between 1851–61	16·1	8·9	11·9
1861–71	23·3	5·5	13·2

The net result of the above comparison is that whereas by inherent growth of population and enlargement of electoral area the population within the represented boroughs has increased at the rate of 43 per cent. since 1851, the population of the counties outside the parliamentary boroughs has increased 15 per cent. only.

The relation of the electorate to the male population and to the number of members returned in the boroughs and counties is thus exhibited :—

	Male Population.	Electors.	Members Returned.
Boroughs	5,105,476	1,250,019	302
Counties outside boroughs	5,953,458	801,109	187

Those who are interested in county representative statistics will find at page 40 of this Digest a Table showing in juxtaposition for each county its population, electorate, value of property, number of houses assessed to the house duty, and degree of education as evidenced by the proportion of signatures with marks in the marriage registers—elements which enter more or less into all schemes of electoral reform.

Lieutenancy Sub-divisions.—The laws relating to the militia may be said to affect directly or indirectly every man in the country. In the several counties Sub-divisions of Lieutenancy have been constituted for the purpose of raising the militia quotas; provision has also been made for the making of lists of men liable to serve, and for the ballotting and enrolling of men to supply vacancies. The Acts authorizing these proceedings being suspended only, they may be put in force at any time by Order in Council.

It would be inexpedient to make use of the returns obtained at the Census for any special object connected with the ballots for the militia, even were the details sufficiently recent and exact to be so employed, but no reasonable objection can be urged to the employment of such information for a general purpose. Accordingly, a statement of the number of persons of esch sex in the several Sub-divisions of Lieutenancy, which in many counties are identical with the Petty Sessional Divisions, is given in the Census Returns. Assuming the exempted classes to be pretty equally distributed, the total male population will afford a basis for computing the proportionate number of militiamen to be raised in each sub-division. The provision contained in the Militia Act of 1852, for making, when deemed expedient, these sub-divisions conterminous with the Superintendent Registrars' Districts or Poor Law Unions, has not hitherto been acted upon, chiefly on account of the inconvenience which, it is supposed, might arise from many of the districts being composed of parts of two or more counties.

Under each county will be found in this Digest (pp. 155 et seq.) the male population of all ages in each of the Lieutenancy Sub-divisions, of which there are altogether 621 throughout the country.

Highway Districts.—Under the Act for the better management of highways in England (25 & 26 Vict. c. 61) a new set of County divisions is in the course of formation for applying the principle of unions of parishes which has worked so advantageously under the new Poor Law. By this statute power is given to justices in general or quarter sessions to issue orders for dividing their County into highway districts, to consist of parishes and places not comprised within the jurisdiction of boards constituted under other Acts. The Act came into effect in 1863, and 443 highway districts have been formed under its provisions; the character of the measure being optional, it has been only partially adopted, and the population of the existing districts is not distinguished in the Census returns. In the Counties of Bucks, Norfolk, Rutland, Stafford, Westmorland, Anglesey, Carnarvon, Flint, Merioneth, and Montgomery, no districts have been formed under the Act.

Judicial Divisions.—The Judicial division of the country exhibits a striking want of coherence; the Circuits of the Judges do not consist of any definite number of the County Court Circuits, nor are the County Court Circuits aggregates of the Petty Sessional Divisions.

For the purposes of Assize and Gaol delivery, there are in England and Wales eight circuits of the Judges, besides the jurisdiction of the Central Criminal Court at London. The circuits are known as the Home, Midland, Norfolk, Oxford, Northern, Western, North Wales, and South Wales circuits, and include the counties situated in the parts of the country implied by their names.

The divisions existing in all the counties of England and Wales for the purposes of Special and Petty Sessions are in general based on the hundreds and other ancient county sub-divisions. By the authority of various Acts of Parliament the justices at Quarter Sessions may alter and re-arrange these sessional divisions, and they are empowered to adopt the same limits as those of Poor Law unions. In the exercise of these powers the justices have occasionally transferred parishes and places from one division to another, and, for the convenience of the constables or of the public, annexed such parishes to others in a particular hundred of the division to which they have been assigned. By this transference, the parishes thus dealt with for a special purpose have come to be considered, for all purposes whatever, parts of the hundreds to which they have been added, and have thenceforward been deemed as much part of the hundred as any of the other parishes which may have been named as belonging to it in the Domesday Survey. It seems clear, however, that while the justices have full power to divide the counties in any manner which they may think expedient for the convenience of holding sessions, they possess no authority to alter the ancient hundreds. That in practice a different view is taken in some counties is sufficiently obvious from the returns of the Clerks of the Peace. A Parliamentary Return (No. 447, Session of 1870) gives the names of the parishes or places composing the several Petty Sessional Divisions throughout the country. The Census Returns show that in 1871 there were 700 Petty Sessional Divisions, and 193 boroughs with Petty Sessions; 97 of the latter having separate Quarter Sessions also. The population of the Petty Sessional Divisions in each county is given in this Digest (pp. 155 et seq.). For police Purposes there are 622 divisions, including 167 boroughs with police not under County control.

Municipal Cities and Boroughs.—The Saxon borough was a modification of the hundred; the burgesses were freemen bound to each other as neighbours, responsible for each other to surrounding communities, sharing common burthens; classified further in Guilds of Trades, or Companies, which sprang up with the divisions of labour; and banded firmly together for the defence of their walls, and dwellings. "It must be clearly understood," observes one of the ablest of our constitutional Historians, "that a Saxon Burgh was nothing more than a Hundred, or an assemblage of Hundreds, surrounded by a moat, a stockade, or a wall; and the name of the hundred was actually given to some of the most considerable cities, burghs, and towns of England, [as Norwich, Thetford, Chelmsford, Maldon, Colchester, Winchelsea, Canterbury, Faversham, Fordwich, Exeter, several of them on Roman foundations]. No right was conferred or destroyed by the feeble fortification which protected the burgesses; and the jurisdiction of the burgh-moot, or port-moot, differed from that possessed by the analogous districts in the open country, only in consequence of the police required by a more condensed population, and the institutions, perhaps of a Roman origin, which incorporated the trading portions of the community [Guilds, Companies]: all of which were extraneous to the primitive territorial jurisdiction of the burgh, and in no respect affecting its constitutional existence or nature." The hundred necessarily underwent some modification in the towns; and in this as in other cases it soon ceased to designate a specific number of men. But it is of importance to observe that in the early times the same principles of subdivision, organization, and government, were applied alike to town and country populations.

London, Winchester, Abingdon, and some other boroughs of importance are not entered in Domesday, and were probably not surveyed by the Commissioners of William I.

The eleven cities of London, Bristol, Canterbury, Chester, Exeter, Gloucester, Lichfield, Lincoln, Norwich, Worcester, York; and the six towns of Kingston-on-Hull, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Berwick-upon-Tweed, Nottingham, Poole, Southampton, in England; and two, Carmarthen and Haverfordwest, in, Wales, are "Counties of themselves;" as was also the city of Coventry until 1842. The cities on the old Roman sites maintained their independence of the country around them, as well as of the early Saxon kingdoms, to a larger extent than other towns; as is indicated by their independent county jurisdiction.

Some of the ancient boroughs fell into decay; new boroughs sprang up in other parts of the country; many towns were created boroughs for purposes not now very intelligible; and with the rapid progress of population which commenced after 1750 the houses have spread beyond the limits of the old boroughs and cities. In 1835 a great change was made in their constitution, and the limits of many were enlarged by the adoption of the new boundaries settled for purposes of Parliamentary elections, after an inquiry by Commissioners into the circumstances of each place.

The Commissioners appointed to inquire into Municipal Corporations experienced, at the outset of their labours, some difficulty in ascertaining the number of corporate bodies in England and Wales. Acting upon the best information that they were able to collect, they visited and instituted inquiries in 285 places. Of these, 16 contained Corporations which proved to be of a character exclusively manorial, 178 were subsequently placed under the operation of the Municipal Corporation Act (5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 76), and two of the number (Hartlepool and Ashton-under-Lyne) were, at a more recent period, brought under the provisions of that statute on new charters being granted to them; the remaining 89 were ultimately left undisturbed by the legislative enactment.

During the period which has elapsed since the investigation was made into the condition of the municipal boroughs, some of the unreformed Corporations have ceased to exercise any active functions, having become, in fact, either extinct or dormant, while others, although still claiming to be Corporations, are municipal only in name.

By Section 141 of the Municipal Corporation Act, charters of incorporation may be granted to towns, on the petition of the inhabitant householders, if Her Majesty, by the advice of the Privy Council, shall think fit to grant them. The number of towns which have so obtained charters since 1835, is 45, but several considerable places are still without a municipal organization.

The total number of Municipal Boroughs in England and Wales in 1871 was 224, and within their limits there were 1,229,214 inhabited houses and a population of 6,606,909.

Urban Sanitary Districts.—By Section 6 of the Census Act the enumerators were required to distinguish in all cases the several parishes or parts of parishes "within the limits of any incorporated city or borough, or of any town within the jurisdiction of a local board or of any commissioners entrusted by a local Act with draining, cleansing, lighting, or improving the town."

At the Census date (April, 1871) out of the 224 Municipal Boroughs, 146 were Local Board Districts, 37 were under local Acts for improvement purposes, and 41 were without any recognized powers for improving or regulating their sanitary condition. Under the Public Health and Local Government Acts (1848 and 1858) 721 districts had been formed up to the Census date, 146 of them being Municipal Boroughs. The number of towns with Improvement Commissions (including 37 Municipal Boroughs) was 88. It is thus ascertained that there were altogether 809 cities and towns possessiug definite powers for sanitary purposes, namely, 183 Municipal Boroughs, 575 towns under Local Boards, and 51 towns under Improvement Commissions. The number of towns of sufficient magnitude to be classed as such, having no organization for either Municipal or Sanitary purposes, was 96.

Since the Census was taken, an important legislative enactment has altered the state of things above described. By the Public Health Act of 1872 the variety of sanitary authorities previously existing was reduced to two classes, namely, "Urban Sanitary Authorities" and "Rural Sanitary Authorities:" the former are town councils of municipal boroughs, improvement commissioners under local Acts, and local boards established under the Public Health or Local Government Acts; the latter are the boards of guardians throughout the country, to whom are committed sole jurisdiction in sanitary matters in their respective unions, excepting such parts as are within the limits of any urban sanitary authority.

The 41 Municipal Boroughs previously referred to as having no sanitary organization at the time of the Census have therefore, by the provisions of the new Act, become "Urban Sanitary Districts," and it is probable that some of the 96 towns have now passed into the same category.

In a subsequent part of this Digest (Table IX., pp. 41–55) will be found the number of inhabited houses and population in 1861 and 1871 in every Municipal Borough, Local Board District, Improvement Commissioners' District, and considerable Town, arranged alphabetically for facility of reference. And a tabular statement of the population of such places arranged under the several counties in which they are situate is also given (pp. 155 et seq.).

Townships, Parishes, Manors.—After his accession, in 1066, the Conqueror seized, besides the Crown lands, the lands of the Anglo-Saxon or Danish proprietors, who fell in the battle of Hastings; and, in the course of his reign, acquired the estates of many rebellious Thanes. He distributed a large portion of these lands, as the pay of past and of future services, among the chieftains in his army; who retained large domains for themselves, and distributed the rest on similar terms, among the officers and men under their command. The estates of the Church, and of the chief monasteries also, passed into the hands of the Norman clergy. The tenants who held immediately of the king, including ecclesiastical corporations, amounted to 1,400, the under tenants to 7,871, at the time of the great survey (1086), which exhibits an apparently new division of the country into manors. In the Domesday Record the kingdom is divided into counties; the counties into the lands (terras) of the king, bishop, and tenants in chief (tenentes terras); and these again into manors, under the respective hundreds; which generally included the whole or parts of several manors. Villa was another term for manor (manerium) or lordship; and in the Exeter Domesday mansio is almost constantly used for manerium. The manor was what Bede had called the "place" (locus), in the midst of which the churches were built, or the old temples had stood; the village and surrounding neighbourhood, where the people lived for the sake of society and of defence, with their headman or Thane. The home of the chief tenant often became a castle in the period immediately following the Norman Conquest. The lord—resident either in a castle with its keep and mount, in a hall, or in a fortified house (domus defensabilis), and with his court encroaching on the hundred court—for a time gave a new character and name to the township, the priest*shire*, or the parish; but it is much more probable that the old subdivisions, which had existed for centuries, and are sometimes named vils in the reign of Edward the Confessor, were chosen as the limit of the manor, than that the country was wholly recast and divided into the same number of new districts in the reign of William I. Manors underwent changes, and new manors were frequently created, until the Statute Quia emptores put an end to their increase in the reign of Edward I. (A.D. 1290): the lords of new manors probably erected churches and appointed clergymen,—according to the common theory; but the parish boundaries, surrounding the old township—guarded by the spiritual supervision of the priest, and by the tithe-owner—were not originally derived from the manor; and only assumed their legitimate importance in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, when they were made the area of the district which by rates maintained its own poor.*

Ecclesiastical Divisions.—The division of the country ecclesiastically into Dioceses, Archdeaconries, and Deaneries, took place in very early times. Most of the present Bishoprics were founded in the Saxon period: originally there were three Archbishoprics—of Canterbury, York, and Caerleon in Wales the latter was suppressed by Henry I. and the territory annexed to the See of Canterbury. Most of the Dioceses, on their first formation, had their limits co-extensive with the boundaries of the kingdoms o the sovereigns who formed them: subdivisions soon, however, were discovered to be necessary; and the Council of Hertford, convened by Archbishop Theodore, decreed that, as the faithful grew to be more numerous, the number of the Sees should also be increased. The first subdivision was made by this prelate in the Diocese of York; and the various princes subsequently made repeated alterations, until at length the whole arrangement settled into its existing shape, excepting the addition made by Henry VIII., and by the recent Acts of Parliament. Henry, with a portion of the proceeds of the confiscated monasteries, founded seven new Bishoprics, viz.:—Gloucester, Bristol, Peterborough, Oxford, Westminster, Chester, and Man. The Bishopric of Westminster, however, only lasted until 1550, when it was again incorporated with the See of London: and the Act of 6 & 7 Wm. IV., cap. 77, united into one the Sees of Gloucester and Bristol, and created two additional—Manchester and Ripon. By this statute, the Ecclesiastical Commissioners were authorized to alter the limits of nearly all the rest, by effecting a transference of Parishes from one to another, with a view to the more convenient distribution of territory and population.

Archdeacons anciently were only members of Chapters without territorial jurisdiction. The assignment of specific limits for Archdeaconries took place soon after the Conquest. The Act of 6 & 7 Wm. IV., cap. 77, gives power to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners to re-arrange the boundaries of the ancient, and to form certain new Archdeaconries.

Rural Deaneries were recognized Ecclesiastical Divisions of a Diocese in Saxon times. They seem to have been designed to correspond with Hundreds in the political division of the country, as Archdeaconries were possibly intended to correspond with Counties. The etymology of the word (Decanus) favours this idea; and it is not improbable that all such Deaneries originally embraced Districts with ten churches, and no more; their boundaries, once settled, never having been disturbed, although increase of population caused an increase in the number of religious edifices.

The ancient primary division of the land, for spiritual purposes, was exclusively into Parishes;* but, in the course of time, as population increased, and additional churches were erected, certain portions of particular parishes came to be assigned by custom to the newly established places of worship; and these at length, under the name of Chapelries, acquired boundaries as definite and generally recognized as those of the parent Parish. This is especially the case in the more northern counties, where, the Parishes being of very large extent, while the population has increased with great rapidity, the need for such a further subdivision soon became apparent.

The population within the ancient parochial divisions of the country is accurately ascertained at each Census; but it is obviously of great importance to know also the actual, or at least the approximate, number of inhabitants in each of the numerous Ecclesiastical Districts or New Parishes which have been formed out of the ancient parishes in consequence of the growth of population in the last hundred years. It is essential to the efficient discharge of his duties that the clergyman should have the means of informing himself from time to time as to the number of souls within his district; and, as might be expected, one of the first questions asked by any of the great societies, like the Pastoral Aid Society, the Additional Curates' Society, and the Church Building Society, whose object it is to lessen the amount of spiritual destitution, has reference to the amount of population. For almost every new church there is a district, either legally assigned by the bishop of the diocese or the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, or adopted conventionally for purposes of temporary convenience, and having no legal force or effect. Unfortunately, the precise limits of these districts are only imperfectly known to the public, and in some instances to the incumbents themselves, especially when the latter are new clergymen, who have failed to obtain from their predecessors correct information on the subject. Furthermore, the Church authorities have published no complete list of the ecclesiastical subdivisions of the entire country, and it cannot therefore be a matter of surprise that the numbers returned as the population of the several districts, although in every instance submitted to the examination of the incumbents previous to publication, are in some cases approximative rather than strictly accurate. Since 1856 the functions of the Commissioners for Building New Churches have been merged in those of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners; the latter body and the bishops being now the sole authorities empowered to assign legal districts to churches, where this is not done by special Act of Parliament.

* The term "Parish" is frequently used by the Clergy in one sense, and by the Poor Law authorities in another, while in the Census Returns of 1871 a new term, "Civil Parish," has been adopted to designate a place separately rated to the relief of the poor and not otherwise described.

The country is ecclesiastically divided into 2 Provinces, 28 Dioceses (including Sodor and Man), 71 Archdeaconries, and 728 Rural Deaneries; altogether, about 3,000 Ecclesiastical Districts, have been constituted, and the total number of cures or benefices in the country is estimated at about 13,000. It has not been thought desirable to publish the population of the several Ecclesiastical Districts in this Digest of the Census, the Clergy List for 1873 being the most complete and authoritative source of information thereon; but the constitution of the several Dioceses, with their population, will be found set forth in Table X., pp. 56–60.

Registration Districts (Unions), and Sub-districts.—The Act of 1834, for "The Amendment and Better Administration of the Laws relating to the Poor" (4 & 5 Will. IV., cap. 74), empowered the Poor Law Commissioners "to declare so many parishes as they may think fit to be united for the administration of the Laws for the Relief of the Poor." The united parishes were designated Unions. The Act also provided for the election of a representative Board of Guardians, and for the appointment of officers in every Union, by whom the local rates for the relief of the poor, and for many other purposes, are collected and expended. The Unions, under the Act of 1836, for Registering Births, Deaths, and Marriages in England (6 & 7 Will. IV., c. 86), were subdivided into as many smaller districts as the Commissioners, subject to the approval of the Registrar-General, thought fit. The whole of England and Wales is not under the Poor Law Amendment Act;* but the Registration Act extends over all England and Wales, which is thus divided into 626 Registration districts. A district comprises on an average three or four sub-districts (in all 2,195), to each of which there is a registrar of births and deaths. A sub-district extends over a certain number of parishes or townships, except in those rare cases where the parish is large, and is itself divided into one or more sub-districts.

To the Registration Districts a staff of officers is attached; and, where they are Unions, there are the clerk to the Board of Guardians, relieving officers, medical officers, superintendent registrars, and registrars. The districts have practically been found useful for other administrative purposes, besides those which were in contemplation at the time of their formation. The circuits of the county courts comprise aggregates of these districts; and under the Militia Act powers are given for rendering them applicable in carrying out the machinery of that measure.

Registration Counties.—Under the Registration arrangement of the country no change whatever has been made in the boundaries of parishes; for the Hundreds, Districts have been substituted; and the groups of complete districts—called, for the sake of distinction, "Registration counties,"—differ little in extent or area from the ancient counties, with which, wherever it was practicable, their boundaries are made conterminate. The cause of the discrepancy between the "registration counties" and the other counties arises from the circumstance that, in many cases, the boundaries of the old counties were rivers; on which, subsequently, at fords and bridges, important towns arose—the markets and centres of meeting for the people of all the surrounding parishes. These towns have been made the centres of the new districts, as at them it is most convenient for the guardians to meet, and the officers to reside. Thus, Wallingford in Berkshire is the natural centre of the district, which is nearly equally divided by the Thames; and the Thames is here, as it is in a lower part of its course, the county boundary separating Oxfordshire from Berkshire. The people of the parishes of Benson, Ewelme, Crowmarsh-Gifford, North Stoke, Warborough, and Dorchester, on the north side of the river, in Oxfordshire, meet at Wallingford market, and are in many ways intimately associated with the people on the south side of the river in Berkshire; hence it was quite justifiable to unite the parishes so related on both sides of the Thames in the Wallingford Union—the Wallingford District. The whole district is placed in the "registration county" of Berks; while part of it is in the old shire of Oxford. In the same way the greater part of the other discrepancies is accounted for. The old shire boundaries often run near towns; and the districts, which have not been arbitrarily framed, consist of central towns, with the surrounding parishes, subdivided into sub-districts; while the Registration Counties are aggregates of the districts which have their central towns within the limits of the old shires. In the counties which, like Norfolk, Suffolk, and Essex, were originally well divided, little change has been made; in others, the defect of the old subdivisions into counties has been partially modified, without any further substantial innovation than the substitution of districts for the obsolete hundreds.

* The Unions and other jurisdictions under the Poor Law Amendment Act embrace almost the whole of the country. The Middle Temple, Lincoln's Inn, Gray's Inn, the Charter House, the Inner Temple, the Tower of London, Lundy Isle, the Scilly Islands, Bardsey Isle, Burrow or Rat Island, Caldy Island, St. Margaret Island, Puffin Island, Looe Island, Fern Island, Dover Castle, York Castle, Lancaster Castle, and several places hitherto reputed to be extra-parochial are still unannexed to any Unions.

The Act relating to Extra-parochial places (20 Vict. cap. 19) provided that all such places should be regarded as "parishes," and have overseers appointed, or be annexed to adjoining parishes. The Inner Temple, Middle Temple, and Gray's Inn, and the Charter House were specially provided for by the Act, which assigned the duties of overseer to the person filling a certain office for the time being.

Registration Divisions.—For the convenient exposition of the facts relating to population, and the determination of the relation of these facts to others in equally large masses, England was divided at the Census of 1851 into Ten great Divisions; Wales constituting one Division by itself. Those Divisions, maintained in 1861, and found for many statistical and some physical purposes convenient, are maintained now; they are constituted by groups of Registration Counties.

Besides size and population in forming the Divisions out of counties or districts, contiguity and industrial connection were considered. The North-Western Division contains the greatest number, the Eastern Division the least number, of people; thus no division contains less than a million, nor more than four millions of people: not more, therefore, than double, nor less than half, the population of the average division. The numerical ratios deduced from these large numbers are not liable to the extreme fluctuations derangiog accidentally the results where small numbers are used. The Welsh Division has an area of 5,125,342 statute acres; the South-Western Division 4,981,170 acres; the North-Western the most populous, is the smallest, except London, and has an area of 1,998,914 acres. The area is less, but the population of these divisions is on a par with the population of such states as Denmark and the Netherlands; of Saxony and Wurtemburg in Germany; Piedmont and Tuscany in Italy. The eleven provinces of Prussia have the same average population, but they are more than twice as extensive as the English divisions, which correspond in size with the average area of the ancient provinces of France at the Revolution, cut up into 83 Departments by the Constituent Assembly. In England the Kingdoms of the Heptarchy had given place to counties corresponding to the French Departments long before the Conquest, and are not recognised in the Domesday survey, but the idea of territorial units greater than counties existed. The Roman provinces of Great Britain were larger than the kingdoms of the Heptarchy.

Ireland is now conveniently divided into four provinces, which, with ten divisions of England, one for Wales, and two for Scotland, constitute seventeen divisions of corresponding magnitude. The English divisions may, at some future time, receive, like those of Ireland, simpler and shorter names than those by which they are now designated.

The inequality in the distribution of the population, and the irregular geographical forms of these Islands, render the formation of divisions of equal area and equal population impossible. But the area, the population, the topographical position of counties, their historical connections, and the leading occupations, have all been taken into account in the formation of the eleven Divisions of England and Wales; so that while many other combinations of counties may be advantageously formed, these topographical groups will, it is believed, be found convenient for general purposes.

The population and rate of increase in the eleven Registration Divisions is subjoined:—

DIVISIONS.	Population, 1871.	Increase per cent. 1861-71.

Analysis of these divisions shows that those which have increased most rapidly owe that circumstance to the fact of their embracing a larger amount of urban population than the rest. London is, of course, exclusively urban, but the figures quoted in the above table do not convey adequately the extent of London's increase, inasmuch as some of the suburbs where the increase has been most rapid run into the second, third, and fourth divisions, and are there masked by inclusion with large populations increasing at far slower rates. The increase in the Northern division (embracing Durham, Northumberland, Cumberland, and Westmoreland) during the last ten years shows an advance on the already high rate (19 per cent.) of the previous decenniad—the growth of the towns on the Tees, the Wear, and the Tyne being most remarkable. The agricultural counties are literally nowhere in the race, their inhabitants having in most cases fallen short of the return for 1861. Two causes may be assigned for this—namely, the introduction of machinery, rendering fewer hands necessary, and the superior attractions offered by the large towns to men sharp enough to recognize the increased value of labour.

A large section of this Digest is devoted to tabular statements based on the Registration Divisions of the Country; showing the houses and population in every Parish or Place within the several Registration Sub-districts and Districts grouped topographically under the Registration Counties forming each of the Eleven Divisions (pp. 61–153).

Cinque Ports and Ancient Towns.—Among the most ancient subdivisions or jurisdictions of the Country are the Cinque Ports, which, by reason of the peculiar privileges they originally possessed and still in some measure retain, and of the interest attaching to them as the birthplace and cradle in olden time of the British Navy, must necessarily have a place in this conspectus. The following account of these Ports is extracted from Volume I. of the Census Returns for 1871, and is the result of a most careful collation of authorities both ancient and modern.

The Cinque Ports have existed as an Incorporation from a very early period of English history. The oldest charter now on record is one granted in the 6th year of Edward I., being 99 years older than the first charter of the City of London: and this refers to their privileges in the time of Edward the Confessor and William I., granted by charters which the charter of Edward I. states that the King had seen. It is stated in Jeake's 'Charters of the Cinque Ports,' a book considered to be of good authority, that in one of the records of the Town of Rye there is a memorandum, that "the Five Ports were enfranchised in the time of King Edward the Confessor."

The Five Ports are Hastings, Romney, Hythe, Dover, and Sandwich. To these were added, in very early times, the so-called Ancient Towns of Winchelsea and Rye, to which all the privileges of Cinque Ports were given. Each of the Ports of Hastings, Romney, Dover, and Sandwich, and also the Town of Rye, has one or more Members: some of the Members are Corporate Towns, others are not.

The only charter in which the Ports and their Members are enumerated is that of Charles II., which was the last charter granted to the Cinque Ports. In it the Corporate Towns are distinguished from those which have no corporation, by the latter being designated as "towns or places." Deal is mentioned in the charter as an unincorporated town: it was incorporated however by William III., and has thereafter been classed among the Corporate Members. Margate was incorporated in 1857.

Until the time of Henry VII. the Crown appears to have had no permanent Navy. The Cinque Ports had always furnished nearly the whole of the shipping required for the purposes of the State; and their assistance to the King's ships continued long after that time. When ships were wanted, the King issued his summons to the Ports to provide their quota. In the time of Edward I. they had to provide 57 ships fully equipped, at their own cost: the period of service, however, was limited to 15 days. The summonses issued by the Kings generally apportioned the ships among the Ports and Members. Some of the Members had to provide one ship: in some cases two Members had to provide one ship between them.

In consideration for these services, many very valuable privileges and franchises,* specified in the various charters, were granted to the Ports by different Kings.

* The Ports were invested with the following privileges, from or before the Conquest.—Firstly, they were exempted from all taxes and tallages.—Secondly, they had Sac and Soc, i.e., privilege to take cognizance of causes, either criminal or civil, within their own Courts, and power to compel all persons living within the confines of their liberties, to plead in their Courts.—Thirdly, they had Toll, i.e., a liberty of buying and selling within their own jurisdiction, and a power to receive the toll or gabel imposed on commodities then vended, and Theam, i.e., a civil and coercive power or jurisdiction over the inhabitants of the Cinque Ports, or any of the limits or members thereof.—Fourthly, they had Bloodwith, i.e., power to punish the effusion of blood, and Fledwith, i.e., authority to punish those who, having committed any misdemeanor or outrage, and, seeking to secure themselves by flight, are again seized upon and delivered up to justice.—Fifthly, they had Pillory and Tumbrell, which is stated to have resembled the cucking-stool, and to have been intended to restrain the fury of clamorous and impetuous women; (Jeake, however, states that a tumbrell was a cart, wherein the party worthy of this punishment is carried about while dirt is thrown upon him by the people).—Sixthly, they had Infangtheof and Outfangtheof, i.e., power to imprison and execute those which should commit felony in places subject to their jurisdiction.—Seventhly, they had Mundbriech, i.e., privilege to raise banks on any person's land within their jurisdiction, to secure the common interest from inundations of the sea.—Eighthly, they had Waives, i.e., wandering chattel or other goods, which, being waived or lost and not claimed within a year and a day, were to be possessed by those within whose jurisdiction they were found, and Strays, i.e., straggling cattle not claimed within a year and a day.—Ninthly, they had Waste,

The jurisdiction of the Cinque Ports extends along the coast continuously, from Seaford in Sussex, to Birchington near Margate, including also Faversham in the Swale. Several of the Corporate Members are now inland: some of these may originally have been on the coast and been left by the sea; others as, for instance, Fordwich, are situate on the banks of rivers which in former times were navigable. The town of Tenterden has no river near it, but at the time of its annexation to Rye, the sea flowed up to the parish at Small Hythe, where at that time, and long after, it was navigable for the vessels of those days. Many of the unincorporated Members are not only inland and detached from their respective Ports, but are situate at great distances therefrom. Thus, the Parish of Beaksbourne, situate on the Little Stour, near Canterbury, is a Member of Hastings, from which it is distant about forty-eight miles; the Ville of Grange, or Grenche, near Rochester, is a member of the same Port, and distant from it about thirty miles; and the large and increasing Town of Margate is about twenty-one miles distant from Dover, of which it was, until recent years, an unincorporated Member.

In very early times all the Members were probably in some measure dependent upon, or subject to, their respective Ports. At present there is no connection between any Port and such of its Members as have been incorporated, beyond that which exists amongst all the Ports. Each incorporated Member has within its Liberty the same jurisdiction and municipal functions as the Parent Port, and the latter has no power or right of interference. The Members, however, which have not been incorporated are under the municipal jurisdiction of their respective Ports; they are within the jurisdiction of the Criminal Courts and of the Magistrates and Coroners of those Ports, and they are summoned on the juries and contribute to the rates, in the nature of County rates, imposed by the Municipal bodies of those Ports, and sanctioned by the Court of Quarter Sessions. None of the rights of citizenship, however, can be acquired in the Members; they have no share in the election of any of the officers of their respective Ports, nor is residence within them considered as residence within the Port for any corporate purpose.

The connection between the Towns and Ports of New Romney, Fordwich, and Winchelsea, and their respective Liberties, is of the same description as that between Parent Ports and their non-corporate Members.

The following is a Statement of the Number of INHABITED HOUSES and POPULATION of the CINQUE PORTS, ANCIENT TOWNS, and their MEMBERS.

i.e., such common land as by prescription and custom usually belonged to the Crown, and Strep or Estrepment, i.e., power to cut down trees within their jurisdiction.—Tenthly, they had the grant of Flotsom, i.e., goods floating from some visible wreck to the shore, Jetsom, i.e., goods thrown overboard and driven ashore, and Witsom, i.e., goods driven on shore where there had not been for some time any visible wreck.—Their eleventh privilege was, to be a Guild, i.e., a fraternity or combination of men that had all the franchises of court-leet and court-baron, and power to lay assessments and taxes upon the inhabitants of the Cinque Ports and their members to improve the common interest.—Their twelfth franchise was, to assemble at Shepway, where the "Portmote" or "Parliament" of the Cinque Ports was held. This Court of Shepway punished the infringers of their privileges, and amerced all those who, being inhabitants of the Cinque Ports or of towns within their jurisdiction, sued out of those courts which were properly established to hear and determine all causes arising within their Liberties. This Court had authority, by Royal concession, to make byelaws and ordinances for the common good and profit of the Cinque Ports, and for the better regulation of the herring fishing at Yarmouth. All appeals from the inferior and subordinate Courts of the Cinque Ports were transmitted to the Court of Shepway. Lastly, the Barons of the Cinque Ports claim by inherent custom and prescription, which is grown up and confirmed by a tacit consent between them and the King, to support the four Staves of the Canopy that covers the King's Head at the Coronation, and afterwards to dine at the uppermost table in the Great Hall on his right hand. There were other franchises and privileges, such as the taking cognizance of the Assize of bread and beer, and some others which were not so important as those before mentioned, and were possessed by many Corporations besides that of the Cinque Ports. (Philipott's Villare Cantianum.)

The Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, who has generally held, and now holds, the office of Governor of Dover Castle, had in ancient times very extensive powers. He formerly held a Court of Chancery at Dover in the old Parish Church of St. James. The civil jurisdiction which he possessed, and which is described in the Appendix to the Report on Municipal Corporations (1835), was, so far as civil process was concerned, abolished by the Statute 18 & 19 Vict. c. 48 (1855). That jurisdiction was not limited to the towns, whether corporate or non-corporate, but extended to certain parishes, &c., along the sea-coast. In his capacity of Admiral of the Cinque Ports, the Lord Warden has a maritime jurisdiction, which is concurrent, so far as the Liberties are concerned, with the High Court of Admiralty; and his Court of Admiralty is still held in the accustomed place, viz., in a building which for many years formed part of the ancient Parish Church of St. James.

The Court of Shepway, the Supreme Court of the Cinque Ports, is so named from the place near Hythe where, previous to the time of the Commonwealth, it was generally held.* The Lord Warden presides, and is assisted by the Mayors and Bailiffs, and a certain number of jurats, summoned from each Port and Corporate Town. The following offences seem to have been cognizable by this Court only, viz.:—treason, sedition against the King or Queen, counterfeiting the Coin or Seal of the King, and concealing treasure found. Appeals from the judgments of the separate local Courts might be made to it; and notice of the holding of the Court seems to have been sent to Yarmouth, in order that the inhabitants of that place might have the opportunity of making complaints against the Bailiffs sent there by the Cinque Ports.

The Court of Brotherhood, and the Court of Brotherhood and Guestling have generally been held in the Hall of Brotherhood or in the Church of St. Nicholas at New Romney; and their functions appear to have always been nearly identical. The former Court is composed of the Mayors of the Five Ports and two Ancient Towns, and a certain number of jurats and freemen from each of them. The latter is constituted of the same persons, with the addition of the Mayors and Bailiffs of all the Corporate Members, and a certain number of jurats and freemen from each of them. The last-mentioned Mayors, Bailiffs, jurats, and freemen appear to have been invited by the Court of Brotherhood to give their assistance; and hence the word Guestling became part of the name of the Court. The Chairman is called the Speaker; the Court is addressed as "the House," and is believed to have been the model on which the Imperial Parliament was originally established. The office of Speaker is held for a year by the Mayors of the Five Ports and two Towns in rotation. At the Courts held before the Coronations of the Kings, arrangements are made respecting the privileges of the Barons to take part in these ceremonies.†

* Jeake states, that:—"This Shepway was famous in old time for the Court where the Pleas of the Ports were heard and determined before their Lord Warden; who, at his entrance into his Office of the Wardenship, did use here to take his Serement or Oath for the Preservation of their liberties. And here did this King Edward the 1st, before he came to the Crown, Anno 1265, when he was Lord Warden, exact of the Barons of the Ports their Oath of Fidelity to his Father, King Henry III., against the Maintainers of the Barons' Wars. Nevertheless this Court, though anciently here held and retaining still the name of Shepway, is not restrained to be kept there, but may be held elsewhere within the Ports or Members at the pleasure of the Lord Warden, as well for swearing him, as for other occasions; for I find this Court, Anno 1597, held at Beaksborn in Kent upon the Administration of the Oath or Serement to Sir Henry Brooke, Lord Cobham, and sometimes since at other places." Mr. Knocker, in his 'Grand Court of Shepway,' states that:—"Henry, Lord Sydney, Viscount Shepey, issued his precept on the 3rd of August, 1693, to the Cinque Ports to meet and hold the Grand Court of Shepway there (i.e., Dover), using this expression, viz.:—'I have heard it is true that anciently the Wardens used to be sworn at Shepway; but it seems of late that place having not been thought so convenient for that purpose because of its want of sufficient accommodation, I am told that three of my immediate predecessors successively were sworn upon Braidenstone Hill, lying within the Liberties of the town and port of Dover.' Lord Sydney's immediate predecessors were George Finch, Earl of Winchelsea, and James, Duke of York, the latter of whom was appointed at the King's Restoration, A.D. 1660, anno 12 Car. II., both Constable and Warden, and sworn in at Dover in 1668. During the Commonwealth the offices were put into commission; so that it is probable the first adoption of Dover as the place for holding the Court took place during the interregnum; from which time it would appear that the Court has been invariably held there. Here it was that Lionel, Duke of Dorset, was installed, A.D. 1765; and Hasted records that Mr. Pitt was sworn in here upon his appointment in 1792." Lord Palmerston was installed at Dover in 1861.

† The following extract from pages 120 and 121 of Jeake's 'Charters of the Cinque Ports' relates to the Precedence of the Mayors, Bailiffs, and Jurats of the said Ports:—"And according to the situation of the said Cinque Ports and Ancient Towns were they named before, in the Charter of Queen Elizabeth by themselves, in their Letter of Attorney there recited, and usually so entered in the Records of their Brotherhood. But in all these last-mentioned Charters of King James, King Charles I. and II., Rye is placed before Winchelsea, and both after all the Five Ports: yet still the Speakership of the Courts of Brotherhood and Guestling, as aforesaid, continue, as anciently, according to their situation. Nevertheless, neither according to their nomination in their Charters, nor according to their situation, do the Mayors, Bailiffs, and Jurats of the said Ports, Towns, and Members corporate sit in the same Courts; but take their precedency thus, if Hasting be Speaker: Hasting, Sandwich, Dover, Romney, Hithe, Rye, Winchelsea, Seaford, Pevensea, Fordwich, Folkstone, Feversham, Lydd, Tenterden. But if any other of the Ports besides Hasting or any of the Ancient Towns be Speaker, then next the Speaker, on the right hand, sits the Mayor of Hasting, and on the left hand the Mayor of Sandwich (if he be not Speaker), and after them the rest in their order. And because sometimes Dover and Romney have contended for the upper hand; as also Rye with Winchelsea; for quieting all controversies thereupon, it was at last settled by order of the

There was in former times a Court called the Court of Lodemanage, which seems to have been a branch of the Admiralty jurisdiction. The objects of this Court were the licensing and regulation of pilots.

The Act 51 Geo. III. c. 36 has made some alterations as to the administration of justice in the unincorporated Members. This Act, after reciting that many inconveniences had arisen from the non-residence of Justices in or near several of the Members, empowers the King to appoint Justices of the Peace within the Liberties of the Cinque Ports. The jurisdiction of these Justices, however, is not to extend to the granting of publicans' licences or to the exercise of any authority within the Five Ports or any of the incorporated Towns. Jurisdiction is given to the Justices and Coroners of Essex within Brightlingsea, and to the Justices and Coroners of Kent within Beaksbourne and Grange, from which the granting of licenses is not excepted. The Lord Warden appoints the Justices in the Commission of the Peace for the Liberties of the Cinque Ports in the same manner as the Custos Rotulorum of a County. Jurats having been replaced by Aldermen and Councillors in the local government of the Ports and Boroughs affected by the Municipal Corporations Reform Act, such Aldermen and Councillors accordingly claim to sit in the several Courts of the Cinque Ports.

In former times many of the Records of the Cinque Ports were deposited in a room assigned for the purpose in Dover Castle; but most of these Records are now missing. Those which remain, including a Register of the Officers of the Cinque Ports, and the proceedings of the Courts of Chancery, Admiralty, and Lodemanage, are in the custody of the Registrar. The most important records, including the Charter of Charles II., and the Books containing the Minutes of the Courts of Brotherhood and Guestling, are kept at New Romney.

Complexity of Existing Subdivisions.—Besides the subdivisions, ancient and modern, which have been described, others exist for a great variety of purposes; these are often of a complex character, and evidently made quite independently of each other, as the boundary lines cross in every direction. The late Mr. Rickman noticed that, "there are in England and Wales about 550 parishes which are known to extend into two counties, or into more than one Hundred, or other division;" and he pointed out "the scattered confusion of the component parts" of the ancient hundreds; as well as the irregularities in their size: "so irregular," he says, "is this distribution of territory, that while some of the southern hundreds do not exceed two square miles in area, nor one thousand persons in population, the hundreds of Lancashire average three hundred square miles in area, and the population contained in one of them (Salford hundred) is 430,000."

The cause of these irregularities is evident. The division of England and Wales into hundreds, on the original plan, of which Kent and the counties in Wessex offer examples, was never carried out; and in the course of the thousand years that have since elapsed, the face of the country has undergone great changes: the distribution of the population—which from less than four millions has increased to twenty-two millions—is no longer the same. A Hundred no longer contains a hundred families. Bridges have brought into intimate union populations which rivers divided; villages have grown into vast cities; the mining and manufacturing industry of the last hundred years has covered the woodlands, wastes, and desolate lands of the midland and northern counties with people. The Hundred courts, the Manor courts, the Shire motes, the Burgh motes, have been superseded by the Petty Sessions, the County courts, the Town Councils, the Boards of Guardians, which discharge duties—such as the election of members of Parliament, and the relief of the poor—never contemplated when the counties, boroughs, and hundreds were formed; while the system of frank-pledge in tythings has disappeared. The old division of the country into parishes, townships, and counties, is open to many of the objections which lie against hundreds. Parishes are, in many instances, almost inextricably intermingled; and they vary in population from single families to tens of thousands of families; in extent, from a few hundreds of acres to many thousands of acres. The counties are also irregularly and unequally constituted; some are disproportionately small, while others are disproportionately large. For all the useful purposes of comparison, and statistical inquiry, the old divisions in many parts of the kingdom are entirely unsuited, and the legislature, though without any settled plan, has entirely disregarded them as occasion has arisen.

The following is a classified list, in Six Orders, of the various subdivisions of the country dis-

The Registrar-General and his colleagues remark upon the state of things thus exhibited that "with one simple connected series of subdivisions of the country the labour of the Census would be very much simplified;" they add that "the multiplicity, entanglement, and want of harmony" in the subdivisions have more than doubled the work, and consequently the time required for compiling the returns; and they conceive that "the difficulties of local administration are probably increased in a still greater degree from the same causes."

ISLANDS IN THE BRITISH SEAS.*

These Islands consist of two groups—the Isle of Man in the Irish Sea, and the Channel Islands. The population was enumerated under the superintendence of the respective Lieutenant-Governors, according to instructions issued by the Registrar-General.

The inhabitants of the Isle of Man numbered 54,042 in 1871, as compared with 52,469 in 1861; the towns of Peel, Ramsay, and Douglas show an increase, the latter in consequence of its growing popularity as a watering-place. In the rural districts there is mostly a decrease, the extension of mining works and fisheries attracting the people from agricultural employment.

Jersey contained 56,627 persons in 1871, or more by 1,014 than were in the island in 1861, but less by 393 than there were in 1851. According to the Government Secretary, the increase in 1871 is attributable almost exclusively to the numbers of French families which sought refuge there during the Franco-Prussian War, the greater number of whom resided in the parishes of St. Helier, St. Saviour, St. Brelade, and St. Laurence. The decrease in the other seven parishes is attributed, in the first place, to emigration, and to the fact that most of the necessaries of life are dearer in Jersey than in England. It is considered also that this decrease may partly be traced to the intermarrying of members of the same family, which is especially noticeable in some of the rural parishes. The first railway in Jersey was opened on the 25th October, 1870. It connects the towns of St. Helier and St. Aubin, the latter being the chief town of the parish of St. Brelade, which may account for some of the increase of the population in that parish; St. Aubin and its environs having become a favourite place of residence.

In Guernsey and the adjacent islands of Alderney, Herm, Sark, Jethou, and Brechou there were 33,969 persons in 1871, or less by 1,396 than in 1861—a diminution which is explained by the discontinuance of the Government works at Alderney.

There is a great excess of women in the Channel Islands, they being to the male sex in the proportion of 100 to 80.

* The population of the several parishes in these Islands is given at the end of this volume.

THE GROWTH OF LONDON.

The vast size and importance of the Metropolis sufficiently justify an exposition of its population statistics in an exceptionally detailed manner as compared with any other subdivision of the kingdom.

In their Preliminary Report, the Census authorities of 1871 remark: "Looked at in any light the magnitude and growth of London are marvellous. . . . It grows as the power of England grows; it is the emporium of capital, and its people are in communication by birth and blood, by trade and intelligence, with all the affiliated cities in these Islands. The railways have not only put the population of the kingdom in free communication with the Metropolis, but have enabled large numbers of men of all ranks to settle around its borders. The central parts are converted into markets, exchanges, warehouses, stations, offices which are thronged during the day, but are deserted during the night by their occupants. A double force of displacement is at work; men are driven from London and Westminster by the high rents of the central houses, and are attracted outside by the charms of the surrounding country, with which the railways put them in easy communication."

It is designed in this chapter to trace the numerical development of the Metropolis through its successive stages, as far as the Census Returns afford the means of so doing.

London City.—London, like other territorial subdivisions, has different significations, which often need to be remembered to avoid confusion; but by right of its ancient renown, of its compact municipal organization, and of the fact that it formed, in remote ages, the nucleus around which from a few thousands have gradually congregated the masses of houses and people counted to-day by millions, the City of London claims the priority of consideration.

What appears to be a fairly authentic record of the population of the City in the seventeenth century, is given in the "Natural and Political Observations on the Bills of Mortality, by Capt. John Graunt, F.R.S." (5th edit. 1676). The Privy Council being apprehensive of an approaching scarcity, wrote to Sir Robert Ducie, Lord Mayor, on the 30th of June, 1631, requiring him to state, in addition to certain other particulars, "the number of mouths esteemed to be in the City of London, and the Liberty;" in consequence of which an enumeration "of the men, women, and children" in the City was made. The result showed that within the Walls there were 71,029, without the Walls 40,579, and in the old borough of Southwark 18,660—making altogether 130,268 persons in the City and Liberty (of Southwark), or 111,608 persons in the City exclusive of the Liberty.

Starting, then, with 111,608 as the population of the City of London in 1631, the following are the corresponding figures for each of the Censuses 1801 to 1871:—

1811	119,655	1851	127,869
1821	124,137	1861	112,063
1831	122,491	1871	74,897

The remarkable decrease thus observable since 1851 is accounted for by the fact that year by year the City is becoming more of a business resort and less of a place of habitation as understood for Census purposes. The design of the Census is so to register the people numerically as to avoid duplicate or incomplete returns, and the effectual way of doing this has been deemed to be that of enumerating the population at their homes or in the houses and places in which they sleep on a given night. Of course this plan is open to the objection that it may in some instances give a totally mistaken idea of the relative importance of communities and places, but no other method at all applicable on a national scale has been suggested against which equal if not more serious objections may not be taken. The national Census professes to give the number of inhabitants of the country as a whole and of its various subdivisions at a given point of time, and it assumes that a man "inhabits" or "lives" at home in his abode where his personal effects and his family are located, and where he sleeps, dwells and resides, in contradistinction to his place of business—which for the merchant is his counting-house, for the clerk is his office, for the artizan his workshop, for the agricultural labourer his master's farm. It is his civil as distinguished from his industrial domicile; and the English Census hitherto has been based solely on the civil domicile.

The importance, however, of an inquiry into the industrial domicile of the population is clearly shown by the case of the City of London, where, notwithstanding an admittedly enormous growth in wealth, commerce, and trade, the limits of which no one can even pretend to gauge, the population, according to the Census Returns, is decreasing to such an extent that it has absolutely 36,711 inhabitants less than it had in 1631. And the Corporation was wisely advised in 1866 to undertake a special inquiry into the subject, with the view of ascertaining the number of persons actually engaged, occupied, or employed daily in the City, as well as the number of persons (exclusive of the foregoing) who, as clients, customers, and other frequenters, resorted thither daily. This inquiry showed that, in addition to the ordinary sleeping (i.e., Census) population, there were 170,133 mercantile, commercial, and professional men engaged in the City daily, so that the actual day population of the City was thereby raised to 282,000. It was also found that the total number of persons resorting to the City daily (during twenty-four hours) was 728,986. The number of both these classes has probably much increased since 1866.

With reference to the Census Returns of 1871 for the City, Mr. Scott, the City Chamberlain, remarks that an important cause of the decrease of population is to be found in the fact that at the time of taking the Census of 1871 extensive tracts of ground were vacant, in consequence of the demolition of houses for the formation of the new street from Blackfriars Bridge to the Mansion House, the completion of the Holborn Valley improvements, the construction of the Metropolitan Meat Market, the widening of Ludgate Hill, Tower Street, &c. Mr. Scott also states that in April, 1871, only 431 of the houses or premises in the City were exempted from local rates in consequence of being unoccupied.

The inadequacy of the Census Returns for the City of London as a guide to its real importance as a community applies with almost, if not equal, force to Westminster and other parts of the Metropolis, as well as to many of the largest cities and towns in the Kingdom.

The Metropolis.—Passing now from the City of London to that more comprehensive area which the term "Metropolis" conveys, it may be premised that therein are included a variety of limits and jurisdictions, as defined from time to time in Acts of Parliament and by different authorities for certain specified purposes.

One of the earliest examples of such defined limits was that of the district included within the Weekly Bills of Mortality, or weekly reports prepared and issued by the Company of Parish Clerks relative to christenings and burials, established about the year 1592–3 in consequence of the frequent recurrence of the plague in London. After having fallen into desuetude, they were resumed in 1603 (December 29th), and from that date were continued in a regular series until 1823, in which year St. George, Hanover Square, ceased making returns. Subsequently other Parishes followed that example at irregular intervals, and eventually the Old Bills were discontinued. In 1603 the Bills contained an account of the burials and christenings in the Parishes and Places within and without the City walls, comprising an area of 1729 acres; successive additions were made until the year 1726, when the area embraced amounted to 21,587 acres; after 1726 no addition was made to the area within what is now designated the Old Bills of Mortality.

In 1801 Mr. Rickman for Census purposes deemed the limits of the Old Bills of Mortality inadequate to represent the Metropolis, and he therefore added the parishes of Chelsea, Kensington, Paddington, Marylebone, and Pancras, thereby raising the Metropolitan area to 30,002 acres, as represented at the Censuses of 1801 to 1831 inclusive.

After the passing of the Registration Act, the Registrar-General commenced in 1840 the publication of a new series of Metropolitan Weekly Tables of Mortality, adopting as the Metropolitan limits Mr. Rickman's area, with the addition of the parishes of Camberwell, Bow, Stoke Newington, Hammersmith, Fulham, Deptford, Greenwich, and Woolwich; this enlarged area covering 44,816 acres. In 1844 and 1846 the parishes in the Wandsworth and Clapham, and Lewisham unions, and the parish of Hampstead, were added, raising the total area to 75,362 acres.

Since 1846 the limits of the Metropolitan New Tables of Mortality have remained unaltered, and extensive as they are, they still exclude several suburban localities, which are inhabited chiefly by persons engaged in business or employments in London. For example, the circumstance that entire Superintendent Registrars' Districts or Unions have, for the sake of convenience, been included in the Registrar-General's limits, may account for the exclusion of the parish of West Ham, which contains the populous suburb of Stratford: that parish is part of a Superintendent Registrar's District extending too far into Essex to be properly included as a whole within the boundary of "London." It is, however, a defect in the present boundary that it extends much further eastward on the south side of the River Thames, below Woolwich, than on the north side, where it terminates at Blackwall.

The following table shows the population at different Census periods within the several Metropolitan limits already referred to :—

The last line in the table represents the "Metropolis" as now constituted for all Registration, Census, and Poor Law matters: but the term has also another most important meaning, which although agreeing very closely as regards identity of area with the Registration limits, does slightly differ from it. By the Metropolis Local Management Act (18 & 19 Vict. cap. 120) the Metropolitan Board of Works was constituted, and the District over which its jurisdiction extends is identical with the District of the Registrar-General—except that the hamlet of Penge, in the Croydon Union, is within the District of the Metropolitan Board of Works, but is not included in the Registrar-General's limits; and Mottingham hamlet, being part of the Lewisham District, is included in the Registrar-General's limits, but excluded from the District of the Metropolitan Board.

The district of the Metropolitan Police is much more extensive than that of the Metropolitan Board of Works; it extends over the whole of Middlesex (exclusive of the City of London) and the surrounding parishes in the counties of Surrey, Kent, Essex, and Hertford, of which any part is within twelve miles from Charing Cross, and those also of which any part is not more than fifteen miles in a straight line from the same point. The police circle round Charing Cross contains all that can be reckoned as properly within the limits of London, and is too extensive for a natural boundary. For many of the parishes within the police district are entirely rural, and are quite sequestered from the great city, while at several points are large towns, of which Croydon is an example, chiefly bound to London by the daily intercourse of their populations.

The population within the City has decreased; the population within the Registration limits has gone on increasing at a decreasing rate; but the population within the Metropolitan Police limits has increased steadily, and at a slightly increasing rate; while the population of the ring outside the district of the Metropolitan Board of Works but within the Police limits has increased 4·20 per cent. per annum, or more than 50 per cent. in ten years.

which have been adopted for certain purposes; and to convey some idea of their number and general want of harmony the following table is extracted from the Census Returns of 1871.

The Metropolitan Postal District is constituted of the following eight divisions with populations as stated: Eastern-central district lying close around the General Post-Office in St. Martin's-le-Grand, 235,290; Eastern district, extending to Walthamstow, Leytonstone, and North Woolwich, 765,536; Northern district, reaching north from Pentonville nearly to Enfield and Barnet, 407,652; North-Western district, taking in Hendon and Willesden, 320,523; South-eastern district, reaching from Vauxhall Bridge to Erith, and including Norwood, Penge, and Lewisham, 745,655; South-western district, extending westward along the Fulham Road from Charing Cross to Fulham, and southward as far as Merton and Wimbledon, 459,555; Western district, stretching out to Acton, Ealing, and Hanwell, 428,620; Western-central district, 173,298. The area of the entire Postal District is twice as large as that of the Metropolitan Board of Works, but is not nearly so extensive as the Metropolitan Police limits.

The Diocese of London, on an area of 190,160 acres, had a population of 2,656,181 in 1871, as compared with 2,305,822 on the same area in 1861.

Upon the general question of the growth of the population of London the following extracts from an article on the subject contributed by the present writer to the Pall Mall Gazette, in 1867, are reprinted by kind permission of the Editor of that journal.

"A notion, by no means limited in its diffusion, is apparently entertained that because the population of London has doubled itself in the last forty years, it will go on increasing at the same rapid rate, so that by the end of the present century we may anticipate that an aggregate of more than five and a half millions of souls will be congregated in the capital city of the kingdom. We may mention, as an instance of these calculations, that in one of the recently published schemes for supplying London with water, a quotation from an unknown work is relied upon to show that in 1951 London will actually contain nearly 14,000,000 persons. Mr. Bateman also, in his water scheme, reckons upon a population of 4,500,000 persons in another twenty years; and in short, it is assumed that we are increasing rapidly with no probability of a check. It may be worth while, then, just to see how far this assumption is warranted, and whether or not any circumstance of importance has been omitted in the general consideration of the question.

"In 1661, Captain John Graunt, F.R.S., estimated the population of London at 460,000, or about one-fifteenth part of the aggregate population of England and Wales; he therefore reckoned the country, exclusive of London, to contain about 6,500,000 persons, increasing so slowly as only to double their number in 280 years, while the metropolitan population would by the ordinary proportion of births to deaths be doubled in 64 years, but, allowing for migration, would grow from 2 to 5 in 56 years.

"In 1683 Sir William Petty estimated the population of London at 670,000, and the doubling period at forty years. This veteran arithmetician came to the remarkable conclusion that in time the metropolis would absorb almost the entire English population, as by the year 1840 the citizens would count for 10,718,880 out of an aggregate for the entire country of 10,917,389, leaving only about 200,000 as the rural population of England. Instead, however, of accepting this startling result as a proof that his estimate was at fault, he proceeded gravely to deduce the following curious inferences:—'Wherefore it is certain and necessary that the growth of the city must stop before the said year 1840, and will be at its utmost height in the next preceding period, 1800, when the number of the city will be eight times its present number, viz. 5,359,000 and when (besides the said number) there will be 4,466,000 to perform the said necessary rural works'—of tillage and other agricultural labour.

* Exclusive of the water area of the River Thames.

"The Census abstracts for the year 1801 show that the population for that year, within the area of the Bills of Mortality of 1726—a larger area than Petty's estimate embraced—was 746,233, and in the year 1841 the number had increased to 1,353,345; so that in every respect Petty's conclusions turned out to be erroneous. The truth is, that the rate of increase of the population of London has followed the frequent enlargement of its borders; thus, if we take the interval between 1801 and 1851—half a century—we find that, confining ourselves to the area within the Mortality Bills of 1626, the increase was 60 per cent.; if we take the larger area included within the Bills of 1726, the increase was 113 per cent.; and on the area of the present registration division the increase was 146 per cent. As the area has been increased the rate of increase has expanded, from the natural reason that when a certain maximum density of population has been reached there must be an overflow into the adjacent districts, which remain, perhaps, outside the metropolitan limits for a while, but eventually become merged in the mass.

"The point now to be considered is whether, looking at the present area of London, there is any ground for supposing that the population within its bounds will continue to increase at a rate equal to that hitherto observed on the same area—that is to say, whether in forty or fifty years' time we may safely reckon upon an agglomeration of six millions of people in the metropolis.

"Population is either stationary or absolutely decreasing in the City proper, the heart of the mass; in the outside ring the rate of increase ranged between 1851-61 from 16 to 23 per 1,000 per annum. There is ample room upon the 75,362* acres of metropolitan area to accommodate six millions of people if they were properly distributed, so that there will probably be no occasion for altering the present registration boundary in the next fifty years. We have now on an average 40 persons to an acre, but the general distribution is so unequal that while in some localities there is only 1 person to an acre, in others there are 300.

"Whatever may be the cause, the fact is beyond question that the population of London has increased during the last twenty years at a rate which has gradually declined. Between 1841-51 the ratio of increase was 19·7 per 1000 annually, and between 1851-61 it was 17·3 per 1,000 per annum. If these two average ratios be interpolated in a regular series according to a progressive law of increase of population, it will be found that the increment between 1841-2 was at the rate of 20·8 per 1,000, between 1851-2 of 18·3 per 1,000, between 1856-7 of 17·1 per 1,000, between 1861-2 of 15·9 per 1,000, and between 1866-7 of 14·6 per 1,000. At this rate the population of London would amount to something less than 4,300,000 persons by the end of the present century; whereas, according to the rate of increase between 1851 and 1861, the population would double itself in forty years, and would amount to more than five and a half millions in 1901, upwards of a million in excess of the number given by the rate of increase over the longer interval from 1841-61.

"Population cannot increase indefinitely in London or elsewhere; and the rate of increase depends on a variety of circumstances, none of which can be foreseen. Changes in the social and political condition of the people; indisposition to marriage, or a growing tendency to late marriages; augmentation or diminution of the duration of life; cessation or increase of migration; abundance or scarcity of the means of subsistence—all or any one of these causes might come into operation, and the effect on the increase of the population would soon be apparent. Mr. Hepworth Dixon tells us how the influx of emigrants into New England helps to neutralize the effect of the rapidly increasing 'preventive check' on births. In London the moralists are bewailing the indisposition of our young men to enter into matrimony, and if their complaint be well founded we shall assuredly have an eventual decline in our population, unless there be a countervailing access of country people or foreigners. Another important matter to bear in mind is, that the increased facilities which are afforded by the railways for conveying persons to country residences, or to towns within a short distance of London, have materially affected the metropolitan rate of increase already, and the effects will be more and more apparent in future years. Then, again, the increasing prosperity of some of the principal cities of the kingdom will render them formidable rivals in attracting the aspiring youth of the country. The growth of some of these cities is much more rapid than that of the metropolis; and there is this to be said that, whereas we have had a long spell of expansion, they have only just begun their career.

* Exclusive of the water area of the Thames within the Metropolitan limits.

"On the whole, then, we think that the balance of probabilities indicates that the population of London has seen its maximum rate of increase, and that we may reasonably expect the predictions of those sanguine writers who promise us a population of nearly 6,000,000 by the commencement of the twentieth century to turn out very considerably above the mark."

The foregoing observations are in the main borne out by the results of the recent Census, which shows that the rate of increase between 1861 and 1871 within the Registration limits of the Metropolis was less by ·23 per cent. than the rate between 1851 and 1861. This would imply an extension of the doubling period from 40 to 46 years, and a reduction of the estimated population in 1901 from 5,500,000 to 5,100,000.

THE COST OF THE CENSUS.

The expenses of the Census are defrayed wholly out of the Imperial exchequer, and it will probably be of interest to state here the extent of the demand which so complicated and extensive an undertaking makes upon the national purse.

From a Parliamentary Return of the Session of 1863, it appears that the total amount expended on the Census of England and Wales in 1861 was £95,719 16*s.* 1*d.*, exclusive of postage and printing, which are not brought into account. In 1851 the amount spent was £93,132 1*s.* 2*d.*, and in 1841 it was £86,727 18*s.* 8*d.* Relatively to the population enumerated the cost in 1841 was at the rate of £5 9*s.*, in 1851 of £5 4*s.*, and in 1861 of £4 15*s.* 5*d.* per 1000. Of the total cost in 1841, the local officers (enumerators, registrars, superintendent registrars, &c.) employed absorbed £58,327 12*s.* 5*d.*; in 1851 the local expenses amounted to £60,070 0*s.* 10*d.*, and in 1861 to £66,914 6*s.* 4*d.* The Return from which these figures are taken states that in 1841 the payments to the local officers were made from the poor rates, the amount paid having been ascertained from the Clerks to the several Boards of Guardians.

The ultimate cost of the Census of 1871 can of course only be conjectured at the present time, as some few months have yet to elapse before the whole work will be completed and the accounts closed. That it will be considerably more than in 1861 must be obvious from the fact that the local officers have been paid for their services £78,299, which is an increase on the corresponding payment in 1861 of about 2*s.* 3*d.* per 1000 of the population. Supposing, however, that the entire sum of £120,000 originally estimated on the basis of the expenditure in 1861, and submitted to Parliament as the provision necessary to be made for the Census of 1871, should be spent, it is hard to understand that any one who compares the published Returns of 1871 with those of 1861 and notes the new features now introduced—some to meet the requirements of the Act (the various sanitary jurisdictions for example), and others voluntarily to extend the usefulness of the Returns—can doubt that there is fair value returned for the five farthings per head which will cover the whole cost of the Census of 1871.

It appears from the above Table that 1,967,570 Emigrants sailed from those ports of the United Kingdom at which there are Government Emigration Officers, during the ten years 1861–70. In order to show more accurately the extent to which Emigration has affected the population during the last ten years, the following Table has been prepared, wherein the Emigrants whose origin was not distinguished are distributed proportionately among those whose birth-places were ascertained.

NUMBER of EMIGRANTS from the UNITED KINGDOM between the CENSUSES of 1861 and 1871.

It may be inferred from the Official Returns that the number of Emigrants from the United Kingdom was not less than—

1,692,063 ditto 1841 and 1851;

† Inland Revenue Return.
‡ From Parliamentary Return No. 443, Session of 1871.
§ From Parliamentary Return No. 384, Session of 1872.
‖ From Registrar-General's Returns.
(a) The Members of the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, and London are included in this Table, but not the Electors of those Universities.

TABLE IX.—INHABITED HOUSES and POPULATION in 1861 and 1871, of CITIES, MUNICIPAL BOROUGHS, PARLIAMENTARY BOROUGHS, LOCAL BOARD DISTRICTS, IMPROVEMENT COMMISSIONERS' DISTRICTS, LIGHTING COMMISSIONERS' DISTRICTS, PAVING COMMISSIONERS' DISTRICTS, and other PRINCIPAL TOWNS in ENGLAND and WALES.

The boundaries of the Municipal Boroughs of Burnley, Halifax, Hartlepool, Middlesborough, Stockton-on-Tees, and Sunderland have been extended since the Census of 1861.

The sixteen Boroughs of Barnsley, Barrow-in-Furness, Batley, Bootle-cum-Linacre, Darlington, Dudley, Dunstable, Glossop, Hedon, Huddersfield, Longton, Reigate, Rotherham, Ryde, St. Helens, and Southport have received Charters of Incorporation since 1861.

Most of the Local Board and other Districts mentioned in this Table were in 1861 returned as "Towns"; but the boundaries of such Towns were in many cases different from those since adopted for the Local Board Districts. Whenever possible, however, the population for 1861 is now stated within the same boundaries as the population for 1871.

Those Municipal Boroughs, Local Board Districts, Towns, &c., the houses and population of which in 1861 are not stated, were not then separately returned in the Census Abstracts, and the numbers for that year cannot now be ascertained.

As the "Towns" so designated in this Table have no recognized boundaries which are deemed suitable as a basis for a return of the population, the Superintendent Registrar of the District has in each case distinguished the houses which in his opinion may properly be considered within the limits of the town.

The Parliamentary Boundaries of the Boroughs distinguished thus (*) were extended by the Act 31 & 32 Vict., cap. 46.

The eleven Boroughs of Burnley, Chelsea, Darlington, Dewsbury, Gravesend, Hackney, Hartlepool, Middlesborough, Stalybridge, Stockton, and Wednesbury were constituted Parliamentary Boroughs by the Acts 30 & 31 Vict., cap. 102, and 31 & 32 Vict., cap. 46.

The thirteen Boroughs of Arundel, Ashburton, Beverley, Bridgwater, Dartmouth, Honiton, Lancaster, Lyme Regis, Reigate, Thetford, Totnes, Wells, and Yarmouth have been disfranchised since the Census of 1861.

The Parliamentary Boroughs distinguished thus (†) are constituent parts of "Districts of Boroughs" for the return of Members to Parliament, and are termed "Contributory Boroughs."

In reading the Table, "P.B." signifies Parliamentary Borough; "M.B.," Municipal Borough; "L.Bd.," Local Board District; "Impt.D.," Improvement Commissioners' District; "Llght.D.," Lighting Commissioners' District; "Pavg.D.," Paving Commissioners' District.

By the Public Health Act of 1872, Municipal Boroughs, Local Government Districts, and Improvement Commissioners' Districts, whether incorporated or constituted before or after the passing of that Act, acquire the designation of "URBAN SANITARY DISTRICTS."

I. LONDON DIVISION.

In the Introduction to this Digest will be found a chapter on "The Growth of London," wherein the gradual development of the Metropolis, and its different limits for various administrative purposes at the present time, are set forth.

Here it is intended to show the constitution of the London Registration Division, which comprises the Districts or Poor Law Unions, Sub-districts, Parishes and Places, included within the limits of the Metropolis, as defined in the Registrar-General's Returns. It is made up of parts of the Registration Counties of Middlesex, Surrey, and Kent, the remaining parts of which are included in the Registration Divisions II. and III.

The Division extends over an area of 78,080 statute acres of land and water; there being 74,545 acres of land and 907 acres of water included in the areas of parishes, and 2,718 acres of tidal water. Its population in 1871 was 3,254,260, as compared with 2,803,989 in 1861; the actual increase was therefore 450,271, while the natural increase arising from the excess of registered births over deaths in the ten years 1861–70 was 331,646. Included with the general population of parishes, &c., in this Division, are 77,516 persons enumerated in 445 workhouses, hospitals, prisons, lunatic asylums, and other public institutions; 989 persons in boats, barges, &c.; and 5,739 persons on board 1,080 sea-going vessels.

The number of houses and population in the Metropolitan parts of the three Registration Counties in 1871 was as follows:—

Registration or Union Counties.	Inhabited Houses, 1871.	Population, 1871.
		Persons.	Males.	Females.

Kent, part of	35,223	225,537	107,479	118,058

The Superintendent Registrars' Districts of this Division are for the most part co-extensive with Poor Law Unions, or with single Parishes under Boards of Guardians. In the District of Kensington there are three Boards of Guardians, namely, one for the Parish of Paddington (population 96,813); one for the Parish of Kensington (population 120,299); and one for the Fulham Union, consisting of the Parishes of Hammersmith and Fulham (population 66,041). The Strand, Holborn, and City of London Districts, are Poor Law Unions, with certain privileged places (such as the Inns of Court) annexed for Registration purposes.

The population of the Districts of St. George Hanover Square, Westminster, Marylebone, St. Giles, Strand, Holborn, London City, Shoreditch, Whitechapel, St. George-in-the-East, and Woolwich, has decreased since 1861; in Kensington and Wandsworth Districts the actual increase was more than four times as great as the excess of births over deaths in the ten years 1861–1870; in Hackney, Poplar, and Camberwell Districts, more than three times as great.

II. SOUTH EASTERN DIVISION.

THIS REGISTRATION DIVISION comprises those parts of the Registration Counties of Surrey and Kent which are not included within the Metropolitan Division, and the entire Registration Counties of Sussex, Hants, and Berks. It extends over an area of 4,052,015 statute acres of land, water, and foreshore; there being 3,961,180 acres of land and 33,251 of water included in the areas of parishes, 20,171 acres of tidal water, and 37,413 acres of foreshore. Its population in 1871 was 2,167,726 as compared with 1,847,512 in 1861; the actual increase was therefore 320,214, while the natural increase arising from the excess of registered births over deaths in the ten years 1861-70 was 260,706. Included with the general population of parishes, &c., in this Division are 110,271 persons enumerated in 463 workhouses, hospitals, prisons, lunatic asylums, and other public institutions; 137 persons in boats, barges, &c., in inland waters; and 12,296 persons on board 1,433 sea-going vessels.

The Division is closely associated with the Metropolis by contiguity, and by its watering-places extending along the coast from Worthing, Brighton and Hastings, to Ramsgate and Margate. On the Medway—in Strood, Rochester, Chatham, and Gillingham—is a numerous population lying near the mouth of the Thames, and connected by Sheerness, Sandwich, Deal, Dover, Folkestone, and Hastings, with the great naval fortress of Portsmouth. The whole of this coast swarms with a seafaring population. Iron was formerly manufactured in the forests of this part of the country where wood and ore abounded, shipbuilding was extensively carried on, and the Flemings introduced their broad-cloth manufacture; so that here were the manufacturing districts of those ages. The counties are now essentially agricultural, but they have some extensive paper manufactories and powder mills.

The SUPERINTENDENT REGISTRARS' DISTRICTS of this Division are co-extensive with Poor Law Unions with the following exceptions: the Lewes District comprises the four Poor Law Unions of Lewes (population 11,111), Chailey (population 9,616), West Firle (population 2,449), and Newhaven (population 6,766); the Winchester District comprises the two Unions of New Winchester (population 26,697), and Hursley (population 2,572); Canterbury District, Chichester District, and Southampton District are Incorporations under Local Acts; and Brighton District is a single Parish under a Local Act.

The population of the Districts of Tenterden, Bridge, Canterbury, Chichester, Alverstoke, Hungerford, and Faringdon has decreased since 1861; in all the other districts there was an increase. In Croydon District the excess of births over deaths in the ten years 1861-70 was 9,701; the actual increase of population was 37,379. The Districts of Epsom, Kingston, Richmond, Bromley, Tunbridge, Thanet, Hastings, and Eastbourne are also remarkable for the great difference between their actual increase as compared with that which would have resulted simply from an excess of births over deaths.

* The colleges and halls of the University of Oxford are here separately returned under the names of the parishes in which they are wholly or for the most part locally situate. The colleges and halls within the Oxford Poor Law Incorporation are rated under a special Act of Parliament, and not in the several parishes in which they are located; the rate being paid in by the University. Those in the Headington District are rated in their corporate character as integral parts of the parishes in which they are situate. The Census of 1871 having been taken in the interval between terms, the great body of professors, fellows, and students were not in residence. The total number of residents in the colleges and halls at the date of the Census was 394 persons, viz., 264 males and 130 females. The Vice-Chancellor has obtained from the heads of colleges a special return of all members resident on Thursday 4th May, 1871. There were 2260 so returned, viz., in Merton College, 84; Corpus Christi, 61; St. Alban Hall, 47; Kehle College, 33; Charsley's Hall, 8; Magdalen College, 93; St. Edmund Hall, 35; Queen's, 142; University, 106; New College, 87; Magdalen Hall, 60; Wadham, 83; All Souls, 10; St. Mary Hall, 56; Oriel, 68; Brazenose, 137; Lincoln, 67; Christ Church, 266; Pembroke, 83; Worcester, 98; New Inn Hall, 11; Jesus College, 53; Exeter, 172; Trinity, 89; Balliol, 133; St. John's College, 88; besides 83 unattached students.

* The Colleges and Halls of the University of Cambridge, several of which are partly in two or three parishes, are here separately specified under the parishes in which they are wholly or for the most part situate. To these parishes they are rated under "The Cambridge Award Act, 1856," upon a valuation provided for by that Act. It is thereby also provided that no rate whatever shall be assessed or imposed upon or in respect of the Senate House, the University Library, the Schools and Museums of Science, Laboratories, and Lecture Rooms. The Census having been taken in the interval between terms, the great body of professors, fellows, and students were not in residence. The total number of residents in the Colleges and Halls at the date of the Census was 383 persons, viz., 263 males, 120 females. The Vice-Chancellor has obtained from the Heads of Colleges a special return of all members resident on Thursday, 4th May, 1871. There were 1953 so returned, viz., in Downing College, 28; Peterhouse or St. Peter's College, 48; Pembroke College, 59; Queen's College, 46; St. Catherine's College, 46; Corpus Christi College, 136; King's College, 36; Clare College, 74; Trinity Hall, 108; Gonville and Caius College, 135; Emmanuel, 84; Christ's, 87; Sidney-Sussex, 65; Jesus, 104; Trinity, 471; St. John's, 360; Magdalen, 50; besides 8 members of the Senate not on the boards of any College, and 18 non-collegiate students.

IV. EASTERN DIVISION.

THIS REGISTRATION DIVISION comprises the three large Registration Counties of Essex, Suffolk, and Norfolk. It extends over an area of 3,219,052 statute acres of land, water, and foreshore; there being 3,091,501 acres of land and 119,940 of water included in the areas of parishes, 5,352 acres of tidal water, and 2,259 acres of foreshore. Its population in 1871 was 1,218,728 as compared with 1,142,562 in 1861; the actual increase was therefore 76,166, while the natural increase arising from the excess of registered births over deaths in the 10 years 1861–70 was 145,043. Included with the general population of parishes, &c., in this Division are 27,793 persons enumerated in 183 workhouses, hospitals, prisons, lunatic asylums, and other public institutions; 259 persons in boats, barges, &c., in inland waters; and 5,764 persons on board 991 sea-going vessels which were lying in harbours, rivers, &c., on the Census night.

Silk, paper, and some other manufactures are carried on, but inland the division is essentially agricultural, and on the coast maritime; there is a hale fishing and maritime population round the shores, of which Ipswich and Yarmouth are the centres. The population of the fishing towns is more correctly given now than it was in 1861, when the fishermen and seamen out at sea on the Census night were classed with seamen and others in the home trade, whereas they have now been referred to the towns to which the boat or ship belongs.

Parishes, &c., in Essex.

The SUPERINTENDENT REGISTRARS' DISTRICTS of this Division are co-extensive with Poor Law Unions, except in the cases of Bury St. Edmund's, Mutford, Flegg, and Forehoe Districts, which are Incorporations under Local Acts. Five Districts in Essex, ten in Suffolk, and seventeen in Norfolk, exhibit a decrease of population; in West Ham District, a great part of which is closely associated with the Metropolis, the excess of births over deaths in the 10 years 1861–70 was 11,093, while the population enumerated in 1871 was 39,823 in excess of the return for 1861.

V. SOUTH WESTERN DIVISION.

THIS REGISTRATION DIVISION comprises the Registration Counties of Wilts, Dorset, Devon, Cornwall, and Somerset. It extends over an area of 4,982,203 statute acres of land, water, and foreshore; there being 4,915,153 acres of land and 66,017 acres of water included in the areas of parishes, 185 acres of tidal water, and 848 acres of foreshore. Its population in 1871 was 1,880,777 as compared with 1,835,863 in 1861; the actual increase was therefore 44,914, while the natural increase arising from excess of registered births over deaths in the 10 years 1861–70 was 218,904. In Cornwall, notwithstanding an excess of 46,830 births over deaths in the 10 years, the population has decreased by 6,492; this is mainly due to the emigration of miners. Included with the general population of parishes, &c., in this Division are 39,530 persons enumerated in 300 workhouses, hospitals, prisons, lunatic asylums, and other public institutions, 46 persons in boats and barges, and 10,600 persons on board 882 sea-going vessels.

Besides the lace-making about Honiton, the copper and tin mining of Devon and Cornwall, and the coal-mining in other parts, there is an important manufacturing region round Bradford in Wilts, where the famous West of England broadcloth is made.

The SUPERINTENDENT REGISTRARS' DISTRICTS of this Division are co-extensive with Poor Law Unions with the following exceptions: the Dorchester District comprises the two Unions of Dorchester (population, 18,447) and Cerne (population, 7,597); the Scilly Islands, being still under 43 Eliz., are not included in any Union, nor have they a workhouse, but each island maintains its own poor; Lundy Island in the Bideford District and Steep Holme Island in the Axbridge District are likewise not included in any Union; the Districts of Exeter and Plymouth are Incorporations under Local Acts, and Stoke-Damerel District is a single parish under a Local Act. Six Districts in Wiltshire, three in Dorsetshire, eight in Devonshire, seven in Cornwall, and six in Somersetshire, exhibit a decrease of population; the most notable instances being the Districts of Tavistock, St. Austell, Helston, and Redruth, where the depression of mining industry has been so great as to compel the miners to seek employment in other parts of the country or abroad.

The SUPERINTENDENT REGISTRARS' DISTRICTS of this Division are co-extensive with Poor Law Unions except in the case of the Hayfield District, which comprises the two Unions of Glossop (population 20,673) and Hayfield (population 11,752). The Districts of Lutterworth, Hinckley, Melton Mowbray, Uppingham, Stamford, Bourn, Horncastle, Southwell, Newark, Bingham, Ashborne, and Bakewell, exhibit a decrease of population. The population of the District of Leicester in 1861 was 68,056, and 95,220 in 1871, showing an increase of 27,164—more than double the excess of births in the ten years.

* The Hayfield District consists of two Poor Law Unions; viz., the Glossop Union, consisting of the ten townships which form the Glossop Sub-district, and the Hayfield Union, comprising the Hayfield Sub-district.

VIII. NORTH WESTERN DIVISION.

THIS REGISTRATION DIVISION comprises the Registration Counties of Chester and Lancaster. It is the smallest of the Divisions in extent, but more populous than any of them; it extends over an area of 2,119,380 statute acres of land, water, and foreshore; there being 1,908,173 acres of land and 90,741 acres of water included in the areas of parishes, 801 acres of tidal water, and 119,665 acres of foreshore. Its population in 1871 was 3,389,044 as compared with 2,940,418 in 1861; the actual increase was therefore 448,626, while the natural increase arising from excess of registered births over deaths in the 10 years 1861–70 was 353,110. In Cheshire the actual increase agrees very closely with the natural increase from excess of births, but in Lancashire the actual has exceeded the natural increase by 95,932.

Included with the general population of Parishes, &c., in this Division are 42,475 persons enumerated in 204 workhouses, hospitals, prisons, lunatic asylums, and other public institutions; 2,918 persons in boats, barges, &c.; and 8,397 persons on board 1,735 sea-going vessels.

Cheshire is rich in salt and cheese; its salt mines are worked with unabated prosperity, but its dairies suffered as much from the cattle plague as the factories of Lancashire suffered from the cotton famine. Lancashire is the seat of a great variety of works; but the coal within easy access, and the facilities of getting cotton by sea through Liverpool, constitute it the great seat of the cotton industry of the country. The tide of prosperity of this great division is now flowing again; but it was interrupted for a time during the 10 years by the American war, otherwise the population would certainly have been greater than it is. The usual reserved cotton imports of 1858–60 into the United Kingdom, amounting to 1,000 million pounds, fell to 309 and 428 million pounds in the two years 1862–3, but again rose in 1868–9–70 to nearly the old standard.

The SUPERINTENDENT REGISTRARS' DISTRICTS in this Division are co-extensive with Poor Law Unions, except in the following cases: Chester District consists of three Unions, viz., Chester (population 45,851), Tarvin (population 11,383), and Hawarden (population 14,815). West Derby consists of the Union of West Derby (population 257,083) and the Township of Toxteth Park under a separate board of guardians (population 85,842); and Manchester consists of the Township of Manchester (population 173,988) and the Union of Prestwich (population 77,968). Liverpool District is a single Parish under a Local Act.

The Districts of Macclesfield, Ashton-under-Lyne, Garstang, and Lunesdale, exhibit a decrease of population. In Liverpool District there was an excess of deaths over births in the ten years 1861–70 amounting to 2,662, and the actual decrease of population was 31,331; on the other hand, the contiguous district of West Derby increased by no less than 117,080. The three allied districts of Manchester, Salford, and Chorlton, show a combined increase of 73,328; in Blackburn District the increase was 23,868; and the Ulverston District, which had a population of 35,738 in 1861, now numbers 55,083, this large increase being mainly due to the rapid growth of the town of Barrow-in-Furness.

Parishes which for Registration purposes are returned under a County different from that in which they are actually situate, have the name of their County Proper given in italic type.

IX. YORKSHIRE.

THIS REGISTRATION DIVISION comprises the Registration County of York. It extends over an area of 3,743,229 statute acres of land, water, and foreshore; there being 3,687,245 acres of land and 15,139 acres of water included in the areas of parishes, 24,893 acres of tidal water, and 15,952 acres of foreshore. Its population in 1871 was 2,395,569, as compared with 2,015,541 in 1861; the actual increase was therefore 380,028, while the natural increase arising from excess of births over deaths in the ten years 1861–70 was 286,510.

Relatively, the increase in Yorkshire is much greater than it was in the previous ten years 1851–61; and greater than the increase of Lancashire in the last ten years. The reason is easily explained; the American War, which was Lancashire's difficulty, was Yorkshire's opportunity. The rise in the cost of cotton raised the demand for woollen stuffs, and wool was attracted in large quantities; independently of this circumstance, the supply and demand of wool, short and long, invaluable as the staple of clothing in these climates, and produced in immense quantities by our colonists, increased. The Board of Trade returns show that in the three years 1858–60, and the three years 1868–70, the average annual import of wool (sheep, lamb, and alpaca) rose from 136 million to 258 million pounds. Adding wool of home growth and deducting wool exported, no less than 288,512,000 lbs. were left, according to the estimate of Mr. A. Hamilton, for home consumption in 1869. The increase of production has been greater than the increase of workers, for the obvious reason that coal power is so largely converted into work by the steam-engine and improved machinery. The population is distributed very unequally; it is thin on the moors and wolds, dense on and near the coalfields.

Included with the general population of parishes, &c., in this Division are 21,144 persons enumerated in 148 workhouses, hospitals, prisons, lunatic asylums, and other public institutions; 1,588 persons in boats, barges, &c.; and 4,806 persons on board 1,129 sea-going vessels.

X. NORTHERN DIVISION.

THIS REGISTRATION DIVISION comprises the Registration Counties of Durham, Northumberland, Cumberland, and Westmorland. It extends over an area of 3,562,387 statute acres of land, water, and foreshore; there being 3,514,864 acres of land and 33,083 acres of water included in the areas of parishes, 4,770 acres of tidal water, and 9,670 acres of foreshore. Its population in 1871 was 1,414,234, as compared with 1,151,372 in 1861; the actual increase was therefore 262,862, while the natural increase arising from excess of registered births over deaths in the ten years 1861–70 was 199,278. The rate of increase since 1861 exceeds that of Yorkshire, and is therefore the highest of all the eleven Divisions. In Northumberland, Cumberland, and Westmorland, the excess of births was greater than the actual increase; in Durham the excess of births amounted to less by 82,233 than the actual increase. The great coalfields round Newcastle and Durham, the smaller field round Whitehaven and Workington, the iron smelting, the manufacture of machinery and of chemicals, and the shipbuilding, have attracted numbers of the industrial classes from less flourishing parts of the country.

Included with the general population of parishes, &c., in this Division are 12,211 persons enumerated in 108 workhouses, hospitals, prisons, lunatic asylums, and other public institutions; 32 persons in boats and barges, and 6,877 persons on board 1,181 sea-going vessels.

Townships, &c., in Durham.

The SUPERINTENDENT REGISTRARS' DISTRICTS of this Division are co-extensive with the Poor Law Unions, with the following exceptions: Stockton District comprises the two Unions of Stockton (population 84,987) and Sedgefield (population 14,718); and Durham District comprises the two Unions of Lanchester (population 40,521) and Durham (population 51,457).

The District of Teesdale is the only one in Durham which exhibits a decrease of population; the District of Stockton, which includes the town of Middlesborough in the North Riding of Yorkshire, had a population of 57,099 in 1861, as compared with 99,705 in 1871; South Shields, Sunderland, Gateshead, Newcastle, and Tynemouth Districts show a combined increase of 109,764. The Districts of Alnwick, Belford, Berwick, Glendale, Rothbury, Alston, Brampton, Longtown, and Wigton decreased in population.

XI. WELSH DIVISION.

THIS REGISTRATION DIVISION comprises the Registration Counties of Monmouth, Glamorgan, Carmarthen, Pembroke, Cardigan, Brecon, Radnor, Montgomery, Flint, Denbigh, Merioneth, Carnarvon, and Anglesey. It takes in the whole country from Holyhead and Saint Davids to the Wye and the Dee; and it includes Monmouthshire, essentially Cambrian, which was detached from Wales by Henry VIII., when the Lords of the Marches were abolished, and the rest of Wales was divided into twelve counties, six in North Wales, and six in South Wales.

In area the Welsh Division exceeds any English Division, and comprehends 5,131,368 statute acres of land, water and foreshore; there being 4,944,225 acres of land and 181,117 acres of water included in the areas of parishes, 2,700 acres of tidal water, and 3,326 acres of foreshore. Its population in 1871 was 1,421,670 as compared with 1,296,001 in 1861; the actual increase was therefore 125,669, while the natural increase arising from excess of registered births over deaths in the ten years 1861–70 was 177,855, so that the influx of immigrant workpeople into the mining districts does not equal the efflux of emigrant Cambrians. The bulk of the population is concentrated in the counties of Glamorgan, Monmouth, Carmarthen, Denbigh, Carnarvon, Cardigan, and Pembroke; in the other counties the population is scanty.

Included with the general population of parishes, &c., in this Division are 11,565 persons enumerated in 122 workhouses, hospitals, prisons, lunatic asylums, and other public institutions; 136 persons in boats and barges; and 8,165 persons on board 1,537 sea-going vessels.

The SUPERINTENDENT REGISTRARS' DISTRICTS of this Division are co-extensive with the Poor Law Unions, except that the Anglesey District comprises the two Unions of Anglesey (population 16,264) and Holyhead (population 18,863).

All the Districts in Monmouth and Glamorgan increased in population, notably Cardiff, Pontypridd, and Swansea; in the Merthyr-Tydfil District the actual increase was considerably less than the ten years' excess of births. The other South Wales Districts for the most part decreased in population.

Parishes, &c., in Monmouthshire.

In North Wales there was an increase in 14 out of 18 Districts; in Anglesey there was a decrease of 3,030 persons.

COUNTIES PROPER.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

This County has an area of 295,509 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 146,257 persons (males 69,046, females 77,211). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 82,864 persons, or 131 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is an undivided constituency, and it contains one represented borough. It comprises nine hundreds and the municipal boroughs of Bedford and Dunstable, the latter having been incorporated in 1864.

There is one Court of Quarter Sessions for the County, and it is divided into seven Petty Sessional Divisions. The boroughs of Dunstable and Bedford have Commissions of the Peace, and the latter has a separate Court of Quarter Sessions; both boroughs maintain their own police. The Petty Sessional Divisions are nearly identical with the County Police Divisions. There are eight Lieutenancy Sub-divisions for militia purposes; and five Highway Districts have been formed.

Parts of two parishes, viz. Caddington and Studham, extend into the adjoining County of Herts. The whole County is in the Diocese of Ely.

In all Registration and Census matters BEDFORDSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the THIRD REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

In all Registration and Census matters BERKSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the SECOND REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

This County has an area of 524,926 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 186,906 persons (males 92,115, females 94,791). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 97,560 persons, or 109 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is an undivided constituency, and it contains the represented borough and university of Cambridge. The limits of the parliamentary borough of Cambridge were extended in 1868. The County comprises seventeen hundreds, and the municipal boroughs of Cambridge and Wisbech. The hundreds of Ely, Wisbech, and Witchford (North and South parts), with the borough of Wisbech, constitute the Liberty of the Isle of Ely.

There are two Courts of Quarter Sessions, viz. one for the County and one for the Isle of Ely, the latter having also a separate Commission of the Peace, a gaol, a treasurer, and making its own levy in the nature of a County rate. The County is divided into ten Petty Sessional Divisions, four of which, and also the borough of Wisbech, are within the Isle of Ely. The borough of Cambridge has a Commission of the Peace and a separate Court of Quarter Sessions, and the borough of Wisbech has a Commission of the Peace.

The County Police Divisions are identical with those for Petty Sessions, the Isle of Ely having a separate police force. The boroughs of Cambridge and Wisbech maintain their own police. Only one Highway District has been formed in this County. There are eleven Lieutenancy Sub-divisions.

Parts of seven parishes extend into adjoining Counties, viz. Helion Bumpstead into Essex; Outwell, Upwell, Welney, into Norfolk; Royston, into Herts; Papworth St. Agnes and Standground, into Hunts. The County is almost entirely in the Diocese of Ely.

In all Registration and Census matters CAMBRIDGESHIRE is regarded as forming part of the THIRD REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

CHESHIRE.

This County Palatine has an area of 705,493 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 561,201 persons (males 271,033, females 290,168). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 368,896 persons, or 192 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into East Cheshire, including the borough of Macclesfield and such parts of the boroughs of Ashton-under-Lyne, Stalybridge, and Stockport as are in this County; Mid Cheshire, including the part of the borough of Warrington in this County; and West Cheshire, including the borough of Birkenhead and part of the city of Chester. The parliamentary limits of Chester extend into Flintshire. Stalybridge was constituted a parliamentary borough in 1868. The limits of the parliamentary boroughs of Chester and Macclesfield were extended in 1868. The County comprises seven hundreds, the city of Chester, the municipal boroughs of Congleton and Macclesfield, and parts of the boroughs of Stalybridge, Stockport, and Warrington. The principal part of Warrington and parts of Stalybridge and Stockport are in Lancashire.

There is one Court of Quarter Sessions for the County, and it is divided into eleven Petty Sessional Divisions. The city of Chester (a County of itself) has a Commissiou of the Peace and a separate Court of Quarter Sessions; and the boroughs of Congleton, Macclesfield, Stalybridge, and Stockport have Commissions of the Peace. For police purposes the County is divided into ten Divisions. The city of Chester, all the municipal boroughs, and the town of Birkenhead, have their own police. There are twelve Lieutenancy Sub-divisions, and twelve Highway Districts have been formed.

Parts of five parishes extend into adjoining Counties, viz. Barthomley into Staffordshire; Doddlestone, Malpas, and Threapwood, into Flintshire; and Whitchurch into Salop. Most of the ancient parishes are large, and are divided into townships. With the exception of parts of the parishes of Mottram, Threapwood, and Whitchurch, the County is in the Diocese of Chester.

CHESHIRE forms part of the EIGHTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

CORNWALL.

This County has an area of 869,878 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 362,343 persons (males 169,706, females 192,637). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 170,062 persons, or 88 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into East Cornwall, including the boroughs of Bodmin, Launceston, and Liskeard; and West Cornwall, including the boroughs of Helston, Penryn and Falmouth, St. Ives, and Truro. The limits of the parliamentary borough of Penryn and Falmouth were extended in 1868. The County comprises nine hundreds, the Scilly Islands, and the municipal boroughs of Bodmin, Falmouth, Helston, Launceston, Liskeard, Penryn, Penzance, St. Ives, and Truro.

There is one Court of Quarter Sessions for the County, and it is divided into sixteen Petty Sessional Divisions. All the boroughs, except Launceston, have Commissions of the Peace; and Helston and Penzance have separate Courts of Quarter Sessions. The mainland of the County comprises six Police divisions. The boroughs of Falmouth, Helston, Launceston, Liskeard, Penryn, Penzance, St. Ives, and Truro, have their own police. Five of the Scilly Islands are inhabited, and the constables of these Islands are appointed at the Petty Sessions held at St. Mary. The jurisdiction of the Court of the Vice-Warden of the Stannaries extends over the Counties of Cornwall and Devon, to all Companies formed to work mines of metallic minerals within the two Counties, and over all transactions connected therewith. There are sixteen Lieutenancy Sub-divisions for militia purposes, which are nearly identical with the Petty Sessional Divisions; the general law regulating the militia does not apply to the miners of Cornwall and Devon, the Stannaries in that respect being governed by 42 Geo. III., c. 72.

There are nineteen Highway Districts in the County. The Scilly Islands constitute one district, the roads therein being kept in repair by waywardens annually chosen at Vestry meetings and appointed by the magistrates.

Part of the parish of Boyton extends into Devon. The County is in the Diocese of Exeter.

In all Registration and Census matters CORNWALL is regarded as forming part of the FIFTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

This County has an area of 656,243 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 379,394 persons (males 190,657, females 188,737). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 217,827 persons, or 135 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into East, North, and South Derbyshire; and it contains one represented borough, the limits of which were extended in 1868. The County comprises six hundreds, and the municipal boroughs of Chesterfield, Derby, and Glossop, the latter having been incorporated in 1866.

There is one Court of Quarter Sessions for the County, and it is divided into thirteen Petty Sessional Divisions: the borough of Derby has a Commission of the Peace and a separate Court of Quarter Sessions; and the boroughs of Chesterfield and Glossop have Commissions of the Peace. The Police Divisions are nearly identical with those for Petty Sessions. The boroughs of Chesterfield, Derby, and Glossop maintain their own police. There are six Lieutenancy Sub-divisions for militia purposes; and at the Census date one Highway District had been formed, but it has since been dissolved.

Many of the ancient parishes in this County are large, and are divided into Townships. Parts of seven parishes extend into adjoining Counties: viz. Appleby, Packington, and Ravenstone, into Leicester; Burton-upon-Trent, Clifton Campville, Croxall, and Scropton, into Stafford. The County is in the Diocese of Lichfield, with the exception of parts of the parishes of Appleby, Hartshorn, and Packington, and the parish of Boundary.

In all Registration and Census matters DERBYSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the SEVENTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

DEVONSHIRE.

This County has an area of 1,655,161 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 601,374 persons (males 285,248, females 316,126). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 261,066 persons, or 77 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into East, North, and South Devon, and it contains six represented cities and boroughs. It comprises thirty-three hundreds, the city of Exeter, and the municipal boroughs of Barnstaple, Bideford, Dartmouth, Devonport, Honiton, Plymouth, South Molton, Tiverton, Torrington, and Totnes.

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into twenty-two Petty Sessional Divisions. The city of Exeter (a County of itself), and the boroughs of Barnstaple, Bideford, Dartmouth, Devonport, Plymouth, South Molton, Tiverton, and Totnes, have Commissions of the Peace and, with the exception of Totnes, separate Courts of Quarter Sessions. The jurisdiction of the Court of the Vice-Warden of the Stannaries extends to all Companies formed to work mines of metallic minerals within the Counties of Devon and Cornwall, and over all transactions connected therewith.

There are thirteen Police Divisions in the County, each consisting of one or more Petty Sessional Divisions. The city of Exeter, and the boroughs of Barnstaple, Bideford, Devonport, Plymouth, South Molton, Tiverton, and Totnes, have their own police. There are twenty-three Lieutenancy Sub-divisions, one comprising the city of Exeter; the other twenty-two being mostly identical with Petty Sessional Divisions. The Highway Act has only been partially adopted in this County. Of the twenty-five Highway Districts, fifteen are identical with Petty Sessional Divisions, the remaining ten Districts being comprised within five of such divisions.

Parts of three parishes extend into adjoining Counties—viz. Axminster into Dorset, Boyton into Cornwall, and Exmoor into Somerset. The whole County is in the Diocese of Exeter, with the exception of parts of certain parishes which are in the Diocese of Salisbury.

In all Registration and Census matters DEVONSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the FIFTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

DORSETSHIRE.

This County has an area of 627,265 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 195,537 persons (males 95,616, females 99,921). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 81,085 persons, or 71 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is an undivided constituency, and it contains six represented boroughs. It comprises thirty-four hundreds, twenty-two liberties, and the municipal boroughs of Blandford, Bridport, Dorchester, Lyme Regis, Poole, Shaftesbury, and Weymouth and Melcombe Regis.

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into nine Petty Sessional Divisions. The borough of Poole, a County of itself, has a Commission of the Peace and a separate Court of Quarter Sessions; the boroughs of Bridport, Dorchester, Lyme Regis, and Weymouth and Melcombe Regis have Commissions of the Peace; and the town of Wareham, as an old corporate borough, holds Annual General Sessions.

For Police purposes the County is divided into nine Divisions. The boroughs of Blandford, Dorchester, Poole, and Weymouth and Melcombe Regis have their own police. There are nine Lieutenancy Subdivisions, and nine Highway Districts have been formed.

Part of the parish of Tollard Royal is in Wiltshire, part of Axminster in Devon, and part of the parish of Hampreston has hitherto been regarded as being in Hants, but the Clerk of the Peace considers that the whole parish is now in Dorset. The whole County is in the Diocese of Salisbury.

In all Registration and Census matters DORSETSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the FIFTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

ESSEX.

This County has an area of 1,055,133 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 466,436 persons (males 233,903, females 232,533). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 238,754 persons, or 105 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into East, South, and West Essex, and it contains three represented boroughs. It comprises nineteen hundreds, the Liberty of Havering-atte-Bower, the municipal boroughs of Colchester, Harwich, Maldon, and Saffron Walden, and part of the borough of Sudbury (the principal part being in Suffolk).

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into eighteen Petty Sessional Divisions. The Central Criminal Court has jurisdiction over certain parishes in this County. The Liberty of Havering-atte-Bower has a separate Court of Quarter Sessions; the boroughs of Colchester, Maldon, Saffron Walden, and Sudbury have Commissions of the Peace and Courts of Quarter Sessions; and Harwich has a Commission of the Peace. Brightlingsea is a member of the Cinque Port of Sandwich in Kent; but the Justices of Essex have a concurrent jurisdiction therein, and it forms part of the Winstree and Lexden Petty Sessional Division. For the purposes of the County rate, the Liberty of Havering-atte-Bower, which comprises the parishes of Havering-atte-Bower, Hornchurch, and Romford, is separately rated; and the remainder of the County is divided into an Eastern Division and a Western Division. There are ten Police Divisions of the County; but the parishes of Barking, Chigwell, Chingford, Dagenham, East Ham, Little Ilford, Loughton, Low Leighton, Waltham Abbey, Walthamstow, Wanstead, West Ham, and Woodford are within the Metropolitan Police District. The boroughs of Colchester and Maldon have their own police.

The Highways Act has been partially adopted in this County, eight districts having been formed. There are sixteen Lieutenancy Sub-divisions for militia purposes.

Parts of four parishes extend into adjoining counties—viz. Helion Bumstead into Cambridge; Bures St. Mary, Haverhill, and Kedington into Suffolk. The County is almost entirely in the Diocese of Rochester.

In all Registration and Census matters Essex is regarded as forming part of the Fourth Registration Division, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

This County has an area of 804,977 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 534,640 persons (males 252,593, females 282,047). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 283,917 persons, or 113 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into East and West Gloucestershire, and it contains two represented cities and four represented boroughs and part of a fifth (viz. Cricklade, in Wilts). It comprises twenty-nine hundreds (including the Duchy of Lancaster), the city of Gloucester, the greater part of the city of Bristol, and the municipal borough of Tewkesbury. The remainder of Bristol is in Somersetshire.

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into twenty-four Petty Sessional Divisions. The cities of Bristol and Gloucester, which are Counties of themselves, and the Borough of Tewkesbury, have Commissions of the Peace and separate Courts of Quarter Sessions.

The County Police Divisions, of which there are eleven, are mostly conterminous with groups of Petty Sessional Divisions. The city of Bristol has its own police. There are nineteen Lieutenancy Sub-divisions for militia purposes; and nineteen Highway Districts, which comprise, however, only a part of the County.

Parts of five parishes extend into adjoining Counties—viz. Broughton Poggs into Oxon; Ilmington, Welford, and Weston-on-Avon, into Warwick; and Overbury into Worcester. The County is partly in the Dioceses of Gloucester and Bristol, Hereford, Oxford, and Worcester.

In all Registration and Census matters GLOUCESTERSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the SIXTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

HAMPSHIRE.

This County has an area of 1,032,105 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 544,684 persons (males 275,393, females 269,291). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 325,394 persons, or 148 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County forms three divisions, viz. North Hants, South Hants, and the Isle of Wight. The city of Winchester and the boroughs of Andover and Petersfield are in the Northern Division; and the boroughs of Christchurch, Lymington, Portsmouth, and Southampton are in the Southern Division. The borough of Newport is in the Isle of Wight.

Hampshire (including the Isle of Wight) comprises thirty-eight hundreds, the ten liberties of Alverstoke and Gosport, Beaulieu, Bentley, Breamore, Dibden, Havant, Westover, East and West Soke, East Medina, and West Medina, the city of Winchester, and the boroughs of Andover, Basingstoke, Lymington, Newport, Portsmouth, Romsey, Ryde, and Southampton. Ryde was incorporated in 1868.

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into fourteen Petty Sessional Divisions. The city of Winchester and the boroughs of Andover, Portsmouth, and Southampton (a County of itself), have Commissions of the Peace and separate Courts of Quarter Sessions; and the boroughs of Basingstoke, Newport, Romsey, and Ryde have Commissions of the Peace. In the borough of Lymington the mayor and ex-mayor are magistrates, and the county justices have concurrent jurisdiction.

The Police Divisions are identical with those for Petty Sessions, except that the Droxford Petty Sessional Division is for Police purposes united to the Fareham division. The city of Winchester, the town of Southampton, and the boroughs of Portsmouth, Basingstoke, Newport, and Ryde have their own police.

There are seventeen Lieutenancy Sub-divisions; and twenty-three Highway Districts, exclusive of the Isle of Wight.

The County is almost entirely in the Diocese of Winchester, and contains parts of seven parishes which extend into adjoining Counties, viz. Bramshaw, West Dean, Hampreston, Steep, Stratfield Mortimer, Stratfieldsaye, and Whitsbury.

In all Registration and Census matters HAMPSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the SECOND REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

This County has an area of 532,898 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 125,370 persons (males 62,562, females 62,808). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 36,934 persons, or 42 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is an undivided constituency, and it contains the represented city of Hereford, the borough of Leominster, part of the borough of Ludlow, and part of the Radnor district of boroughs. It comprises eleven hundreds, the city of Hereford, and the municipal borough of Leominster.

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into eleven Petty Sessional Divisions. The city of Hereford has a Commission of the Peace and a separate Court of Quarter Sessions; and the borough of Leominster has a Commission of the Peace.

The Police Divisions are identical with those for Petty Sessions. The city of Hereford and the borough of Leominster have their own police. There are eleven Lieutenancy Sub-divisions, and nine Highway Districts, which however do not comprise the whole of the County.

Parts of ten parishes extend into adjoining counties—viz. Bockleton, Brampton Bryan, Bucknell, Cwmyoy, Leintwardine, Ludford, Presteigne, Old Radnor, Richards Castle, and Stoke Bliss. The County is mostly in the Diocese of Oxford, but partly also in the Dioceses of Llandaff and Worcester.

In all Registration and Census matters HEREFORDSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the SIXTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

This County has an area of 391,141 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 192,226 persons (males 93,244, females 98,982). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 94,833 persons, or 97 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is an undivided constituency, and it contains one represented borough. It comprises eight hundreds, and the municipal boroughs of Hertford and St. Albans.

There are two Courts of Quarter Sessions, one for the County, and one for the liberty of St. Albans, which liberty has also a separate Commission of the Peace, a gaol, and treasurer, and makes its own levy in the nature of a County rate. The County is divided into fifteen Petty Sessional Divisions, three of which, and also the borough of St. Albans, are within the liberty of St. Albans. The boroughs of Hertford and St. Albans have Commissions of the Peace.

The following parishes in Herts are within the Metropolitan Police District—namely, Aldenham, Bushey, Cheshunt, Chipping Barnet, East Barnet, Elstree, Northaw, Ridge, Shenley, and Totteridge. The remainder of the County, including the liberty of St. Albans, is under the County constabulary, and has been divided by the Chief Constable into eleven Police Districts. The boroughs of Hertford and St. Albans have their own police. There are fifteen Lieutenancy Sub-divisions for militia purposes, and eight Highway Districts have been formed.

Parts of three parishes extend into adjoining counties—viz. Caddington and Studham, into Bedford, and Royston into Cambridge. The whole County is in the Diocese of Rochester.

In all Registration and Census matters HERTFORDSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the THIRD REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

HUNTINGDONSHIRE.

This County has an area of 229,515 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 63,708 persons (males 31,381, females 32,327). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 26,140 persons, or 70 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is an undivided constituency, and it contains one parliamentary borough and part of the represented city of Peterborough. It comprises four hundreds, and the municipal boroughs of Huntingdon and Godmanchester, which jointly constitute the parliamentary borough of Huntingdon.

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into five Petty Sessional Divisions. The two boroughs are included in the Petty Sessional Division of Leightonstone.

The Police Divisions and the Highway Districts of the County are, as regards their boundaries, identical with the Petty Sessional Divisions. There are four Lieutenancy Sub-divisions for militia purposes.

Parts of six parishes extend into adjoining Counties, viz. Luddington-in-the-Brook, Lutton, Papworth, St. Agnes, Standground, Thurning, and Winwick. The whole County is in the Diocese of Ely.

In all Registration and Census matters HUNTINGDONSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the THIRD REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

KENT.

This County has an area of 1,004,984 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 848,294 persons (males 417,506, females 430,788). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 539,627 persons, or 175 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into East Kent, including the city of Canterbury and the boroughs of Dover, Hythe, and Sandwich; Mid Kent, including the city of Rochester and the boroughs of Chatham, Gravesend (enfranchised in 1868), and Maidstone; and West Kent, including part of the borough of Greenwich, the remainder of which is in the East Division of Surrey.

Kent is divided into five lathes; and comprises sixty-one hundreds, the lowey of Tunbridge, the franchise and barony of Bircholt, the liberty of the Isle of Sheppey, the liberty of New Romney, the cities of Canterbury and Rochester, and the municipal boroughs of Deal, Dover, Faversham, Folkestone, Gravesend, Hythe, Maidstone, Margate, Sandwich, and Tenterden. The liberty of New Romney and all the boroughs except Gravesend and Maidstone are included among the Cinque Ports. The parishes comprising the liberty of Romney Marsh are included in the hundreds in which they are locally situate.

There is one Court of Quarter Sessions for the County, and it is divided into sixteen Petty Sessional Divisions, exclusive of the liberty of Romney Marsh, which has Petty and General Sessions under its charters. The Central Criminal Court has jurisdiction over certain parishes in this County. The city of Canterbury (a County of itself), the city of Rochester, and the boroughs of Gravesend and Maidstone, have Commissions of the Peace and separate Courts of Quarter Sessions, as have also the ports and boroughs of Deal, Dover, Faversham, Folkestone, Hythe, Margate, Sandwich, and Tenterden. The ancient borough of Queenborough has a Recorder and a Court of Quarter Sessions, with a separate jurisdiction limited to misdemeanors: summary cases are dealt with by the mayor and magistrates in Petty Sessions. The corporate towns of Fordwich, Lydd, and New Romney are governed by old charters.

Part of Kent is within the Metropolitan Police District, viz. all those parishes, any part of which is within 12 miles of, and not more than 15 miles distant (in a straight line), from Charing Cross. The part of the County beyond the limits of the Metropolitan Police District is for Police purposes divided into twelve districts, which are generally identical with the Petty Sessional Divisions. The cities of Canterbury and Rochester, the boroughs of Deal, Dover, Faversham, Folkestone, Gravesend, Hythe, Maidstone, Margate, Sandwich, and Tenterden, and the towns of Ramsgate and Tunbridge Wells, have their own police.

The County contains seventeen Lieutenancy Sub-divisions, exclusive of the Cinque Ports and the liberty of Romney Marsh; and eighteen Highway Districts, exclusive of the part within the district of the Metropolitan Board of Works.

The vestry of the parish of Woolwich exercises therein the powers of a District Board of Works; the remaining Metropolitan parishes in this County are included in the districts of Greenwich, Lewisham, and Plumstead, each having a District Board of Works.

The London School Board District, which is identical with the District of the Metropolitan Board of Works, extends into Kent.

Excepting portions of the parishes of Frant and Hawkhurst, the County is within the Dioceses of Canterbury and Rochester; and it contains parts of six parishes which extend into adjoining Counties, viz. Broomhill, St. Paul Deptford, Frant, Hawkhurst, Horsemonden, and Lamberhurst.

In all Registration and Census matters KENT is regarded as forming part of the FIRST and SECOND REGISTRATION DIVISIONS, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to those Divisions, which will be found in another part of this volume.

LANCASHIRE.

This County Palatine has an area of 1,207,926 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 2,819,495 persons (males 1,358,387, females 1,461,108). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 2,146,009 persons, or 319 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into North Lancashire, including the borough of Preston; North-east Lancashire, including the boroughs of Blackburn, Burnley, and Clitheroe; South-east Lancashire, including the city of Manchester, and the boroughs of Bolton, Bury, Oldham, Rochdale, and Salford, and the parts of the boroughs of Ashton-under-Lyne, Stalybridge, and Stockport in this County; and South-west Lancashire, including the boroughs of Liverpool and Wigan, and the part of the borough of Warrington in this County.

Lancashire comprises six hundreds, the city of Manchester, the municipal boroughs of Ashton-under-Lyne, Barrow-in-Furness, Blackburn, Bolton, Bootle-cum-Linacre, Burnley, Clitheroe, Lancaster, Liverpool, Oldham, Preston, Rochdale, St. Helens, Salford, Southport, and Wigan, and parts of the boroughs of Stalybridge, Stockport, and Warrington; the principal parts of Stalybridge and Stockport, and a small portion of Warrington being in Cheshire. Barrow-in-Furness and Southport were incorporated in 1867, Bootle-cum-Linacre in 1868, and St. Helens in 1869. By the Act 35 and 36 Vict., c. 149, s. 8, the municipal borough of Rochdale is to consist of the district comprised within the boundaries of the parliamentary borough as extended by the Act 31 and 32 Vict., c. 46.

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into twenty-three Petty Sessional Divisions. The city of Manchester, and the boroughs of Bolton, Liverpool, and Wigan have Commissions of the Peace, and separate Courts of Quarter Sessions; and the boroughs of Ashton-under-Lyne, Blackburn, Burnley, Lancaster, Oldham, Preston, Rochdale, Salford, and Warrington, have Commissions of the Peace. For Police purposes eighteen Divisions have been formed: the city of Manchester, and all the municipal boroughs, except Barrow-in-Furness, Bootle-cum-Linacre, Burnley, Clitheroe, and St. Helens, have their own police.

There are sixteen Lieutenancy Sub-divisions, and nine Highway Districts, which latter, however, include only part of the County.

The County is comprised in the Dioceses of Manchester, Chester, Carlisle, and Ripon, and it contains parts of five parishes which extend into adjoining Counties, viz. Burton-in-Kendal, Mitton, Rochdale, Thornton-in-Lonsdale, and Whalley.

In all Registration and Census matters LANCASHIRE is regarded as forming part of the EIGHTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

* A new Petty Sessional Division called "the St. Helens Division" was formed at the Kirkdale Quarter Sessions in October, 1872. This arrangement will take effect on the 1st January, 1873. The townships comprising such Division are taken from the Prescot Petty Sessional Division.

† By the Act 35 and 36 Vict., cap. 149, sec. 8 and 14, the Local Board of Buersill ceases to exercise any jurisdiction within such part of the district as is situated within the extended borough of Rochdale. And on 1st March, 1873, the remaining part was to revert to the position in which it would have been if the Local Government Act had not been there adopted.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

This County has an area of 511,719 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 269,311 persons (males 131,202, females 138,109). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 139,229 persons, or 107 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into North Leicestershire and South Leicestershire, the latter including the borough of Leicester, the only parliamentary borough in the County. Two detached portions of the hundred of Gartree on the east of the hundred of East Goscote are, for parliamentary purposes, included in North Leicestershire. The County comprises six hundreds and the municipal borough of Leicester.

There is one Court of Quarter Sessions for the County, and it is divided into nine Petty Sessional Divisions. The borough of Leicester has a Commission of the Peace and a separate Court of Quarter Sessions. The County Police Divisions are nearly identical with those for Petty Sessions. The borough of Leicester has its own police. There are nine Lieutenancy Sub-divisions, and nine Highway Districts have been formed.

Many of the ancient parishes of this County are large, and are divided into townships. The County is almost entirely in the Diocese of Peterborough, and contains parts of eight parishes which extend into adjoining Counties, viz. Appleby, Claybrooke, Hinckley, Merevale, Packington, Ravenstone, Stoke Dry, and Theddingworth.

In all Registration and Census matters LEICESTERSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the SEVENTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

This County has an area of 1,767,962 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 436,599 persons (males 216,762, females 219,837). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 227,974 persons, or 109 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into North Lincolnshire, including the borough of Great Grimsby; Mid Lincolnshire, including the city of Lincoln; and South Lincolnshire, including the boroughs of Boston and Grantham, and the part of the borough of Stamford in this County.

Lincolnshire is divided into three Divisions, viz. the Parts of Holland, the Parts of Kesteven, and the Parts of Lindsey; and comprises thirty-one wapentakes, hundreds, liberties, and sokes, the city of Lincoln, the municipal boroughs of Boston, Grantham, Great Grimsby, and Louth, and the principal part of the municipal borough of Stamford, the remainder being in Northamptonshire.

Each of the three Divisions of the County has a separate Court of Quarter Sessions. The Parts of Holland are divided into two Petty Sessional Divisions; the Parts of Kesteven into four Petty Sessional Divisions, and the Parts of Lindsey into thirteen Petty Sessional Divisions. The city of Lincoln, a County of itself, and the boroughs of Grantham and Stamford, have Commissions of the Peace and separate Courts of Quarter Sessions, and the boroughs of Boston, Great Grimsby, and Louth, have Commissions of the Peace.

The Parts of Holland are, for the purposes of the County rate, divided into a Northern and a Southern Division. The Police Divisions of the County are identical with those for Petty Sessions, except that for Police purposes the Petty Sessional Divisions of Market Rasen and Wragby are united. The city of Lincoln, and the boroughs of Boston, Grantham, Great Grimsby, Louth, and Stamford, have their own police. Of the thirteen Lieutenancy Sub-divisions two are in the Parts of Holland, five in the Parts of Kesteven, and six in the Parts of Lindsey.

There are two Highway Districts in the Parts of Lindsey, viz. Axholme and Gainsborough; but in the Parts of Holland and in the Parts of Kesteven the Highways Act has not been adopted.

The County is in the Diocese of Lincoln, and contains parts of three parishes which extend into adjoining Counties, namely, Crowle, Flawford, and Central Wingland.

In all Registration and Census matters LINCOLNSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the SEVENTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

MIDDLESEX.

This County has an area of 181,317 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 2,539,765 persons (males 1,183,399, females 1,356,366). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 1,721,636 persons, or 210 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is an undivided constituency, and it contains seven represented cities and boroughs. It comprises six hundreds and the city of London.

The County has one Court of General and Quarter Sessions, and is divided into seventeen Petty Sessional Divisions, exclusive of the city of London, which is a County of itself. The Central Criminal Court also has jurisdiction over the entire County of Middlesex, as well as over certain parishes in the Counties of Essex, Kent, and Surrey.

The city of London has a separate police force. The remainder of Middlesex is within the Metropolitan Police District, as are also all those parishes in Hertford, Essex, Kent, and Surrey, any part of which is within twelve miles of, or not more than fifteen miles distant (in a straight line), from Charing Cross. Of the twenty Police Divisions, nine are entirely in Middlesex, two are partly in Middlesex and Hertford, two are partly in Middlesex and Essex, two are partly in Kent and Surrey, and four are entirely in Surrey. The Thames Police constitute the remaining Division. The District within the jurisdiction of the Central Criminal Court is not so extensive as the Metropolitan Police District.

The District of the Metropolitan Board of Works comprises parts of the Counties of Middlesex, Surrey, and Kent, and is nearly identical with the District which, by the Poor Law and other authorities, is now deemed to be "London," and for which a weekly return of births and deaths is prepared and published by the authority of the Registrar-General.

In the city of London the Commissioners of Sewers exercise the powers of a District Board of Works; in twenty-three Metropolitan parishes the Vestries exercise similar powers; the remaining Metropolitan parishes are united into fifteen districts, each of which has a Local Board of Works.

The County is divided into eighteen Lieutenancy Sub-divisions, of which the city of London is one;

the seventeen other Sub-divisions being identical with the Petty Sessional Divisions. The militia of the city and of the Tower Hamlets is distinct from the County militia, and is raised and regulated under special statutes. The County contains only one Highway District.

The London School Board District is identical with the District of the Metropolitan Board of Works.

With the exception of that part of Stanwell Civil Parish which is in the Diocese of Oxford, the County is in the Diocese of London, and it contains no part of any parish which extends into another County.

In all Registration and Census matters MIDDLESEX is regarded as forming part of the FIRST and THIRD REGISTRATION DIVISIONS, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to those Divisions, which will be found in another part of this volume.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

This County has an area of 629,912 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 243,891 persons (males 120,859, females 123,032). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 112,366 persons, or 85 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into a Northern Division, including the parts of the city of Peterborough and of the borough of Stamford that are in this County; and a Southern Division, including the borough of Northampton, and the part of the borough of Banbury in this County. It comprises nineteen hundreds, the liberty of Peterborough or hundred of Nassaburgh, the municipal boroughs of Daventry and Northampton, and part of the borough of Stamford (the greater part being in Lincolnshire).

There are two Courts of Quarter Sessions, one for the County, and the other for the liberty or soke of Peterborough, which has a Commission of the Peace, a Gaol, and a Treasurer, and makes its own levy in the nature of a County rate. The County is divided into nine Petty Sessional Divisions, exclusive of the liberty of Peterborough, which constitutes a separate Division. The boroughs of Northampton and Stamford have Commissions of the Peace and separate Courts of Quarter Sessions. The boroughs of Daventry and Higham-Ferrers (in each of which the mayor and ex-mayor are magistrates) form parts of the Petty Sessional Divisions of Daventry and Wellingborough, the County Justices having concurrent jurisdiction.

For Police purposes the County is divided into nine Divisions, exclusive of the liberty of Peterborough, which has a separate police force. The boroughs of Daventry, Higham-Ferrers, Northampton, and Stamford have their own police.

There are ten Highway Districts, which comprise the whole of the County except the liberty of Peterborough and the above-mentioned boroughs; and ten Lieutenancy Sub-divisions.

The County is almost entirely in the Diocese of Peterborough, and contains parts of five parishes which extend into adjoining Counties, viz. Luddington-in-the-Brook, Lutton, Theddingworth, Thurning, and Winwick.

In all Registration and Census matters NORTHAMPTONSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the THIRD REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

This County has an area of 1,049,815 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 463,483 persons (males 218,454, females 245,029). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 189,906 persons, or 69 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into East Somerset, Mid Somerset, and West Somerset. By the Act 31 & 32 Vict. cap. 46, it was provided that the several Parliamentary Divisions of this County should consist, not of certain hundreds as in most other Counties, but of certain Petty Sessional Divisions. East Somerset includes the city of Bath, the parliamentary borough of Frome, and that part of the city of Bristol which is in this County: West Somerset includes the parliamentary borough of Taunton.

Somersetshire comprises forty hundreds, two liberties, the cities of Bath and Wells, part of the city of Bristol, and the municipal boroughs of Bridgwater, Chard, Glastonbury, and Yeovil. The principal part of the city of Bristol (which is a County of itself) is in Gloucestershire.

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into twenty-two Petty Sessional Divisions: the cities of Bath and Bristol and the borough of Bridgwater have Commissions of the Peace and separate Courts of Quarter Sessions; and the city of Wells and the borough of Yeovil have Commissions of the Peace.

For Police purposes there are fourteen Divisions: the cities of Bath and Bristol, and the boroughs of Bridgwater and Chard, have their own Police. The city of Wells and the boroughs of Yeovil and Glastonbury are empowered to have Police forces of their own; but by special arrangement they are at present under the supervision of the County Police. There are sixteen Lieutenancy Sub-divisions; and nineteen Highway Districts, which comprise the entire County, have been formed.

The County is mostly in the Diocese of Bath and Wells; and it contains parts of three parishes which extend into adjoining Counties, viz., Maiden Bradley, Stourton, and Exmoor.

SOMERSETSHIRE forms part of the FIFTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be fonnd in another part of this volume.

STAFFORDSHIRE.

This County has an area of 732,434 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 858,326 persons (males 431,814, females 426,512). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 615,633 persons, or 254 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into East Staffordshire, including the city of Lichfield, the boroughs of Walsall and Wednesbury, and the part of the borough of Tamworth in this County; North Staffordshire, including the boroughs of Stoke-upon-Trent and Newcastle-under-Lyme; and West Staffordshire, including the boroughs of Stafford and Wolverhampton, and the part of the borough of Dudley in this County.

Staffordshire comprises five hundreds, the City of Lichfield, the municipal boroughs of Hanley, Newcastle-under-Lyme, Stafford, Walsall, and Wolverhampton, part of the borough of Tamworth, and the borough of Longton, which was incorporated in 1865. The remainder of Tamworth is in Warwickshire.

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into sixteen Petty Sessional Divisions: the city of Lichfield, a County of itself, and the boroughs of Newcastle-under-Lyme, Walsall, and Wolverhampton have Commissions of the Peace and separate Courts of Quarter Sessions; and the boroughs of Hanley, Longton, Stafford, and Tamworth have Commissions of the Peace.

For Police purposes the County is divided into the Mining, the Rural, and the Pottery Districts; and these are further divided into fourteen Divisions. The city of Lichfield, and the boroughs of Hanley Newcastle-under-Lyme, Walsall, and Wolverhampton have their own Police. There are seventeen Lieutenancy Sub-divisions.

No Highway Districts have been formed.

With the exception of parts of certain parishes, which are in the Dioceses of Chester, Hereford, and Worcester, the County is in the Diocese of Lichfield; and it contains parts of twelve parishes which extend into adjoining Counties, viz., Barthomley, Bobbington, Burton-upon-Trent, Clifton Campville, Croxall, Market Drayton, Mucklestone, Oldswinford, Pattingham, Scropton, Sheriff Hales, and Tamworth.

In all Registration and Census matters STAFFORDSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the SIXTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

SUFFOLK.

This County has an area of 949,825 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 348,869 persons (males 171,166, females 177,703). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 134,465 persons, or 63 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into two constituencies, namely, the Eastern Division, which includes the borough of Ipswich, and the Western Division, which includes the boroughs of Bury St. Edmund's and Eye. It comprises twenty-one hundreds, the boroughs of Beccles, Bury St. Edmund's, Eye, Ipswich, and Southwold, and parts of the Boroughs of Sudbury, Thetford, and Great Yarmouth. The principal parts of Thetford and Great Yarmouth are in Norfolk, and a small portion of Sudbury is in Essex.

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into nineteen Petty Sessional Divisions. Each of the boroughs, except Beccles, has a Commission of the Peace; and Bury St. Edmund's, Ipswich, Sudbury, Thetford, and Great Yarmouth have also separate Courts of Quarter Sessions.

The County is divided into eleven Police Divisions, and the boroughs of Ipswich, Southwold, and Sudbury have their own Police. There are eight Lieutenancy Sub-divisions; and five Highway Districts, which, however, do not comprise the entire County.

Part of Suffolk (viz., the Deaneries of Blackburne, Thedwaster, and Thingoe, and parts of the Deaneries of Clare, Fordham, and Sudbury) is in the Diocese of Ely: the remainder is in the Diocese of Norwich. The County contains parts of eight parishes which extend into adjoining Counties, viz., Brandon, Bures St. Mary, Haverhill, Kedington, Mendham, Rushford, Thetford (St. Cuthbert), and Thetford (St. Mary).

In all Registration and Census matters SUFFOLK is regarded as forming part of the FOURTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

SURREY.

This County has an area of 483,178 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 1,091,635 persons (males 517,111, females 574,524). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 823,402 persons, or 307 per cent.

For Parliamentary representation the County is divided into East, Mid, and West Surrey. The boroughs of Lambeth and Southwark, and part of the borough of Greenwich are in East Surrey, and the borough of Guildford is in West Surrey. The greater part of the borough of Greenwich is in the Western Division of the County of Kent.

Surrey comprises fourteen hundreds, the borough of Southwark, and the municipal boroughs of Godalming, Guildford, Kingston upon Thames, and Reigate, the latter having been incorporated in 1863. Southwark is not regulated by the Act 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 76, but is for certain purposes connected with the city of London.

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into twelve Petty Sessional Divisions. The Central Criminal Court has jurisdiction over certain parishes in this County. The borough of Guildford has a Commission of the Peace and a separate Court of Quarter Sessions: the boroughs of Reigate and Kingston upon Thames have Commissions of the Peace: the borough of Southwark is included in the Petty Sessional Division of Newington; and the borough of Godalming, in which the Mayor and ex-Mayor are Magistrates, forms part of the Petty Sessional Division of Guildford, the County Justices having concurrent jurisdiction.

Part of the County is within the Metropolitan Police District, viz., all those parishes any part of which is within twelve miles of, and not more than fifteen miles distant (in a straight line) from Charing Cross. The part of the County beyond the limits of the Metropolitan Police District is divided into seven Districts for Police purposes. All the boroughs have their own Police, except Kingston upon Thames and Southwark, which are within the Metropolitan Police District. There are twelve Lieutenancy Sub-divisions for Militia purposes; and eleven Highway Districts, which, however, do not comprise all that part of the County outside the District of the Metropolitan Board of Works. In six of the Parishes which are within the Metropolis, the Vestries exercise the powers of District Boards of Works; the remaining metropolitan parishes in Surrey are, with certain parishes in Kent, formed into five Districts, each having a Local Board of Works.

The London School Board District, which is identical with the District of the Metropolitan Board of Works, extends into Surrey.

The County is almost entirely in the Dioceses of Canterbury, London, and Winchester, and contains parts of two parishes which extend into adjoining Counties, viz., Alfold, and St. Paul Deptford.

In all Registration and Census matters SURREY is regarded as forming part of the FIRST and SECOND REGISTRATION DIVISIONS, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Tables relating to those Divisions, which will be found in another part of this volume.

SUSSEX.

This County has an area of 934,006 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 417,456 persons (males 199,532, females 217,924). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 257,985 persons, or 162 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into East Sussex, including the boroughs of Brighton, Hastings, Lewes, and Rye; and West Sussex, including the city of Chichester, and the boroughs of Horsham, Midhurst, and New Shoreham.

Sussex is divided into six Rapes; and it comprises sixty-six hundreds, the Lowey of Pevensey, the city of Chichester, the municipal boroughs of Brighton and Arundel, the municipal borough and Cinque Port of Hastings, and the municipal borough and ancient town of Rye. The ancient town of Winchelsea not being regulated by the Municipal Corporations Reform Act, is included in the hundred of Guestling.

There are two Courts of Quarter Sessions, one for the Eastern and the other for the Western Division of the County. The County is divided into eighteen Petty Sessional Divisions, of which eleven are in the Eastern and seven in the Western Division. The city of Chichester, and the boroughs of Brighton, Hastings, and Rye have Commissions of the Peace and separate Courts of Quarter Sessions. The towns of Pevensey, Seaford, and Winchelsea are governed by old Charters.

There are, exclusive of the Cinque Ports, eighteen Lieutenancy Sub-divisions, most of which are identical with the Petty Sessional Divisions.

East Sussex and West Sussex have each a separate Police force; the former being divided into eight, and the latter into seven Police Divisions. The city of Chichester, the boroughs of Arundel, Brighton, Hastings, and Rye, the town of Tunbridge Wells (the greater part of which is in Kent), and the parish of Hove have their own Police.

Only three Highway Districts have been formed in the County.

The County is almost entirely in the Diocese of Chichester, and contains parts of seven parishes which extend into adjoining Counties, viz., Alfold, Broomhill, Frant, Hawkhurst, Horsemonden, Lamberhurst, and Steep.

In all Registration and Census matters Sussex is regarded as forming part of the Second Registration Division, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

WARWICKSHIRE.

This County has an area of 566,458 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 634,189 persons (males 307,649, females 326,540). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 427,391 persons, or 207 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is divided into North Warwickshire, including the borough of Birmingham, the city of Coventry, and the part of the borough of Tamworth in this County; and South Warwickshire, including the borough of Warwick. It comprises four hundreds, the city of Coventry, and the municipal boroughs of Birmingham, Stratford on Avon, and Warwick, and part of the borough of Tamworth, the remainder being in Staffordshire.

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into sixteen Petty Sessional Divisions: the boroughs of Birmingham and Warwick have Commissions of the Peace and separate Courts of Quarter Sessions, and the city of Coventry and the borough of Stratford on Avon have Commissions of the Peace.

For Police purposes the County is divided into the General District, the Aston District, the Milverton District, and the Mining District. The city of Coventry, the boroughs of Birmingham, Stratford on Avon, and Warwick, and the town of Leamington have their own Police. There are seven Lieutenancy Sub-divisions; and five Highway Districts, which, however, do not comprise the entire County.

With the exception of parts of certain parishes which are in the Dioceses of Gloucester and Bristol, Peterborough, Lichfield, and Oxford, the County is in the Diocese of Worcester; and it contains parts of eight parishes which extend into adjoining Counties, viz., Claybrooke, Cropredy, Hinckley, Ilmington, Merevale, Tamworth, Welford, and Weston on Avon.

In all Registration and Census matters WARWICKSHIRE is regarded as forming part of the SIXTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

YORKSHIRE.

The entire County of York has an area of 3,882,851 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 2,436,355 (males 1,206,625, females 1,229,730). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 1,577,222 persons, or 184 per cent.

Yorkshire has from an early period been divided into three Ridings, each of which has a Lord Lieutenant, a Commission of the Peace, and a separate Court of Quarter Sessions.

The city of York, which is a County of itself, was, in the Abstracts of the Census of 1841 and in those of previous Censuses, set forth with the Ainsty as a separate Division of the County. In the Census Abstracts of 1851 and 1861 the City alone was thus separately set forth, the Ainsty being included in the West Riding. Both the City and Ainsty are now, for parliamentary purposes, included in the North Riding, for registration purposes in the East Riding, and for all other purposes in the West Riding.

For parliamentary representation the East Riding constitutes a Division of the County, and it includes the borough of Kingston upon Hull, part of the city of York, and part of the borough of Malton. The North Riding also constitutes a parliamentary Division, and it includes the boroughs of Middlesborough, Northallerton, Richmond, Scarborough, Thirsk, and Whitby, part of the city of York, and parts of the boroughs of Malton and Stockton. The West Riding constitutes three parliamentary Divisions: the Eastern Division containing the city of Ripon and the boroughs of Knaresborough, Leeds, and Pontefract; the Northern Division containing the boroughs of Bradford and Halifax; and the Southern Division containing the boroughs of Dewsbury, Huddersfield, Sheffield, and Wakefield.

The East Riding comprises six Wapentakes, and the municipal boroughs of Beverley, Kingston upon Hull, and Hedon which was incorporated in 1860. The North Riding comprises eleven Wapentakes, the two Liberties of Langbaurgh and Whitby Strand, and the municipal boroughs of Middlesborough, Richmond, and Scarborough. The West Riding comprises nine Wapentakes, the city of Ripon, the municipal boroughs of Bradford, Doncaster, Halifax, Leeds, Pontefract, Sheffield, and Wakefield, and also the boroughs of Dewsbury, incorporated in 1862, Batley and Huddersfield, both incorporated in 1868, Barnsley, incorporated in 1869, and Rotherham incorporated in 1871.

The East Riding comprises twelve Petty Sessional Divisions; the borough of Kingston upon Hull, which is a County of itself, has a Commission of the Peace and a separate Court of Quarter Sessions; and the borough of Beverley has a Commission of the Peace. The North Riding comprises nineteen Petty Sessional Divisions; the boroughs of Richmond and Scarborough have Commissions of the Peace and separate Courts of Quarter Sessions; and the borough of Middlesborough has a Commission of the Peace. The West Riding comprises twenty-five Petty Sessional Divisions: the city of York (a County of itself), the boroughs of Doncaster, Leeds, and Pontefract, and the liberty of Ripon (including the city) have Commissions of the Peace and separate Courts of Quarter Sessions; and the boroughs of Batley, Bradford, Dewsbury, Halifax, Huddersfield, Sheffield, and Wakefield have Commissions of the Peace.

For Police purposes the East Riding is divided into twelve Divisions, the North Riding into nine Divisions, and the West Riding into twenty-one Divisions. The cities of Ripon and York, and all the municipal boroughs with the exception of Barnsley, Batley, Hedon, and Rotherham, have their own Police. The liberty of Ripon is rated separately from the West Riding to the County rate.

Yorkshire comprises altogether forty-five Lieutenancy Sub-Divisions, of which thirteen are in the East Riding, nineteen in the North Riding, and thirteen in the West Riding. The number of Highway Districts formed in the County is twenty, of which sixteen are in the North Riding and four in the West Riding.

The ancient parishes of this County are large and are divided into townships. The following parishes are partly in the County of York, the remaining parts extending into adjoining Counties: Sockburn, Blyth, Crowle, Finningley, Awkley, Mitton, Rochdale, Thornton in Lonsdale, and Whalley.

The East Riding is in the Diocese of York; the North Riding, excepting part of the parish of Sockburn, is in the Dioceses of York and Ripon; and the West Riding, excepting parts of four parishes, is in the Dioceses of York, Ripon, and Manchester.

In all Registration and Census matters YORKSHIRE is regarded as constituting of itself the NINTH REGISTRATION DIVISION, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to that Division, which will be found in another part of this volume.

ANGLESEY.

This County has an area of 193,511 statute acres, and its population in 1871 was 51,040 persons (males 24,400, females 26,640). Since the first Census in 1801 the population has increased by 17,234 persons, or 51 per cent.

For parliamentary representation the County is an undivided constituency, and it contains the Beaumaris district of boroughs. It comprises six hundreds, and the municipal borough of Beaumaris.

The County has one Court of Quarter Sessions, and is divided into two Petty Sessional Divisions; there are two Lieutenancy Sub-divisions, but no Police Divisions or Highway Districts.

The County is in the Diocese of Bangor, and the population of every parish in the several Superintendent Registrars' Districts, or Poor Law Unions, is given in the Table relating to the ELEVENTH or WELSH REGISTRATION DIVISION, which will be found in another part of this volume.

ISLANDS IN THE BRITISH SEAS.

ISLE OF MAN.

The Isle of MAN is divided into a Northern and a Southern Division, each of which comprises three Sheadings.

The islands of Kitterland and the Calf of Man, situate at the southern extremity of the mainland, belong to the parish of Rushen.

Although Castletown is the capital of the Island, Douglas is the more populous town, having recently become a favourite watering-place. The other towns are Peel and Ramsey.

The civil government is vested in the Sovereign, a Lieutenant-Governor and Council, and the House of Keys. The Council consists of the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, the attorney-general, the clerk of the rolls, the two deemsters, the receiver-general, the water-bailiff or admiralty judge, the archdeacon, and the vicar-general, who are ex-officio members of that body. The House of Keys consists of 24 representatives of the people. The Lieutenant-Governor and Council, and the House of Keys constitute the Court of Tynwald, by which all the public laws are enacted and promulgated. The principal Courts in the Island, viz., those of chancery, exchequer, and common-law procedure, sit at Castletown. The general gaol delivery takes place twice a year at Castletown. The Deemsters are the chief justices of the Island; one, presiding over the Northern Division, holds his court weekly at Ramsey, Peel, or Michael; and the other, presiding over the Southern Division, holds his court at Douglas or Castletown. A court of admiralty, and seneschals', ecclesiastical, and coroners' courts are held as required. A High Bailiff is appointed for each of the towns of Castletown, Douglas, Peel, and Ramsey by commission from the Lieutenant-Governor, and is the conservator of the peace. A Coroner is also appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor for each of the six Sheadings, or great Divisions of the Island.

The Island constitutes the Diocese of Sodor and Man in the Province of York. The inhabited houses and population of the several parishes in the Island in 1871 are given below:—

JERSEY.

JERSEY, the largest of the CHANNEL ISLANDS, is divided into twelve parishes, and contains the three towns of St. Helier, St. Aubin, and Gorey.

The "States" of Jersey consist of the Bailiff of the Royal Court (appointed by the Crown), who is President, the twelve jurats of the Royal Court, elected for life by the ratepayers, the rectors of the twelve parishes, the twelve constables elected every three years by the ratepayers, and fourteen deputies also elected every three years, of whom three represent the parish of St. Helier, each of the eleven other parishes being represented by one deputy. The attorney-general, the solicitor-general, and the high sheriff (vicompte) have seats in the "States" but do not vote; and the clerk (greffier) of the Royal Court is, by virtue of his office, clerk of the "Assembly of the States." The Lieutenant-Governor has a deliberative voice, but does not vote; he has however the power of veto. The Royal Court, composed of the bailiff and the twelve jurats, is the only tribunal in the Island; and as a great variety of causes requiring different kinds of process are brought before this Court, it necessarily assumes four distinct characters, and according to the functions which it has to discharge, is termed "La Cour d'Heritage," "La Cour de Catel," "La Cour du Billet," and "La Cour Extraordinaire," or "La Cour de Samedi." The constables are the principal magistrates in each parish, their office being similar to that of mayors of corporate towns in England. The Lieutenant-Governor grants commissions to the officers of the militia, which is under his superintendence and control. The militia consists of five regiments, one of which has two battalions. Each regiment is composed of a certain number of men furnished, in proportion to its extent, by a district comprising a certain number of parishes; all males between the ages of 17 and 65 who are medically fit being bound to render personal service.

Jersey constitutes a deanery in the Diocese of Winchester. The inhabited houses and population of the several parishes in the Island in 1871 are given below :—

GUERNSEY AND ADJACENT ISLANDS.

The Island of GUERNSEY is divided into ten parishes, and it contains one town, viz., St. Peter Port. The legislative body, called the "States of Deliberation," is composed of the bailiff, the twelve jurats or judges, and the procureur or attorney-general of the island, the beneficed clergy, and the delegates (constables and douzainiers) of the parishes, one representing each of the country parishes and six representing the town parish. The constables and officers of each parish have collectively only one vote. The Governor or Lieutenant-Governor has the right of addressing the "States," but does not vote. The Royal Court consists of a bailiff appointed by the Crown, and twelve jurats chosen by the members of the "States:" the officers of the court are the Queen's procureur or attorney-general, the comptroller, whose office is similar to that of a solicitor-general, the provost or Queen's sheriff, the greffier or registrar, and the Queen's serjeant. The militia service, of which there are five regiments, is compulsory, every male inhabitant between the ages of 16 and 60 being obliged to serve. Clothing and accoutrements for the men, as well as the pay of the Adjutant-General, the Adjutants of Regiments, and the Staff, are provided by the imperial government.

The Island of ALDERNEY forms part of the Bailiwick of Guernsey. The judge and six jurats, together with the douzainiers, who are twelve men chosen by the commonalty as their representatives, compose the "Assembly of the States of the Island," wherein all ordinances for its government are proposed. But the douzainiers have only a deliberative voice and do not vote, the judge and jurats alone deciding upon the expediency of any proposed measure. The Governor or Lieutenant-Governor has a seat in the Assembly but does not vote. The civil jurisdiction is exercised by a judge and six jurats, the former being nominated by the Governor, subject to the approval of the Crown, and the latter by the commonalty; these, with the Queen's officer, viz., the procureur or attorney-general, and the greffier or registrar, compose the Court, the decisions of which are subject to an appeal to the Royal Court at Guernsey, and from that to the Queen in Council. The Court of Alderney has no criminal jurisdiction.

SARK and the adjacent isles are dependent upon and within the jurisdiction of the "States" of Guernsey. These Islands are governed by the Seigneur, under whom a Seneschal carries out the laws and local regulations. A Court is held three times in the year for the purpose of enacting bye-laws for regulating the affairs of the Islands, which are in force when carried by a majority of the tenants and confirmed by the consent of the SEIGNEUR.

The Island of HERM is also within the jurisdiction of the Island of Guernsey.

Guernsey and the adjacent Islands constitute a deanery in the Diocese of Winchester, and Province of Canterbury. The inhabited houses and population of the several parishes in these Islands are given below :—

OBJECTS AND PRESENT POSITION

OF THE

STATISTICAL SOCIETY.

I. The Society is constituted of Fellows and of Honorary and Corresponding Members, forming together a body which, at the present time, numbers upwards of five hundred and twenty Members. The "Fellows," who amount to four hundred and sixty are, for the most part, resident in the Metropolis, or other parts of the United Kingdom. The principal States of Europe and America are represented by the "Foreign Honorary Members;" British India and the Crown Colonies by the "Corresponding Members." The organization of the Society has from its inception been purposely cosmopolitan.

II. The Society possesses a Library and Reading Room; its ordinary meetings are held monthly from November to June; it publishes a QUARTERLY JOURNAL, in which the Papers read before the Fellows are printed in extenso.

III. Occasionally the Society has originated and statistically conducted inquiries upon special subjects of economic or social interest. The most recent work of the kind relates to the complicated question of Local Taxation in England. The instructive Essays (Tayler Prize Essays) by Mr. R. H. Inglis Palgrave and Mr. Scott on that topic will be found in the Society's JOURNAL for 1871.

IV. It is thought that the present is a favourable moment for reconsidering the scientific work of the Society, so far as it depends upon the frequency and scope of its ordinary meetings; and the extent and character of its Library and published Transactions.

V. At the recent International Statistical Congress in St. Petersburg, a permanent Commission was appointed to watch over the progress of Statistical research; so that the results of the deliberations which take place at those gatherings may, in their international aspects, be as far as possible utilized during the interval of consecutive meetings. To that important work the President and Council believe the Fellows and Members of this Society can afford material aid.

VI. That the Society may, with any hope of success, be able to extend its sphere of useful activity, and accomplish the various ends we have indicated, will necessitate a considerable increase of Fellowship and Revenue.

VII. The proposal for combining the resources of several of the learned Associations of London to obtain house accommodation under one roof, which originated with the Statistical Society, is on the point of realization. The Council anticipate that the time is not distant when a Central Building, sufficiently extensive and convenient for all the wants of the scientific bodies confederated for the purpose of a joint domicile, will be opened. The essential requisites of a structure with that design have been steadily kept in view by the promoters of the scheme. A Theatre in common for Lectures and ordinary Meetings; Galleries for the exposition of Scientific objects; ample wall space for Libraries, and separate Offices and Committee Rooms for the various Societies, are among the principal features of this needful undertaking.

VIII. Though several learned Societies in the Metropolis charge a higher subscription than the Statistical Society, they require, in addition, the payment of an Entrance Fee. In this Society the Annual Subscription is £2 2*s*., but no Entrance Fee is at present exacted. The Fellows, moreover, have the privilege of compounding, when joining the Society, or at any other time, for all future subscriptions upon the payment of Twenty Guineas.

AN AUSTRALIAN PARSONAGE; or, The Settler and the Savage in Western Australia. By Mrs. EDWARD MILLETT.

"The main interest of the book centres in the quaint life of the cultivated authoress and her husband in a region so far off and strange; in their picturesque, simple, wooden house, open almost night and day, and their lovely climate and flowers; in their native protégés and volunteer native servants; in their animal pets; in the coming and going of the natives on their strange errands, nocturnal as well as diurnal; in their necessarily makeshift life; in their adventures in the labyrinth of the trackless bush, and their perplexities during floods, and in constant meetings with the melancholy convict road parties—one of the most painful characteristics of Swan River life. . . . . We cannot even glance at more than a few points in this interesting volume, but strongly recommend our readers to peruse it for themselves. The style is so bright and clever that it will be found a delightful book either to 'read up' in the family circle or for personal perusal."—Spectator.

THE DECIMAL SYSTEM IN NUMBERS,

COINS, and ACCOUNTS, especially with REFERENCE to the DECIMALIZATION of the CURRENCY and ACCOUNTANCY of the UNITED KINGDOM. By the late Sir JOHN BOWRING, LL.D., formerly Governor of Hong Kong, and Her Britannic Majesty's Plenipotentiary and Superintendent of Trade in China. Illustrated with 120 Engravings of Coins, Ancient and Modern.

"Valuable as this book is, and worthy of the reputation of its famous author, it would be an injustice to judge of its character or merits entirely from its title. It is an admirable exposition of the principles of the decimal system, and it contains abundance of arithmetical examples, but it is also historical, antiquarian, and extremely amusing. The Preliminary Chapter is a storehouse of information respecting the arithmetical systems and notatioo of the Egyptians, Hebrews, Arabs, Bhuddists, Greeks, and Romans, illustrated by abundant quotations from historians and poets, in a variety of languages, which would be beyood the reach of anybody but such an extraordinary linguist as Dr. Bowring. Not only the languages of the early world, and of the nations of classical antiquity, are laid under contribution, but the dialects of the semi-savages of the African coast, and the idioms of the North and South American Indians, and of the Esquimaux, and the monosyllabic utterances of the Chinese. Numerous illustrations of coins adorn the work, which is almost encyclopædic in its information on the subject, and, what is more, is exceedingly practical throughout."—Extract from Review.

THE TEACHERS' LIST FOR 1873. Containing a

Calendar of all Executive and Examining Bodies, Universities, General and Special Colleges; Public, Proprietary, and Middle-Class Schools; Denominational Colleges and Schools; the principal Private Schools; Education of Women, Training Colleges, &c.; together with a complete Alphabetical Directory of Qualified and Certificated Teachers, and a List of School Boards, with the Names of the Officers. Edited by PHILLIPS BEVAN, F.R.G.S., F.G.S., and Dedicated, by permission, to Sir Francis R. Sandford, C.B., LL.D., Secretary to the Committee of Council on Education.

"Since last year, when Mr. Bevan's first edition of the 'Teachers' List' appeared, he must have laboured almost incessantly in order to bring the work into the condition of completeness in which it now presents itself. To call the book now a 'Teachers' List' is to apply too modest a name to it. It is everybody's list who wants a book of reference on education, educational authorities, and educational organizations in the kingdom."—School Board Chronicle.

PHYSICAL GEOLOGY AND GEOGRAPHY OF

GREAT BRITAIN. By A. C. RAMSAY, LL.D., F.R.S., Director-General of the Geological Surveys of the United Kingdom. Illustrated with numerous Sections, and a GEOLOGICAL MAP OF GREAT BRITAIN, printed in Colours.

"Professor Ramsay's little volume, originally delivered in the shape of lectures, and now recast in form and for the most part rewritten, forms as clear and satisfactory a compendium as we know to exist of the geology and physical geography of Great Britain. . . . . Containing within little more than three hundred pages a store of facts and an amount of critical thought which we seldom see in a volume of many times its bulk. The excellent map, clearly printed in colours, diminished from the magnificent result of the Geological Survey, prepares the tyro with a good idea of the general set and configuration of the strata."—Saturday Review.

"We fear we have given the reader but a very imperfect idea of the varied and important contents of Professor Ramsay's work. It must be read to be fully appreciated. It will, no doubt, be in the library of every true geologist, and it ought to be in the library of every schoolmaster and schoolmistress in the kingdom, and, we might add, every landed proprietor."—Geological Magazine.

THE COAL-FIELDS OF GREAT BRITAIN:

their History, Structure, and Resources. With Notices of the Coal-Fields of other Parts of the World. By EDWARD HULL, M.A., F.R.S., Director of the Geological Survey of Ireland, Professor of Geology in the Royal College of Science, Dublin, &c. With Maps and Illustrations.

"In connection with the statistics of coal production, probably no name is better known than that of Mr. Edward Hull, the director of the Geological Survey of Ireland, and the volume of which the third edition has just been issued cannot fail to add largely to his reputation as a reliable authority upon the subject. . . . . So much information is contained in the volume that few will find it necessary to consult any other work upon the subject, in order to be enabled to thoroughly comprehend the whole matter, and judge of the relative value of the conclusions which have been arrived at by the various authors. The book is admirably illustrated with both plates and woodcuts, and is altogether a valuable addition to the class of literature to which it belongs, and although published as a third edition has been so nearly re-written and so much enlarged that it may well be regarded as an entirely new work."—Mining Journal.

THE FOREIGNER IN FAR CATHAY. By

W. H. MEDHURST, H.B.M. Consul, Shanghai.

Contents :—Introductory—Position of Foreigners—Character and Habits of Foreign Residents—Missionaries—Consuls and Customs Authorities, &c.—Customs of the Chinese—Shop Signs—Advertising—Mandarin Yamens—Opium Smoking—Infanticide—Eating and Drinking—Social Institutions—Correspondence and the Press—Modes of Sepulture—Use of the Written Character for Decoration—Chinese Proper Names—Travelling and Porterage—Character of the Chinese—Concluding Remarks; and an Appendix, containing a SPECIMEN of CHINESE MUSIC, with Original Words and English Literal Translation.

"We are no longer satisfied with the histories, valuable as they are, of the framework merely on which the Chinese social system is hung, but we crave for a more intimate acquaintance with the domestic and everyday life of the people. In fact, we want to have presented to us just the kind of information which an intelligent foreigner, conversant with the language, would gain by a residence in the country. This is exactly what Mr. Medhurst's book supplies. . . . . 'The Foreigner in Far Cathay' will certainly please that large section of the reading public which is willing to be instructed if at the same time it can be amused."—Athenæum.
